Cuba's Top Sergeant.
Chinese Hitlers.
She Does Not Care.
Crime Goes Ahead.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MORE UNITED STATES warships sent to Cuba. Seven are in Cuban waters, or on the way there, and thirty others are nearby, under "stand by" orders, including boats from the Coast Guard fleet.

The President emphasizes his intention to refrain from any intervention unless conditions should make it absolutely necessary because of American citizens and American interests on the island.

The Cuban government objects to the presence of our ships as "disturbing."

Cuba did not object when our ships arrived to sink the Spanish fleet and make Cuba free, but it is their country and they have the right to object to anything, even "Yankee imperialism."

WHILE WASHINGTON fears Cuba's troubles may result in civil war, the beautiful island, at present, seems to be under control of a capable citizen, a "top sergeant" of the Cuban army named Fulgentio Batista.

Descriptions suggest the able Mr. Grover Whalen, head of the NRA movement in New York City. Sergeant Batista, whose present title is "revolutionary chief of the armed forces of the republic," "always smiles, is square-jawed, with a powerful physique, dark-haired, of medium height."

He got his information about things in general acting as a court stenographer in many military trials. His associates in charge of Cuba are a lawyer, a professor of anatomy, a banker, an editor, a professor of penal law. A democratic "junta."

CHANCELLOR HITLER, "messiah of Aryan or Nordic racial purity," likes the general idea of Fascism, but can't join any international Fascist movement. Mussolini's crowd wouldn't do, because it is Latin, not Nordic.

It is amazing how simple-minded racial mixtures like Hitler develop racial prejudices. The German chancellor should read Huxley's essay on "Methods and Results of Ethnology," in which the British scientist describes the effect produced by light-eyed, yellow-haired "Nordics" on Chinese of the Han dynasty, 300 years before Christ.

"CHINESE HISTORIANS describe with much minuteness certain numerous and powerful barbarians with yellow hair, green eyes and prominent noses, who, the black-haired, skew-eyed and flat-nosed annalists remark in passing are 'just the apes, from whom they are descended.'"

Those "black-haired, skew-eyed, flat-nosed" Chinese, as Huxley calls them, thought that any creature unlike themselves must, necessarily, descend from apes.

IN NEW YORK'S latest "murder case," a lady, Mrs. Millie Prince, 30 years old, married, with one child, admits that she stabbed to death an elderly man who wanted her to leave her husband and child. The middle-aged person, in business as a jeweler, gave the woman who killed him a card on which he had written:

"Go ahead, kill me, I deserve it."

At least, she says so. She showed the card to the police, having replied to it by killing the man with thirteen stabs.

So many stabs must have come from severe provocation. The jeweler is no longer here. The public asks:

"What will the jury do?"

The lady who did the killing, asked for an explanation, replied:

"I just don't care; he deserved to die."

CRIME GOES ahead, regardless of threats, and may be expected to get worse as the end of prohibition interferes with bootlegging by which crime has been so liberally financed.

Police guards surround the residence of Cardinal Dougherty, threatened unless he produces $50,000. Police believe that the threatening letter was written by a "crank" or maniac, but they are taking precautions.

WHILE POLICE in America protect a cardinal against threats, Brussels reports Belgian police protecting Prof. Einstein because of an alleged Nazi offer of $6,800 to anybody that would assassinate the well known scientist.

Police follow Prof. Einstein in his daily walks and carefully investigate German tourists in his neighborhood.

BEAUTY QUEENS from Belgium and elsewhere, here to compete for the title "Miss Universe," would probably be surprised if they could see all the samples of beauty that exist in the universe. Who knows what sort of lovely creatures inhabit the great nebula in Andromeda, or Mars, and other neighbor planets.

Today's style of beauty earning the title "Miss Universe" will seem strange on the earth a million years hence, stranger than the ancient cave ladies seem today.

Today's beauty judging allows about thirty points for legs, thirty points for smile, thirty points for eyes, nine points for being too thin, one point for the forehead, nothing for the normal, well padded shape called for by competent motherhood.

IN CONNECTION with the disaster on the Erie Railroad, many killed, officials blame the engineer of the milk train that caused the rear-end collision.

That engineer was not to blame, however, for putting between two steel cars a fragile wooden day coach that splintered like a match box, and caused all the deaths.

Worry Over Slaying Of Her Step-Son Blamed for Act

Worry over the murder of a stepson, Robert Stilley, 24, is believed the cause which led Mrs. Ella Stilley to attempt to take her own life today at the Stilley farm in Upper St Clair Township by slashing her wrists and neck.

She was rushed to St. Francis Hospital, where it is said her condition is serious, but not critical. A guard has been posted to watch her.

Mrs. Stilley was questioned at length yesterday by county detectives regarding events leading up to the killing of her stepson, who a week ago was found near the home with a bullet wound in the head.

She returned home last night, conversed with members of the family, and when she did not rise at the usual hour this morning they did not disturb her. Later they found her lying in a pool of blood.

County detectives are searching for Steve Bauer, former hired man at the Stilley farm, who they believe is responsible for the murder. Bauer, they say, was discharged last April following an argument with Stilley, and since that time has resided in the neighborhood and made numerous threats.

ENGELSBERG 'TELLS' ON MACKRELL

Citizens League Letter Links Candidate in Rum, Rackets

The Citizens' League today made public correspondence between A. Leo Weil, its vice chairman, and Joseph Engelsberg, Hill district character, in which Engelsberg in response to questions charged that Joseph N. Mackrell, candidate for the Republican mayortalty nomination:

Had an interest with Engelsberg "in a concern for the sale of illicit liquor and received his share of the profits;"

Had an interest in the "New System," which was "a suit club with headquarters in the Keenan Building, receiving a share of the profits, and he took care of the matter so that this club could not be molested by the police;"

Received from Engelsberg "$8,000 for the purpose of purchasing his home, part of which I gave Mackrell and the balance to the lawyer who closed the deal;"

Had received from Engelsberg $35,000 which was turned over to John Douglas as an inducement to Douglas to withdraw as an opponent to Mackrell for the Mayoralty nomination in the

OPERATORS OPPOSED TO WAGE SETUP

Strikes Banned, But Marketing Combines To Be Permitted

Text of NRA Coal Code Appears on Pages 18 and 19.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Rigid government control was proposed today by the NRA as the salvation of the far-flung bituminous coal industry.

The plan—more far-reaching than any yet provided in recovery codes—is contained in the code laid before the industry for approval by National Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson.

A committee of 16 Appalachian commercial coal operators conferred today to decide what amendments they would offer and what objections they would raise to the code. Dissatisfaction with the draft was evident among both union and nonunion operators. The Appalachian group, however, refused to discuss its attitude before meeting at a hotel.

WAGE SCALE OPPOSED

Union operators for the most part were dissatisfied with the wage differentials.

A report that the Appalachian operators, who for years have opposed unionization of their fields, would carry a case against the code into courts went unconfirmed.

J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, and one of a committee of four which has represented the Appalachian group, said that if court action were contemplated, he had heard nothing of it. He said:

"Some individual operators may have said that, but the associations have not planned such a step."

Western Pennsylvania captive companies, whose entire output goes to their steel company owners, have not been heard from.

Deputy Administrator Kenneth M. Simpson said the code would affect their mines as well as those of the commercial companies.

Despite clouds of opposition to many provisions of the NRA code, Johnson expected to obtain a substantial agreement before a code is proclaimed by the President.

After announcing he would accept modification proposals up to 6 p. m. Saturday, Johnson called a public hearing for Monday afternoon to air grievances.

MODIFICATIONS DUE

The code, which provides for reduction of hours of labor, minimum wages, price and production control, may be modified before it is finally acted upon by President Roosevelt.

After submitting the code to the operators, Johnson said:

"They've got to take it or I'll give it to them.

The code not only inaugurates a bold experiment in industrial planning, but introduces a new and virtually compulsory method of settling all labor troubles and banning strikes in the bituminous field.

Confident the code will bring

VOTERS GAINED BY DEMOCRATS

Results of the first day's registration of voters in Pittsburgh yesterday were these:

1—Estimates based on partial returns showed a total registration of around 65,000.

2—Democrats showed fair gains except in wards controlled by the Republican organization.

3—Several thousand voters who faced loss of franchise through clerk's error ordered reinstated.

Pittsburgh citizens qualified to vote in the primaries September 19, to the number of approximately 65,000 yesterday, the first of three registration days.

In 219 districts out of 407, the number enrolled totaled 34,646. On this basis the aggregate reg-

First Lady Calm at Fire

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(INS.)—A small fire in the White House failed to disturb Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today as she was addressing delegates to the conference on mobilization for human needs. When smoke drifted into the East Room from an awning fire outside, the wife of the President said:

"Don't be startled, ladies. There seems to be a small fire, but they will tell us in plenty of time."

She continued her remarks. The blaze was put out with little difficulty.

SON OF SUNDAY HURT IN PLUNGE

International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—George M. Sunday, 40, son of William A. (Billy) Sunday, the evangelist, was in a critical condition at a hospital here today following a three-story plunge to the pavement from his apartment window.

Sunday told hospital attaches the fall was accidental.

His wife, the former Renee La Salle, Hollywood mannequin, told police Sunday had been suffering from a nervous breakdown and had threatened suicide.

He had quarreled with her, breaking her finger, a few minutes before he plunged from the window, Mrs. Sunday said.

Sunday sustained compound fractures of the jaw, fractures of the left cheek, thigh and kneecap, and serious cuts about the head.

Sunday's marital affairs had been stormy for years. His wife filed divorce proceedings here six weeks ago and dropped them four days later. His present wife is his second.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—The family reunion of Democratic and Republican Roosevelts which started in New York yesterday when Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., arrived from abroad on the same boat, continued today at the White House.

Coal Miners to Be Paid In Cash; Stores Curbed

Union to Supervise Deductions From Earnings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Revolutionary changes in the bituminous coal industry are foreshadowed in the Recovery Administration's code of fair competition for the soft coal mines.

When the code is approved—probably early next week—the day of cutting miners' pay to meet cut-throat competition among the operators will be gone.

The miner will have the right to join any union he pleases, or no union at all. Whether he joins or whether he doesn't, he will receive all the benefits of the code.

He will not be allowed to work more than 40 hours a week during the six months peak period, or 32 hours a week during the slack season. That is expected to give work to more miners.

No longer will the miner have to deal at the company store or live in company houses.

And the company has to give him all his pay in cash every two weeks or by a check which he can cash at the nearest bank. The company can't deduct any of that pay unless the miner or the miners' union says so.

If a miner has trouble with his boss, he can tell a committee at the mine which will try to settle it. If the mine committee doesn't agree, the trouble can be taken to a district committee. If their to a district committee, then to a regional committee or finally to a board in Washington.

The Blue Eagle will mean just as much to the mine owner.

He will be allowed to join fellow operators in his district in creating marketing agencies which will fix the price of coal.

Many "unfair practices" such as secret rebates to purchasers and shipping coal before it is bought will be banned.

Maniac Slays Three Men, Kills Self

BELFAST, Me., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Adrian Jones, a mentally deranged man who for years had been considered harmless, ran amuck in the business section of the city today, killed three men and critically wounded another, and then blew off his own head.

Those slain were Herbert E. Ellis, 65, an insurance man; W. W. Blaisdell, 75, and Raymond Blaisdell, 40.

R. B. Stanhope, a veterinarian, is in Waldo General Hospital, and the superintendent said he could not live.

Cardinal Plot Holds Mayview Fugitive

George Havidich, the man who says he is the original "Barney Google" and also "president of Christianity," is back again in the hands of police and alienists, with deportation proceedings planned against him.

Held in Philadelphia for an attempt to extort $50,000 from Cardinal Dougherty after being captured on the Cardinal's estate, Havidich gave his address as Pittsburgh. He escaped from Mayview here July 31.

Havidich is well known in Mayview, from which he escaped twice.

Officials of the City Department of Welfare today revealed what they knew of his record.

Formerly a resident of 3251 Arlington avenue, and a polisher, some years ago, in the South Side plant of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, the records show he has held delusions that Cardinal Dougherty and Gov. Pinchot owed him $50,000 for a number of years.

He was committed to an asylum early in 1931 in Philadelphia by Magistrate Louis Hamberg, claiming he was the original Barney Google and president of Christianity. Released in May, he was committed to Mayview here two months later for sending threatening letters to Gov. Pinchot. He escaped October 14, 1932, and was recommitted October 17—three day later. He escaped again last July 31.

Havidich, who also lived in Aliquippa, he told Philadelphia officers, is a native of Poland.

Stork, Then Death Beat 26-Mile Race in Auto

Death and the stork overtook an ambulance speeding to Pittsburgh—beat it in a 26-mile race—the Coroner reported today.

In that speeding ambulance was 24-year-old Mrs. Anna Busija, who was being rushed to Magee Hospital. The speeding car and the stork left Harrison City yesterday afternoon.

Ten miles from the city the stork won and a baby girl was born. On arrival at the hospital the baby was pronounced dead.

Then last night the young mother became seriously ill and died of peritonitis—the ambulance chase in vain.

Mrs. Busija's husband Steve told the Coroner his wife was admitted to the Greensburg Hospital, Greensburg, August 31 when she complained of being ill. He said that she was dismissed last Saturday.

ROOSEVELT CALLS ON NATION TO GIVE IN RELIEF DRIVE

RAPS POLITICAL GRAB OF CASH FROM POOR

President Warns That U. S. Plans to Cease Emergency Aid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Summoning the country to contribute for the relief of the destitute, President Roosevelt at the same time today arraigned "some areas which lately have not done their share and have been coming hat in hand to the federal government."

His extemporaneous talk was in opening the third annual mobilization for human needs conference in the White House grounds, one declaration being that the people are better able to support charity now than in years immediately past.

Responding, Frank B. Kellogg—former Secretary of State—announced the mobilizers were about to undertake a campaign "of surpassing importance for human needs" in every community of the country.

SPEAKS FOR BAKER

Kellogg spoke in place of Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, as chairman of the relief conference, whose illness prevented his attendance.

He said the greatest obstacle to the drive would be the widespread belief that the government will furnish the means and that there is no necessity for private subscriptions and aid. He declared:

"Nothing is further from the fact. The aid rendered by the federal government and the state and local governments is limited in its scope and does not and cannot cover the ground which the private organizations must carry on."

Mr. Roosevelt said:

"In some states relief is mixed up with politics. Legislatures are thinking in political terms and not in human terms. Municipalities in some instances are spending taxes for political purposes and then saying they have nothing for relief.

"But I am glad to say these instances are growing less. The people are understanding that we are not wielding the big stick but making the obligation clear."

EMERGENCY RELIEF

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that the action of the federal government in giving relief appropriations was on an emergency basis and that he expected the government eventually to be relieved of this responsibility. He said:

"The people have more to spend and don't you let them tell you otherwise."

SPEEDING TRAIN NEAR WRECK

HORNELL, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—A third train, speeding toward the scene of the Binghamton wreck of the Erie Railroad's Atlantic flyer and a milk train which killed 14, was flagged to a stop by the fireman of the flyer, Thomas A. Williams told the investigators today.

Williams, 45, is a brakeman. He was called while Martin F. King, engineer of the milk train, waited to resume testimony begun yesterday.

A. E. Duffy, inspector of the bureau of safety of the Interstate Commerce Commission, accused King of causing the wreck by "taking a chance."

King admitted "taking a chance and going too fast," but blamed the flyer flagman for not signaling him sooner. The milk train crashed into the rear of the passenger train.

The investigation here is expected to end today. The group of investigators then will go to Binghamton to look over the scene of the wreck and afterwards will go to Susquehanna, where the wooden coach, in which all the deaths occurred, was taken.

VIENNA CABINET SPLIT IN OPEN

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—A conflict within Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' cabinet—the subject of rumors for several weeks—came sharply into the open today with a report in the official Fascist Heimwehr organ, Morganblatt of an energetic attack on Vice Chancellor Winkler's newly organized Nationalist movement.

The paper accused Winkler of launching his "national corporative front" in direct opposition to Dollfuss' "patriotic front."

As evidence that Winkler's agrarian party is generally swinging toward the Nazis, the Morgenblatt cited the recent participation of Gov. Ferdinand Kernmaier, governor of Carinthia, an agrarian, at a Nazi funeral where Hitlerite uniforms were forbidden, the horst wessel song was sung and the Hitler salute given.

The paper demanded a ruthless campaign against the Nazis and a clean cut change to an out-and-out Fascist government.

The witness was Edward J. Falkenstein, the committee's special investigator. The committee was appointed by the Ohio Legislature to investigate banking conditions and recommend improvements in state banking laws.

Falkenstein said the collateral was transferred to J. P. Morgan & Co. At the time the bank closed. Van Sweringen loans, Falkenstein said, amounted to about $10,500,000.

$50,000 KIDNAP PLOT BARED

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 8.—Acting Deputy Chief Eugene Heller revealed last night that police twice set a trap for extortionists who demanded $50,000 from Jean Strengs, wealthy Paterson mill owner, on threat of kidnaping his wife or the 14-year-old orphan, Peter Christopolus, whom they had befriended.

Three letters, carrying the threats and the demand for money, were postmarked in Newark, and the writer directed that Strengs meet him here on the afternoon of Saturday, August 19. Strengs paced the sidewalk in front of City Hall while a dozen detectives from Newark and Paterson watched from hiding places. The extortionist did not appear.

The same procedure was repeated the following Saturday without success, Heller said.

Postal authorities have joined police in the hunt for the author of the letters, the first of which was received shortly after Peter came East about eight weeks ago from Father Flanagan's home for boys, an orphanage near Omaha. Strengs and his wife had decided to adopt him and were giving him a trial. A week ago Peter was returned to the orphanage.

WOMEN HEAR 5 CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR

Rivals Criticize One Another Before Meeting

The five leading candidates for Mayor of Pittsburgh met together on the same rostrum at noon today and addressed a luncheon of the League of Women Voters. It was the first mass meeting of candidates.

Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, president of the group, presided.

Speaking were John M. Henry and William N. McNair, Democratic candidates, and P. J. McArdle, Joseph N. Mackrell and John S. Herron, Republicans.

CRITICIZE EACH OTHER

In general, they criticized the attitudes, platforms, backing and alleged weaknesses of the others.

Women jammed the room in the Fort Pitt Hotel, a number listening from the corridor outside. Sprinkled throughout the audience were candidates for Council and other offices.

McNair, Democrat candidate, told the women voters that the Mellons and their utility companies bought protection for their industrial interests and monopolies by contributing to the Republican party campaign chests.

Blaming the utilities and the Mellon methods for virtually all the ills of government in Pittsburgh, McNair said:

"Just so long as we keep electing to the office of Mayor or to Council those who, like the three monkeys, can see no evil, hear no evil, and speak no evil when powerful utility or political racketeers are involved, just so long will it be sheer hypocrisy and waste of time to discuss efficiency and economy in our municipal government."

'PROTECTION'

"So far as I am able to determine, there is no more taint to the perfumed bill slipped to the policeman on the beat than the five-figured contributions collected from the utility corporations by the Mellons for the account of the Republican party.

"Both purchase protection."

Henry, another Democratic candidate, predicted that the "candidate of the Republican machine is almost certain to be nominated."

Without mentioning John S. Herron by name, Henry attacked the "Coyne-bossed" machine and its control of the city. He declared the certainty of nomination was due to Herron's opposition being split.

And, attacking his opponents in the Democratic party, he added:

"I do not hesitate to charge that the Democratic machine opposed to my candidacy is the same old outfit which has always been the trailer hitched to, the rear of the Republican steamroller; the same old crowd which has walked hand in hand with that Boss of Bosses, the gentleman from Oakland, Senator James J. Coyne."

PRESIDENT ACTS ON PERIL TO OIL CODE

Confers on Standard Firm's Objections as Charter Takes Effect

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Secretary Ickes was called by President Roosevelt today to discuss reports of dissension in the oil industry over price fixing and the initial effects of production control, which was put into effect today.

He declined comment on the meeting, but it was known the President was interested in the reports that W. S. Farrish, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, had declined to co-operate with the oil planning committee now at work here on the oil code.

Farrish, not denying his initial refusal, afterwards issued a statement giving "whole-hearted" support to the oil committee, promising any information required, but repeating his stand against price fixing.

Later today the secretary was to see Walter C. Teagle, president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, superior of Farrish and leading member of the NRA advisory board.

Meanwhile, the $12,000,000,000 oil industry embarked on one of the most revolutionary experiments of modern times as the order of Secretary Ickes, reducing oil production some 350,000 barrels daily, went into effect.

Pipes were being capped and pumps slowed down or stopped in Texas, Oklahoma, California, Kansas and other oil states. Meanwhile prices of crude oil were rising, and oil executives, now gathered here to work out in detail the operation of the oil code, looked confidently to further increases without immediate fixing.

Ickes, administrator of the code, pronounced himself satisfied with the price rises so far declared, and declined to commit himself either on the imminence of further gains or of the necessity of price fixing.

SLAYER SEARCH EXTENDS HERE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Search for the slayers of Harry Goldsman, 57-year-old manufacturer, spread westward today after the arrest of a suspect who returned from West Virginia and called police to "come and get me."

George McNemar, youthful handyman, is the suspect and police said questioning him led them to extend the search for a man and woman to Pittsburgh and neighboring cities.

Goldsman, well-to-do manufacturer of store fixtures, was found strangled and beaten in a North Philadelphia rooming house the night of September 1, five hours after he had answered a telephone call purporting to be from the wife of a former employe who was in straitened circumstances.

His body was found in a room which police said they learned had been rented by the former employe. Money and jewelry Goldsman was known to have carried were missing.

Detectives quoted McNemar as saying:

"I helped to hold his feet. I didn't get a cent."

McNemar said he did not know the whereabouts of the man and woman with whom he is alleged to have been seen leaving the rooming house.

PHILLIPS URGES 'WAR' ON FOES

BEDFORD, Pa., Sept. 8.—Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company, addressing the Pennsylvania Electric Association here today, declared that the electric utilities must stop pulling its punches and giving comfort to muck-rakers.

The best way to answer attacks on the industry, he declared, is with facts. He said:

"Our problem is more than a technological one. It has become political and therefore human. Our opponents have nothing to say these days about the street railway industry, because it is down, and Mr. John Q. Public has had to meet the five billion dollar shrinkage in the value of its securities. Is this what is going to happen to the electric light industry?"

Philip Cabot, of Harvard, spoke of the National Recovery program as "a long step in the direction of fascism," and said that the forces set in motion are now beyond control.

STEEL FIRMS DENY VIOLATION

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Jean Blair, organizer for the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, charged in a statement today that steel companies "are not abiding either in spirit or in fact by the provisions of the National Recovery Act."

Spokesmen for the steel companies replied briefly, saying:

"We refuse to comment except to say that the steel companies are complying with the NRA code in both letter and spirit."

LAMSON DEATH AN ACCIDENT, JURY TOLD

Noted Experts Ready To Back Defense In Tub Case

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Fighting to get its expert testimony past another prospective barrage of prosecution objections, the defense of David A. Lamson drew again today upon a list of specialists for evidence it hoped would clear the young Stanford University press representative of a charge of slaying his wife, Alene, with an iron pipe.

The defense planned to call three or four physicians besides Dr. E. O. Heinrich, noted criminologist.

The path of the defense specialists was strewn with legal obstacles yesterday after completion of Lamson's own testimony.

TESTIMONY FOUGHT

Only after many arguments was the defense able to get testimony from experts designed to show the death of Mrs. Lamson, last May 30, could have resulted from an accidental fall.

Dr. Charles M. Richards, X-ray specialist, was prevented many times answering questions designed to bring out possibility the four fractures in Mrs. Lamson's skull might have been caused by a fall against the enameled wash basin in the bathroom of her home, where her nude body was found.

Prosecuting attorneys contended the question of accident was for the jury to decide. Judge R. R. Syer, sustained them. However, Defense Attorney E. M. Rea succeeded in getting from Dr. Richards testimony the fractures could have been caused by one blow from some particular sort of instrument.

PIPE IN EVIDENCE

Rea produced the iron pipe exhibited by the state and Dr. Richards said it "seemed unlikely" the skull breakage could have been caused by such an instrument, but added similar fracture could have been made by one blow, or by many blows concentrated on one point.

Dr. Stanley Kneeshaw, San Jose, testified the fractures could have come from one contact. He expressed belief they could not have been caused by one blow from the pipe but might have been made by several blows if all were struck successively in the same way.

Lamson previously contradicted suggestions in the prosecution testimony his wife had sought to evade his affectionate advances and denied having told Frank Taylor, an associate who testified for the state, there had been discord in his home.

JOHNSON READY FOR FORD DEFI

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Hugh S. Johnson, in answer to questions of newsmen today, said he had not seen any evidence of Henry Ford's violation of the automobile code, but declared:

"If Mr. Ford comes out with an outright violation I'll have to act—with a challenge like that we'd have to have a showdown."

DETROIT, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Henry Ford will leave his vacation camp in Michigan's upper peninsula and will be in Detroit Monday, officials of Ford Motor Company said today.

The officials, however, maintained silence concerning the motor magnate's stand on the NRA automobile code which he has not signed.

Associates of the manufacturer, declining the use of their names, said the Ford company is receiving hundreds of letters concerning the company's NRA stand. They indicated that letters supporting Ford's stand in not signing the NRA automobile code outnumbered those assailing his stand in the matter.

POOR MOTHER, RICH FOSTER PARENTS BATTLE FOR BABY GIRL

COURT TO RULE ON FATE OF INFANT

Judge Ponders Pleas Of Three Who Love Nameless Child

The future of a 1-year-old baby girl today hung in the balance as Judge Thomas P. Trimble awaited further information in an Orphans Court battle launched yesterday.

As attorneys for the child's foster parents, a well-to-do middle-aged couple, and her 23-year-old unwed mother wrangled before Judge Trimble, the age-old story of a nameless baby was unfolded.

Telling of her secret trip more than a year ago to the Bellevue Home of the Salvation Army, where her baby was born and from which the child was released to a Pittsburgh welfare agency and placed with the foster parents preliminary to adoption formalities, the young mother repeatedly maintained:

"I had no intention of giving up my baby. I thought it was only a temporary arrangement."

The foster parents, offering the child luxurious surroundings and affection that would be showered on one of their own, are petitioning the court for the right to adopt her.

The baby's own mother, earning $17 a week, revealed that she wanted the child transferred to an Ohio institution until such time "in the near future when I'll have a home for her myself."

Pending further information on the Ohio institution, Judge Trimble took the case under advisement.

SLEEP SICKNESS REPORT NEARS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—A belief that definite progress would be reported was expressed by newspapers here today as federal, state and city health authorities met to discuss developments of their quest for the elusive secret of encephalitis.

While scientists were understood to believe they were on the way to important discoveries about the disease, which, thus far, has baffled them, none would make predictions in advance of a meeting of the metropolitan health council, organized at the beginning of the "sleeping sickness" epidemic.

Dr. C. E. Rosenow, head of the bacteriological department of the Mayo foundation, Rochester, Minn., was expected here today to join dozens of other scientists in their "council of war."

The death toll since the outbreak of the epidemic today stood at 91, with a total of 619 cases reported. Doctors have pointed out that only about 10 per cent of known cases have been fatal.

Wife Tells of Finding Claire's Love Letters

Mrs. Read Testifies Fight Followed Discovery

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—A torn up love letter she found in the waste basket of her husband's Hollywood hotel room apprised Mrs. Marian Young Read, of Oakland, of his affair with blonde Claire Windsor, it was testified by Mrs. Read yesterday in her $100,000 alienation of affections suit against the screen and stage actress.

In the meantime, a charge Mrs. Read and her divorced husband, Alfred Read, Jr., agreed to sue her and use whatever judgment might be obtained for their mutual benefit, was made today by Miss Windsor.

Read, who has said he will testify for Miss Windsor, made no comment on this turn of events.

Explaining the finding of the letter, Mrs. Read told of a trip to Hollywood at the request of her husband, former Oakland broker, from whom she is now divorced. She said:

"Al had me come down to Hollywood one time.

"I went to his room and in the waste basket I found a letter torn up. I got it out and pasted it together. It was a love letter from Miss Windsor. I mailed it to my mother in Oakland."

ADMITS QUARREL

"And on the way back to Oakland did you quarrel with him about it?"

"Yes, we quarreled all the way back."

At another point in the cross-examination, Mrs. Read testified she induced her husband to discharge his private secretary, Miss Clarisse Champion, of San Francisco, who came here Tuesday as a witness for Miss Windsor.

Mrs. Read said she quarreled with Read over Miss Champion, but denied she had accused the secretary of "staying all night" with him.

RISE IN BREAD TO BE STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the Farm Readjustment Administration, said in a statement today he was seeking an explanation of high bread prices in Atlanta, Charleston, S. C., Mobile, Ala., San Francisco, Savannah, Ga., Scranton, Pa., and Seattle. He said:

"In these seven cities the average price of bread is one cent or more above the national average price for a pound loaf."

Other price increases in the cost of a pound loaf of bread for the country as a whole, Dr. Howe said, continued to check with advances in material costs.

Dr. Howe reported that on August 15, the retail price of bread in 51 cities studied was 7.6 cents, as compared with 6.4 cents a pound on February 15.

PLANT SECRETS THEFT PLOT TRAPS 2

Sleuth, as Steel Baron, Buying Rival's Process, Captures Suspects

County Detective Peter A. Connors, disguised as an eastern steel magnate, trapped two alleged would-be purveyors of secret processes of a Glassport company, District Attorney Andrew T. Park disclosed today.

Michael Kovack, 27, of 220 Nineteenth avenue, Homestead, and Charles Penkova, 29, of 132 West Ninth avenue, Homestead, both draftsmen employed by the Copperweld Steel Company, of Glassport, are in jail on District Attorney's detainers.

FACE 3 CHARGES

Park said information would be filed against the two today before Alderman T. A. Flanigan charging them with conspiracy, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Three weeks ago, the prosecutor revealed, a prominent steel company official of this district came to his (Park's) office and told him he had been approached by the accused men and offered drawings, formulas and other valuable secrets of the Copperweld Company for $25,000.

Commending the official for his attitude, Park assigned Connors to arrest the two.

In the role of a steel man with a fat roll of cash, Connors, according to Park, entered into negotiations with the draftsmen. Last night the deal was to have been closed, Park said.

TRAP SPRUNG

Connors, with a wallet, pretended he was ready to pay over $25,000. The two men dug up one metal box from the cellar of the Penkova home and then produced another from its hiding place in the attic rafters, Connors reported. Both boxes contained what the men said were drawings of machinery and formulas used by the Copperweld company in manufacturing high priced specialties of steel and copper.

Instead of handing over $25,000 Connors arrested the astonished draftsmen. Both signed statements according to Connors.

CABINET QUITS IN SPAIN

International News Service.

MADRID, Sept. 8.—Spain was plunged into a new political crisis today with the resignation of the cabinet headed by Premier Manuel Azana.

Downfall of the Azana cabinet was directly traceable to the elections held on Sunday for the tribunal of constitutional guarantees, in which radical candidates won a smashing victory over nominees put up by the government coalition.

The Azana cabinet took office on December 15, 1931, following the abdication of former King Alfonso. It resigned in June of this year when constitutional and land reforms resulted in mounting opposition, but Azana again took the helm when no suitable successor could be found.

SHIP GROUNDED IN DENSE FOG

International News Service.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Sept. 8.—The Merchants' and Miners' steamship Ontario, with 65 passengers and a cargo of freight bound for Philadelphia, went aground today in the Cape Cod Canal during a dense fog.

All efforts to pull the craft into deep water failed, and a decision was made to await high tide, just before noon. Officials said there was no danger.

The Ontario left Boston last night. The fog grew heavier as the vessel proceeded.

A radio call to Boston started the tugs Luna and Venus to Buzzards Bay. The Sandwich Coast Guard station also picked up the call and sent a boat, but was unable to budge the Ontario.

All shipping through the canal was halted during the grounding.

Six-year-old Frederick Snyder, of 826 Virgin way, North Side, was in Allegheny General Hospital today with a bullet wound in the left heel, inflicted as he passed the rear of a garage at 621 Foreland street last night, according to police.

The bullet was one of several fired, police said, by Albert A. Lenz, of 985 Washington boulevard, at a target in the garage. Frederick was hit by one that penetrated a sheet iron door. Lenz was detained for questioning at the North Side Police Station.

MARINE QUOTA RAISED HERE

Activity among United States Marines because of the situation in Cuba has resulted in increasing from 10 to 25 the September quota of men to be recruited in Pittsburgh, Maj. Arthur Kingston, in charge of the Marine recruiting office in the Federal Building, announced today.

He said:

"While we have several hundred men on the waiting list we are taking them as they come on account of the orders from headquarters to expedite enlistments. Sometimes 10 or 12 men are examined before one is accepted. Single men between 18 and 30 are wanted."

Britisher Tells Of Indian 'War' By U. S. Tribes

LEICESTER, Eng., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—A gentlemanly "war" between four tribes on the lower Colorado river, in which scalping still figures, was described today before the British Association for the Advancement of Science by Prof. C. Daryll Forde, a young scientist who recently returned from exploring the area.

Clubs, spears, and bows and arrows were employed, he said, in these battles, in which the leader of one side must fight an opposing chieftain in a single combat, while women invariably accompany the warriors to give a scalp dance after the battle and carry the scalps home.

GIRL, 2, KILLED SEEKING CAT

A 2-year-old Hazelwood girl died today—her birthday—in Homeopathic Hospital of a fractured skull after a 25-foot fall last night, the Coroner reported.

She was Mildred Schaffer, 5143 Gloster street. While trying to get her pet kitten last night she fell through a broken porch rail on the third floor to the back yard.

Such was the tragedy her father, John Schaffer, faced on arriving home from his first day's work in many months. He arrived in time to see the limp form of his daughter being carried to a nearby physician's office.

Wife Sues for Slap She Got as 'Reward'

Nancy Jane Austen, 24, a stenographer, of Charleroi, suing for divorce before Judge W. Heber Dithrich today on grounds of cruelty, alleged she had paid her husband's board, helped buy him a car, and then had been slapped.

She was married to Charles V. Austen, June 1, 1930, at Cumberland, Md. They separated a year later.

Missing Kane Boys Located in Woods

KANE, Pa., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Two boys who got lost in the woods while going after the cows were found by searching parties early today in a forest several miles from their home. They are Gust, 12, and Frank Straneva, 9.

A searching party composed of 380 searched the woods all night. They found the children huddled beside a tree, afraid of a "panther."

Runaway Boy Returned To Home by Plane

Now they are bringing runaway bad boys home by airplane.

When Charles Clark, 16-year-old Washington youth, stepped off the Kansas City T. W. A. plane at County Airport today he was met by James P. O'Brien husky county detective. Charles didn't seem surprised and O'Brien said:

"All that I know is that we received a wire today from the Rockville (Md.) probation officer to meet the lad and make sure he didn't get away. I'm to put him on the Pennsylvania Airlines plane that leaves in a few minutes for Washington."

Charles had little to say. He explained that his mother and father are both dead and that he is living with a guardian in Washington. Three months ago, he said, he got tired of his home and hitch-hiked to Los Angeles. Somehow they found out where he was, had him put on a plane for Kansas City, thence to Pittsburgh and home. He could not explain the reason for the airplane, unless it was to prevent his escape, or to get him home in time for school. Nor did he know anything about Rockville, Md., or a probation officer, he said.

CHURCH GROUP ROWS OVER POLITICS

The North Side Civic Association, which its sponsors had contended represented North Side churches, was in oblivion today after its officers failed to railroad an indorsement of Joseph N. Mackrell, Progressive Republican mayoralty candidate, at a meeting that ended in disorder last night.

Fists were pounded on tables, men were ordered from the meeting room, many who attempted to speak were ruled out of order, and charges of trickery were passed during the noisy meeting that challenged the quiet of the Community House of the First United Presbyterian Church of the North Side.

When R. W. Gervey, former legislative candidate, and chairman of the organization, called the meeting to order, Marshall Brown leaped to his feet to voice his opinion that such a meeting was a disgrace to the churches represented.

Gervey ruled Brown out of order, and ordered him to leave the meeting. Brown left.

Charles M. Gerwig, chairman of a committee appointed Tuesday night to draft a political slate which would be acceptable to North Side churches, announced the committee's selection.

Headed by Mackrell, the slate included William A. Magee, Edward O. Tabor, Hugh F. McKnight and Edward M. Hough, for Council; Alexander P. Lindsay and Judges Harry H. Rowand and Ralph H. Smith for the Common Pleas Court bench; William A. Walker and Clarence B. Nixon for County Court judges, and Lois D. McBride for Juvenile Court.

SHOWER OF PROTEST

J. Boyd Euwer, Mackrell's campaign manager, motioned for an adoption of the slate, and his action brought down a shower of protests that threw the meeting into turmoil.

Many questioned the right of the civic association to represent the North Side churches, and the right of one person to represent a congregation also was challenged. It was charged the churches were not officially represented.

When the argument grew hot, the Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, of the Second Presbyterian Church, was called upon to settle the argument.

Dr. Shelton, on the grounds that he liked a good fight, said he was enjoying the meeting. However, he sided with the opposition and ruled if a slate was indorsed it could be done so only in the name of the North Side Civic Association and not as representative of church sentiment.

There followed more objections, this time to the manner in which the slate was picked. Gervey ruled the objections out of order and Euwers' motion was brought to a vote.

DR. SHELTON UMPIRES

The vocal vote was close, and a standing vote was demanded when Gervey announced that the motion had been carried. Gervey counted on the rising vote, and again announced the motion had been carried. He refused to announce the figures.

The opposition charged it wasn't carried and a recount was demanded in angry tones. Gervey refused the plea, and Dr. Shelton again was called in as an umpire.

For the second time siding with the opposition, Shelton upheld the demand for a recount, and turned to Gerwig:

"Am I right, Brother Gerwig?"

And Brother Gerwig retorted:

"You are wrong, Brother Shelton."

SLATE WITHDRAWN

When Gerwig could make himself heard he offered a suggestion:

"Well, we'll withdraw the slate, and let everybody suit themselves. Let's regard the entire action be withdrawn and the whole disagreeable incident forgotten."

That was agreeable to all, and the meeting adjourned.

Asked following the meeting whether another session was planned, Gervey said:

"No. The organization is dissolved. It only functions during campaigns anyhow."

English Denies Balking City Probe

Councilman W. Y. English, in a statement today, denied that he had done anything as a member of Council to interfere with a public investigation of the Department of Supplies under the administration of the late Mayor Charles H. Kline.

"Your paper repeatedly prints and reprints that Councilman W. Y. English assisted in preventing a public investigation of the Department of Supplies.

"I wish to deny that charge and submit that your original publication and subsequent reprintings are only the opinion of the person who wrote the first article.

"Here is the truth and the facts as the records of the city will show:

"Complaint of Mr. Houston was received by Council. Council unanimously referred it to the Mayor and Controller for a report on motion of Mr. Kambach as the complaint was against the Director appointed by the Mayor.

"The Controller was included as a precaution since the business of the Department of Supplies is regularly checked by the Controller.

"There was no request from Mr. Houston for Council to hold any other investigation whether public or otherwise.

"In fact, the newspapers quoted Mr. Houston as saying that Council had done the proper thing in referring his letter to the Mayor and Controller for an investigation and report.

"After a partial report had been received from the Mayor and Controller, outside influences and not Mr. Houston raised the hurricane and storm for Council to make its own investigation. Meanwhile the Mayor dismissed the Director of the Department of Supplies.

"Now comes the important point on which the public has not been informed. The investigation of the Mayor and Controller did not stop with the dismissal of the Director. Instead, it went steadily on day after day as shown by the various articles published in your paper.

"For example, one day you published about meat purchases; next day it would be auto tires and tubes; next day canned goods; next day vegetables, etc., etc. These daily publications are positive proofs that nothing was being withheld or denied to the people.

"No intimation was even suggested that Councilmen or any others were trying to hush up, hide, prevent or conceal anything.

"Council had asked the Mayor and Controller to investigate and report and the investigation kept up until it was completed.

"Finally the Controller asked Council for authority to employ an outside firm of auditors, Price, Waterhouse Co., who have a national reputation.

"Council granted this authority to the Controller and the job cost the city over $20,000.

"Meanwhile the newspapers kept up the demand for Council to hold a public investigation. The whole purpose of this was to put Council on the spot and try to make the people believe that Council was somehow involved in selling goods to the city, and thus it was made to appear that the Council was afraid to open up a public investigation.

"Any fair-minded person who knows the facts must realize that Council could not and did not try to conceal or prevent anything.

"How could it with the open sessions in the Controller's office, when reporters, two sets of auditors and others were all given access to all the papers of the Department of Supplies.

"No connection or collusion between any member of Council and the Department of Supplies or any contractor was shown. But no publication was ever made telling the public that the members of Council were clean and clear of any dealings in or connection with selling goods to the city.

"The whole fuss about public investigation was pure political propaganda for the purpose of discrediting members of Council.

"I think it time to lay off that dud and go and investigate some real items, but I do not expect anyone to do it because it does not concern Mayor Herron or his political associates. Is it because opponents of Mr. Herron might be involved?"

The record reveals that in the face of a demand by citizens and civic organizations for an open hearing by Council, Councilman English, supporting the other "Kline majority" members repeatedly sidestepped an open probe and finally shelved such action March 9, 1931.

CHRONOLOGY OF ACTION

Reference to the files of the Sun-Telegraph reveals this chronology in the course of Council in the Supplies Department probe:

February 6, 1931—John D. Houston, in a letter to City Council, asked it to summon before it Director of Supplies B. L. Succop to justify his method of awarding city food contracts.

February 8—President of Council John S. Herron announced that a probe and a hearing would be held.

February 10—Herron said the Mayor's private investigation would not interfere with a public hearing before Council if those who complained of alleged favoritism sought it.

February 12—Houston, denouncing Mayor Kline's secret investigation of the contract irregularity charges, announced he would insist on an open councilmanic investigation and would not attend any secret sessions.

February 17—City Council, in regular session, laid on the table a motion of Robert Garland to grant Houston a public hearing.

February 26—The League of Women Voters announced Council would be asked to grant an open hearing.

March 2—Council rejected a motion of Councilman Charles Anderson to grant immediately the request of the league for an open investigation.

ENGLISH HISSED

March 3—Council voted down the league's request for an open investigation by Council and described the matter as a closed book. Hisses greeted Councilman English when he defended Council's action.

March 9—Council again refused to grant open Council investigation.

March 10—Councilman English quoted Scripture in defense of stand by him in refusing open hearing.

March 20—Chamber of Commerce assailed Council's refusal to hold open investigation.

istration for the day would be 64,306.

Of the number of registrations checked, 27,713 were Republican and 6,933 Democrat, a four to one preponderance for the G. O. P.

FIGURES COMPARED

In 1932 the first day's registration totaled 38,999, while in 1931 in the heated fight for county offices, the first day's enrollment was 66,817, slightly above estimates for this year's initial day.

The total registration for 1932 was 167,193, with 144,350 Republicans, 20,107 Democrats and 2,736 scatterings.

The partial returns of yesterday's registration indicates a Democratic enrollment of around 13,000 with prospect that last year's total would be materially increased in the two remaining registration days.

Democrats registered some decisive gains, particularly in the Twelfth Ward. Figures showed the Democrats outnumbering the Republicans in some precincts.

Other districts showed small Democratic gains, particularly in the East End. But in the Downtown wards and on the North Side the firm hand of the Republican organization was seen in the negligible Democratic showing.

In event the voters qualify at the same rate on the remaining registration days, September 12 and 16, the city will roll up a registration of more than 185,000 or 18,000 more than were enrolled in 1932.

Books from more than 100 districts under suspicion by the Board of Registration Commissioners, were impounded at the close of polls at 11 o'clock last night and removed to offices of the commission for safekeeping until the next registration day.

QUIET AT POLLS

With state and county police and county investigators on the job, yesterday's registration was pronounced the quietest in years, Chairman John K. Morrow, of the Registration Board, said not one arrest was reported.

The Second Ward, Pat O'Malley's Strip sector, came in with the usual overwhelming vote for the organization, the four districts of the ward giving the Republicans 999 and the Democrats 57. The First Ward complete gave the Republicans 759 and the Democrats 157. John J. Verona's Third Ward reported 1,165 Republicans and 384 Democrats.

GAIN ON HILL

Indications that the Democrats are growing in strength on the "Hill" was seen in the return from the Eighth District of the Third Ward. In this district the Democrats registered 41 voters to 35 Republicans.

The Fourth Ward, with only two districts missing, gave the Republicans 2,059 and the Democrats 344. The Fourth Ward is the home territory of Senator James J. Coyne, the backer of Mayor John S. Herron, seeking the Republican nomination to succeed himself.

In several parts of the Fifth Ward the Democrats made extremely good showings. The Nineteenth District of the ward went Democratic by a total of 66 to 52. In the Fourteenth District the Republicans registered 56 and the Democrats 32. The Fourth District results were Republicans 66 and Democrats 53, and the First District, Republicans 69 to 48 Democrats. The Fifth Ward totals with three districts still out were Republicans, 1,613; Democrats, 553.

G. O. P. STRONGHOLDS

The Sixth Ward, two districts missing, polled 1,129 Republicans and 216 Democrats, and the Ninth Ward, 1,808 Republicans to 238 Democrats.

The break between former Police Magistrate Charles F. Papale with Mayor John S. Herron apparently has not done the organization much good, as a threatening Democratic registration was polled there. In one district there were 106 Democrats to 93 Republicans. Another district showed 73 Republicans to 50 Democrats, and another 68 Democrats to 99 Republicans.

The Democratic enrollment in the Seventeenth Ward, South Side, also was extremely good, the totals for the ward, complete, being 1,190 Republicans to 503 Democrats. One district showed 101 Republicans with 80 Democrats. The Twenty-fourth Ward, North Side, complete, showed 937 Republicans and 284 Democrats.

Several thousand voters of the Ninth, Twentieth, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Twenty-third wards who faced loss of franchise through a clerk's error were held qualified to vote today by Assistant County Solicitor Churchill B. Mehard, in charge of registration. Deputy County Treasurer Alfred E. Anke announced today.

A clerk in the Treasurer's office had signed tax receipts with his initials instead of his name and the Registration Board yesterday had held such receipts were null. As a result many persons were refused the right to register.

Today's ruling is expected to clear the way to their enrolling on following registration days.

WATCHER'S RIGHTS

The commission today also will make some decision on just what rights go with a watcher's certificate. In many cases yesterday, complaints were received that the watchers interfered with the registration board, by questioning voters and copying the records. One watcher is said to have moved a table and typewriter into the polling place.

In the Eighteenth District of the Eleventh Ward county police ordered a watcher from the polling place. The watcher is Fred Jantz, said to be a city employe. The county police officer took a book from Jantz, in which Jantz had been copying names. The commission's solicitor, Attorney Edward Boyle, said that the book will be returned to Jantz.

Complaints also were received to the effect that a crowd outside the polling place in the Eighteenth District of the Eleventh Ward, threatened persons who had changed their party affiliation. Through the watcher system word soon was passed outside when ever a person changed their party. One man said he had been ordered to go back and correct his registration, under threat of being taken off the welfare list.

Correspondence Between Citizens League and Engelsberg Over Mackrell

The correspondence between the Citizens' League and Joseph Engelsberg touching on Engelsberg's connection with Joseph Mackrell's mayoralty aspirations were made public today by the league. The letters follow:

September 6, 1933.

Joseph Engelsberg, Esq., 211 Ross street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir: We have repeatedly heard rumors concerning your former close association with Mr. Joseph Mackrell, who we understand has publicly admitted business association with you. Undoubtedly you are in a position to disclose what these associations involved.

We feel that as a citizen of Pittsburgh it is your duty to either appear before this committee and state such facts as are within your knowledge, or furnish us a statement embodying the facts as you know them. We are asking for definite information concerning one who is a candidate for the high office of Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, and in our opinion it is the duty of each and every citizen who has information of importance to the voters of the city concerning such a candidate to reply to pertinent inquiries when requested so to do.

The particular advice and information which we would like to have, and which we understand you are able to furnish, concerns the following subjects:

1—Did you personally finance, in whole or in large part, any of Mr. Mackrell's previous campaigns for public office, and if so which campaign?

2—Did you make a gift to Mr. Mackrell of $8,000.00, or any other sum, which was used by him as part payment of the house which he purchased from Mr. Sam Gallinger, Jr., in July, 1921? If so, to whom was the money paid?

3—Did you institute negotiations with Mr. John Douglass to withdraw from the mayoralty race as a candidate in opposition to Mr. Mackrell, and did you pay or cause to be paid to Mr. Douglass the sum of $30,000.00 in cash and $5,000.00 in United States Liberty Bonds? If so, how much of the foregoing consideration did you personally furnish and was it done as a campaign donation by you or as a gift or loan to Mr. Mackrell? Is this the transaction in regard to which you entered suit against Mr. Mackrell?

4—Did Mr. Mackrell have any interest in or connection with any company to which an alcohol permit was issued, and if so, what was his interest or connection; also, what was such company?

5—Did Mr. Mackrell have any interest in or connection with a lottery which was being conducted under the name of "New System" in the guise of a suit club with headquarters in the Keenan Building? If so, what was his interest or connection?

6—What was Mr. Mackrell's attitude in regard to various rackets?

7—Any other or additional information you might have concerning Mr. Mackrell's past history or activities which should be known by the voters in passing upon his qualifications as a candidate for Mayor.

We sincerely urge your attention to this communication and again desire to impress upon you the duty which you owe as a citizen to either appear before our committee at such time as you may designate, preferbly before the end of this week, or reply to these inquiries by letter.

Very truly yours,
A. LEO WEIL,
Vice Chairman.

Engelsberg Volunteers To Face Committee

Engelsberg yesterday acknowledged the letter and offered to appear before the committee today. Later in the day he changed his mind and answered the league's inquiries in writing. His letter follows:

September 7, 1933.

Citizens League of Allegheny County, Vandergrift Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

(Attention: Mr. A. Leo Weill, Jr., vice chairman.)

Gentlemen—Since writing you earlier today that I would appear in person before your committee, I have given the matter further consideration, and it seems to me it would be better instead of appearing in person to reply in writing to your inquiries concerning my association with Joe Mackrell.

It is not my desire to obtain any publicity in this matter as I am interested only in obtaining money justly due and owing me, but unfortunately it is a public record and therefore becomes public matter.

You also suggest that it is my duty as a citizen of Pittsburgh to appear before your committee and state such facts as are within my knowledge, or to furnish you with a statement embodying facts as I know them. In view of the fact that I have a suit pending against Mr. Mackrell, and which I will at the proper time be able to sustain my claim to recover monies which he owes me, I am reluctant to answer these questions, as I have no desire to prejudice my case and make a public issue of it. However, I do feel that I can answer certain of these questions.

1—I personally financed many of Mr. Mackrell's campaigns, particularly when he was a candidate for Council, Coroner, Mayor and Register of Wills. The amount furnished by me in these campaigns was a staggering sum.

2—I gave Mr. Mackrell $8,000 for the purpose of purchasing his home, part of which I gave to Mackrell and the balance to the lawyer who closed the deal.

3—Negotiations with Mr. Douglass were instituted by Mr. Mackrell, who sent Mr. Douglass to me at my drug store on Center avenue, stating that Mr. Mackrell had things arranged for a meeting between Mr. Douglass and Mr. Mackrell at Mr. Mackrell's home, and subsequently Mr. Mackrell came to me and told me he had made arrangements with Mr. Douglass to withdraw upon payment to Mr. Douglass of $35,000, and Mr. Mackrell asked me if I would loan him the money. I then loaned him $35,000, of which $30,000 was in cash and $5,000 in United States Liberty bonds. A day or two later Mr. Mackrell called me in and gave me the $35,000 with instructions to give it to John Douglass, which I did. This $35,000 is in the expense account of Mr. Douglass filed in the Clerk of Courts office. This loan was recognized by Mr. Mackrell for the reason that he paid me since that time $3,650 on account, the balance is the cause of the suit which I mentioned above.

4—Mr. Mackrell did have an interest with me in a concern for the sale of illicit liquor, and received his share of the profits.

5—Mr. Mackrell did have an interest in the "New System," which was a suit club with headquarters in the Kenan Building, receiving a share of the profits, and he took care of the matter that this club would not be molested by the police.

6—As to Mr. Mackrell's attitude in regard to various rackets, I can say to you frankly that he was interested in any racket wherein he was to get a percentage of the profits.

7—I could give you plenty of additional information concerning Mr. Mackrell's past history and activities, but as I stated in the beginning of my letter, I do not feel as though this is the proper time, in view of the fact that my case is pending in court.

Yours Very Truly,
JOS. ENGELSBERG.

Douglas Relates Deal To Quit 1921 Race

DOUGLAS
PITTSBURGH

Exposition Bldg., Duquesne Way.
Telephones Court 4840, 4845.
Hauling—Rigging—Contractors

To Whom It May Concern:

For the past several weeks I have been requested by numerous persons to make a statement concerning the law suit filed by Joseph Engelsberg against Joseph N. Mackrell, and while I have no particular interest in this suit I feel that the public is entitled to the facts so far as I am concerned.

In 1921 I was a candidate for Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, my opponents being Joseph N. Mackrell and William A. Magee. Mr. Magee was indorsed by the Regular Republican organization.

After several weeks' campaigning, during which time many efforts were made by friends of both Mr. Mackrell and myself, to have one of us withdraw from the contest.

On August 24th I attended a conference at Mr. Mackrell's home, which lasted several hours. Among those attending this conference were Mr. Mackrell, and Mr. Engelsberg. The expense incurred by myself and Mr. Mackrell, in conducting our campaigns, were gone over very carefully. Propositions were made by both sides that Mr. Mackrell or myself withdraw from the contest for Mayor, and whichever one remained in the contest, he was to assume and pay the campaign expenses of the other candidate. This conference, like others before, brought no results.

Another conference was held on the night of August 24th, without results.

On August 25th, at a conference it was decided that I would withdraw from the contest for Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh. Mr. Mackrell agreed to pay all money expended by me for campaign expenses, which amounted to $35,000.00. Mr. Mackrell, in my presence, arranged to obtain this money from Joseph Engelsberg, and it was agreed that I was to come to Mr. Mackrell's home about noon on August 26th.

On August 26th, I arrived at Mr. Mackrell's home about 1 o'clock, where I met Mr. Mackrell and Mr. Engelsberg. Mr. Mackrell gave me an envelope containing $35,000.00 in currency and Liberty bonds. We then drove to the office of George S. Oliver, where I made a statement, withdrawing as a candidate for Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh.

MACKRELL HIT BY ENGELSBERG

1921 campaign, $30,000 of the sum being in cash and $5,000 in Liberty bonds, which "is in the expense account of Mr. Douglas filed in the clerk of courts' office."

Mackrell, told of the charges, said:

"I will answer both the Engelsberg letter and the Douglas affidavit as soon as I've had a chance to read them."

RECORDS MISSING

Leslie Johnson, chairman of the Citizens' League, who made public the correspondence, together with an affidavit from Douglas after conferences with Mackrell and Engelsberg, said that the expense account of Douglas cannot be found in the office of the clerk of courts.

Engelsberg said that Mackrell had since paid him $3,650 on account of the loan made, and he has instituted suit to recover the remainder. Mackrell in a reply to the suit, filed several weeks ago, denies any obligation and declared that no loan was made.

Douglas said he was paid the $35,000 by Mackrell in the latter's home in the presence of Engelsberg, the money being in an envelope, and that "we then drove to the office of George S. Oliver, where I made a statement withdrawing as a candidate for mayor."

Engelsberg, after replying to the questions asked by the league, wrote:

"I could give you plenty of additional information concerning Mr. Mackrell's past history and activities, but as I stated in the beginning of my letter, I do not feel this is the proper time, in view of the fact that my case is pending in court."

Engelsberg was convicted in 1932 of violating the prohibition law, and was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

SPEAKS FOR LEAGUE

In a statement prefacing the correspondence, Johnson said that the Citizens' Committee and the League of Women Voters were and are non-political organizations, but that the Citizens' League furnished the means for speaking politically. He spoke today in his capacity as head of the Citizens' League, which is supporting Councilman P. J. McArdle for the Republican mayoralty nomination.

Johnson related the steps in correspondence between Weil and Engelsberg. Referring to the statement by Douglas that the payment of $35,000 showed in his campaign expense account, Mr. Johnson said:

"We made a search in the office of the Clerk of Courts, and were told that they had been looking for several weeks, but had been unable to find it. It has disappeared."

Now for Needed New Fall Clothes!..

"BUY Good" says Vogue in its current issue, proclaiming a new era, in which elegance in dress and graciousness in living are coming into their own again. Mistakes and rejections are more costly than the worthy and lasting things over which one hesitates sometimes because of a trifle higher cost. Horne's has always been identified with dependable and desirable qualities, and now is the time to have these good things while they are still to be bought at favorably low prices.

HORNE'S

"All American" Sweaters

California's Classics of Fine Zephyr Yarns

Whether you play or just watch, you will find these sweaters grand for the purpose. The soft spun zephyr yarns of which they are made, achieve the air of casualness found only in really good sports things; and their Label is a signature of craftsmen who are proud of what they make.

Monotones in suede-finished sweaters, and flecked tweed effects in finely ribbed ones . . . Tuxedo and Crew-neck cardigans, $3.50 and $3.95. Slip-overs to match them in forming twin sets, $2.95 and $3.95.

Tweed Swagger Suits

With Practical Coats of Seven-Eighths Length

Rust flecking on green, rust on brown, white on blue, red on pansy, white on gray—those are the spirited combinations in the flecked tweeds of these new swaggers. Also, there are checks and mixtures in staple colorings.

One of these suits (with its seven-eighths coat that can be worn as a separate coat with any sports frock or costume), and a change of sweaters and blouses, and one need have no problem about what to wear to business, to school, for travel, for sports meets and country jaunts.

This is one of those practical, classic fashions, for which Horne's, Suit Section is so well known. Misses' and women's sizes.

Genuine Hand-Loomed

Harris Tweed Coats

$39.75

There are "Harris-type" tweeds, but if your coat comes from our Sportswear Shop, you can be sure it is the real thing . . . made from virgin Scottish Highland wool, hand-loomed on the Island of Harris and Lewis, and bearing the authorized label.

You can be sure it will wear, because the wool is carded by hand and spun by the quaint womenfolk of the Island, so the fibre is never broken. And its colors will last through all climatic conditions, because of their natural, vegetable origin.

The new fall models are in true English styles; and their mixtures, in brown, gray and heather tones, are confined exclusively to Horne's, for Pittsburgh.

CUBA SEEKING TO RESTORE ORDER

dential palace to save Cuba from "foreign intervention."

HEAVILY GUARDED

The junta and the leaders of all political factions, with the notable exception of the ABC, met at the palace heavily guarded by troops, who surrounded the building and mounted machine guns at strategic points.

The new government plan, drawn by a "United Cuba," unanimously opposing American intervention, was revealed to International News Service on high authority. It contained the following points:

1—All of the 900 officers deprived of their rank in Tuesday's coup d'etat will be restored to command.

2—The new council of 15—the junta and the 10 party delegates—will rule until the new government is organized.

3—Great effort will be made to organize the new government and bid for American recognition before the American Secretary of the Navy, Claude A. Swanson, arrives on the cruiser Indianapolis, expected in Havana this afternoon.

CRUISER ARRIVES

This development followed rapidly upon the arrival in Havana harbor of the American cruiser Richmond and the destroyer Bainbridge, and came only a few hours after it was made known the United States has a total of 30 warships either in Cuban waters or ready to proceed here immediately.

Regardless of minor differences, all political leaders agreed that only two paths remained open after yesterday passed without notable progress toward formation of a solid government. There were recognition by the United States, or intervention.

They united in a supreme effort to attain the former by organizing an administration which would win the approval of President Roosevelt.

Women, taking a prominent part in the new movement, declared flatly they would form a "death battalion" to prevent the landing of American troops on Cuban soil. They said in a statement:

"The women of Cuba will be the first to arm and fight for liberty against any foreign intervention in our sovereign right to govern ourselves.

"If we must choose between liberty and death we are ready to lay down our lives for our native land."

While crack mounted troops of the revolutionary army formed ranks outside the presidential palace, holding back crowds of anxious citizens, machine guns were trained on all approaches to the rooms where the provisional dictatorship of five met with leaders of the opposing elements, whom they had called in an effort to ride out the crisis.

Sitting in the parley were representatives of nearly all of the elements which had brought about the downfall of President Gerardo Machado, but who had split into many warring factions after President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes stepped down from office.

Leaders of the deposed army officers also were there.

The conferees issued the following statement, signed by representatives of all factions, again excepting the ABC, during their session:

"In the face of imminent danger of foreign intervention which appears to be approaching Cuba, we have gathered here to make known that we will support to the fullest of our ability the new government (the junta), and we are in accord with all the revolutionary ideals for which this new government stands."

U. S. Sees Cuban Situation Approaching Climax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—The Roosevelt administration today regarded swift developments in troubled Cuba as approaching a climax—and possibly even solution—of the island crisis, but military mobilization for sea, land or air movements continued unrelaxed.

Inclusion by the radical junta of all Cuban political factions in a commission to "study the nation's problems," was considered in some State Department quarters as an advance toward stabilization of conditions.

But it still was remembered that should there be attacks upon foreigners in Cuba, treaty obligations impose upon the United States the serious responsibility of maintaining a government there adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty.

ANXIOUS OVER LIVES

These considerations—and more especially anxiety for the safety of the lives and property of United States citizens—sped 30 warships toward the trouble zone, assembled a regiment of fully-equipped Marines at Quantico, Va., and prepared a Marine aircraft squadron there for instant flight.

Yet throughout, the administration emphasized that these war-like orders were only in case of emergency, that the last thing this government wanted was intervention.

Serving to stress the responsibilities of this government should law and order break down were solicitous calls at the State Department by diplomats from other foreign powers with nationals in Cuba.

TREATY CITED

Their inquiries arose partly from the Paris treaty of peace, ratified in 1899 by Spain and the United States, which ceded Cuba to this country and ended the Spanish-American War. It stipulated:

"And, as the island is, upon the evacuation by Spain, to be occupied by the United States, the United States will, so long as the occupation shall last, assume the discharge of obligations that may, under international law, result from the fact of its occupation, for the protection of life and property."

Another clause in the same treaty provided that the obligations assumed by the United States were limited to the time of occupation, but stated that the United States would upon the termination of its occupancy, "advise any government established in the island to assume the same obligation." The Platt amendment added the direct right of intervention.

Thus, while concerned primarily about its own citizens, the United States is obligated to see that a government is maintained in Cuba, which will protect all foreigners and Cubans alike.

Will Die Fighting Marines, Cuban Women Vow

HAVANA, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—A commission of women representing the Agrupacion Revolucionnaria de Mujeres (women's revolutionary organization) called at the presidential palace last night, assailed the suggestion of American intervention in Cuba, and declared:

"Marines must pass over our dead bodies to get on Cuban soil. We claim the right to be the first to face American Marines."

North Side Boy Hit By Auto Near Home

Suffering internal injuries when he was struck by an automobile near his home last night, Edward Morton, 8, of 1814 B street, North Side, was in Allegheny General Hospital today. Charles O. Green, 36, of 2525 Charles street, the driver, was arrested, police reported.

Siple to Make His Second Trip to Antarctic

ERIE, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Two Erie Boy Scouts will accompany Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd on his second expedition to the Antarctic, which sails from Boston, September 25.

Paul E. Siple, who went with Byrd on the first expedition, will leave Erie Saturday for Boston. A graduate of Allegheny College, Meadville, he will act as biologist on the present trip. Siple returned recently from a world tour.

Olin Stancliff, 28, scoutmaster, is now at Byrd's camp in New Hampshire training for duties as a dog team driver. He was made a member of the expedition at Siple's request.

Thomas Warns U. S. On Intervention

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, departed from his subject while addressing a strike meeting in Union Square last night to warn against United States intervention in Cuba. He said:

"Workers who permit intervention in Cuba will not deserve or long enjoy freedom at home. The exploitation of American economic interests has been a major factor in making Cuba the hell it has been."

SIX U. S. PLANES FLY OVER CUBA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Six Navy seaplanes, flying from Norfolk to the Canal Zone, passed over Cuba this morning several miles east of Havana, and were reported by the Navy to have reached a point well south of Grand Cayman in the Caribbean.

The planes are believed to be on a non-stop 2,000 mile flight to Coco Solo, base of naval operations in the Panama Canal Zone.

The secrecy that covered the departure led to reports that the planes are away on something more than a "regular scheduled flight."

There is some basis for belief that the squadron may be joined by six more planes at Coco Solo and continue on to San Diego and thence to Hawaii.

Violence Renewed In Hard Coal Strike

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 8.—(INS.)—Violence broke out again today in the anthracite labor difficulties when a charge of dynamite set off under the garage of Frank Rudis in North Scranton destroyed an automobile and a garage.

Authorities blamed pickets of the Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania, an insurgent organization, for the blast.

Nurse Left Him, Husband Charges

John R. Tiers, of 314 South Evaline street, yesterday asked Judge Thomas M. Marshall for a divorce from Kathryn A. Tiers, a registered nurse. They have two children. Tiers is 31 and his wife 34.

Tiers told the court he could give no reason why his wife left him in 1929.

Sharpsburg Club To Hear Candidates

The Boosters' Club of Sharpsburg Republicans will hold a mass meeting tonight in Sharpsburg High School.

Addresses will be made by Judges Harry H. Rowand and Ralph H. Smith and Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay, candidates for Common Pleas Court; Robert Cochrane, for sheriff, and Mrs. Lois McBride, for Juvenile Court. George M. Cook is in charge.

New Chief on Job At Sewickley Monday

Sewickley's newly-appointed police chief, Roy S. Barclay, will take over the duties of office Monday. He was named yesterday to succeed Harold Rhoades.

Rhoades resigned a month ago after a committee began investigating alleged laxity in the closing of speakeasies.

KING FEISAL, 48, DIES, ALLY OF LAWRENCE

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—King Feisal, of Iraq, a scholar and desert warrior who, with the aid of the romantic Lawrence of Arabia wrested a kingdom from the wreck of the Turkish Empire during the World War, died in a Berne hotel today following a sudden heart attack. He was 48.

Death came on the heels of Assyrian troubles in Iraq, the youngest nation in the League of Nations family, which culminated in reports that 600 Assyrian Christians were massacred.

ANGERED BY CHARGES

The King, broken in health, was deeply angered by these charges, which undoubtedly contributed to weaken his heart. He was gravely ill when he came here from Bagdad a few days ago and his physician, although realizing that treatment in Switzerland was necessary, were apprehensive of his ability to stand the journey.

While it was generally known that he was gravely ill, his passing was a shock even to members of his entourage. His intention was to remain here two weeks and then to return to his capital, Bagdad.

He was accompanied here by his brother Ali, who is in charge of funeral arrangements.

BORN IN 1885

King Feisal was born in 1885 at Taif, the son of Sharif Husain and a descendant of Fatimah, the only surviving child of the Prophet. He was educated privately in Istanbul.

After the World War he played an important part with Gen. Allenby and T. E. Lawrence in Arab revolts. In 1921 he was elected to the Iraq throne by a plebiscite.

On his arrival here the monarch in an interview insisted there was no fanaticism against Assyrian Christians in Iraq.

Before retiring last night he complained of feeling tired. He motored to Interlaken, Switzerland, for lunch, and returned about 3 p. m. yesterday, going immediately to his room. He told his aide-de-camp he had a headache.

King Dead

KING FEISAL

Bearded King Feisal, of Iraq, the man who with the help of famed Lawrence of Arabia carved a Mesopotamian nation from the after-the-war remnants of Turkey, dead today. He was only 48.

YANCEY HUNTING MISSING GYRO

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Capt. Lon Yancey, transoceanic flier, directed an aerial search of lower Lake Michigan today for three fliers, one a woman, believed forced down in the lake on an attempted autogyro flight here from South Bend, Ind.

The missing trio are H. W. (Bud) Manning, world's champion parachute jumper; Charles Otto, pilot, and a woman identified as Miss Majenta Gerard, 21, a passenger.

Although fear was expressed that the three had perished, friends of the missing trio held to the belief that the fliers may have kept the plane afloat in the lake. Yancey expressed belief that the plane might be still afloat.

Strong headwinds encountered on the flight were thought to have exhausted the plane's supply of gasoline. The ship had a fuel tank of only 50 gallons capacity.

Two groups of searchers under Yancey obtained amphibian planes from the World's Fair ramp to retrace the lake route taken by the autogyro.

Reward in Slaying Raised to $5,000

The reward for capture of the slayers of State Highway Patrolman Herbert P. Brantlinger was increased $4,000 to $5,000 yesterday by the County Commissioners

Brantlinger was killed last Saturday when he surprised alleged gasoline thieves at a filling station near Bridgeville. The state highway patrol had previously offered a reward of $1,000 for the capture.

STILL FRIENDLY TO PRESIDENT, MOLEY SAYS

By WILLIAM PFARR
Staff Correspondent

BEDFORD SPRINGS, Sept. 8.—Editor Moley, the former brain-truster, isn't going to pull his punches on President Roosevelt.

The friend of the President, whose resignation as an assistant secretary of state was effective yesterday, confided as much today in an exclusive interview with the Sun-Telegraph.

He was wearing a borrowed tuxedo and a permanent grin, and drawing on a pipe that invited gas masks, as he talked about the new weekly magazine that he and Vincent Astor are launching. He explained:

"Of course, we'll be sympathetic to the New Deal, but above all, we're going to be independent. And write just as any other really independent publication."

'NO GOODBYS'

Moley said that before he had left Washington yesterday he had talked with the President, but there were no goodbys, because:

"I'm going back. After all, I've been a good friend of Mr. Roosevelt's for years—before the campaign. I hope to continue with him on the same relations."

The name of the Moley-Astor magazine will be "Today"—a title borrowed from Arthur Brisbane's column. Moley said:

"I asked Mr. Brisbane about using it and he very graciously consented. In fact, I asked him to write a piece for us and I think he's going to do it."

GRIN WIDENS

Moley's grin widened as he promised that his "angel," Mr. Astor, could only get a piece in the new paper if his stuff were up to standard.

Moley made a fast trip to Bedford Springs to speak before the convention of the Pennsylvania Electric Association. Expected to talk about utilities, he apologized, explaining:

"I don't know enough about them."

He talked about the "New Deal." And had nothing but praise for it. The President he described as:

"The most reasonable man in the world. You don't have to be afraid of a man of his qualifications . . . And we've got to go on. We can't stop. There may be an injustice here and there which we will go back and correct, but we've got to go ahead. There's no other road."

TOSSES 'SCARE'

Moley tossed a bit of a scare at his audience when he declared:

"An electric power has essentially become a national concern. State rights are no longer able to restrict its mighty unifying force. Hence, a development such as that of Muscle Shoals must of necessity, become federal in its concern.

". . . You will find there is still a great deal of money to be made through the service you render; but you will find that the amount of profits and the character of the serivce and the way you shall exercise your vast and salutary power will, to a great degree, be shaped in terms of a new conception of associated living."

DE VALERA FOES MERGE PARTIES

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—The party of former President William T. Cosgrave voted unanimously today to merge with the Center party and the National Guard, forming the United Ireland party.

This fusion would bring together the opposition to President Eamon de Valera. The National Guard, led by Gen. Eoin O'Duffy, has been the center of considerable conflict in the Free State recently, as it has been accused by the De Valera government of seeking to establish a dictatorship, and on this ground has been outlawed.

Apparatus Secured To Aid Insull Fight

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Forest A. Harness, special assistant to the United States Attorney General, here in connection with the Samuel Insull extradition proceedings, has gone to Serres in Northwestern Greece to get photostatic apparatus to be used in the case.

An American engineering company, carrying out reclamation works in behalf of the Greek government in the Struma Valley, has headquarters at Serres. This company has one of the few photostatic setups in Greece.

Howard Iams Presents One-Man Art Show Here

By PENELOPE REDD

Auspiciously ushering in the new season is an exhibition of the paintings of J. Howard Iams, of Washington, Pa., installed in a handsome new gallery on the third floor of the Gulf Building. Mr. Iams, long known to followers of Pittsburgh art exhibitions, is presented in his first one-man show in this city.

Miss [illegible] Washington, the National Academy of Design in New York City, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, and the Art Institute of Chicago. Introduced to the South by the Southern States Art Association, his work has been so popular that the museums on the circuit from Richmond, Va., to Houston, Tex., requested two one-man shows to fill the demand for the southland. Consequently, his paintings have been acquired for collections in the South and in the West without the benefit of impelled purchases by his friends.

His work has been accepted for all of the major American salons such as the Corcoran Biennal at

Without the advantage of a clever dealer or a built-up personality through publicity, J. Howard Iams has let his paintings speak for him. Indeed, the oil paintings, water colors, and pastels of J. Howard Iams as they hang in the Gulf Building gallery have a disarmingly friendly appeal. He paints water colors such as "A Country House," a farm study, with the quietude and honesty of a Winslow Homer.

"Morning Fog," with the ordinary chores of country life of the man-in-the-picture leaving his small, self-contained home, is elevated to the poetic through Iams' respect for his craftsmanship and his unerring imposition of a mood.

Iams' predisposition to sublimate the commonplace until it approaches the exaltation that we know as super-realism in painting is exemplified in two of his canvases, "Ecstasy," a chiarascuro study of a young girl dreaming in the moonlight by an open window through which she sees a village, stops short of the artificially heightened emotion with which the now famed super-realists titillate the observer's sensation.

In "Spring Rain," Iams unconsciously approximates this desired quality in his direct study of a tumble-down farm house at the hill's edge brought to impalpable beauty by the rhythm of slanting rain.

If you do not know the work of this painter in our midst, go to the new gallery in the Gulf Building any day and on Wednesdays until 10 p. m. during the month of September.

WORLD JEWISH MEET VOTES BOYCOTT

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 8, (AP.)—The World Jewish Conference closed its sessions today by adopting a resolution calling for a boycott on German goods until the rights of Jews in Germany have been restored.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, bitterly criticized Jews, whether in or out of Palestine, who make commercial arrangements with the Nazi government, saying Jewry holds such persons in horror.

Dr. Wise announced that a representative of the Volkischer Beobachter, Chancellor Hitler's news organ, was in the hall. The rabbi remarked that if he made in Germany the sort of speeches he has been making elsewhere he would "be rent limb from limb."

"You sir, are safe here, but you must speak the truth in your report."

In presenting the boycott resolution the New York rabbi said it was not a declaration of war but an honorable instrument of self-defense, which will be used until "radical megalomania has been abandoned."

Other resolutions which were adopted recorded the expectation of the conference that the League of Nations will consider itself bound to bring about the complete re-establishment of the rights of German Jews and to facilitate the passage of German Jews to Palestine.

Another memorial called on the World Jewish Congress of March, 1934, to defend Jewish rights, saying that "Germa nanti-Semitism imposes on Jews a struggle to the death." The delegates to this congress will be elected by national suffrage.

Diana, 11, whose mother, Mrs. Frederick Watriss, in New York is trying to keep from her the information that Florida's courts have raised her income from $7,000 annually to $95,215: "Diana mustn't grow up thinking too much of money." The income's from the estate of her father, the late Frank Duff Frazier. This is an International News Photograph Service picture

EINSTEIN HIDES FROM KILLERS

International News Service.

COQ-SUR-MER, Belgium, Sept. 8.—Prof. Albert Einstein, German physicist, whose life is reported threatened by a Nazi secret society, is hiding out in the study of his villa here, with the windows shuttered and policemen on guard day and night.

Mrs. Einstein and the professor's daughter made this admission to International News Service this afternoon after it had been reported that Einstein had fled from Coq-Sur-Mer.

The German physicist, who yesterday showed no concern when told of the alleged Nazi threat, is now desperately afraid an attempt will be made on his life. The door of his study is securely locked and only his wife and daughter are permitted to enter.

STATE TO HIRE 500 TEACHERS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—(AP.) The State Emergency Relief Board has set aside tentatively $250,000 to give employment to 500 teachers and vocational education to 5,000 to 10,000 unemployed persons.

Details of the plan, which involves the use of federal money, will be decided on at the State Board meeting next week and will be sent to Washington for final approval.

Present plans contemplate the establishment of schools for adults at 20 or 25 centers, the schoolrooms or other accommodations to be furnished by local districts. Teachers and others qualified to conduct the classes will receive $15 weekly.

German Embassy In London Stoned

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—A brick was thrown through a window of the German embassy in London last night with a note attached, which said:

"This brick carries with it the wrath of millions of workers in Britain against the outrageous sentences of decapitation passed of nine Communist workers at Duesseldorf."

Husband Dying, Wife Ends Life

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. J. C. Pickens, who killed herself in a hospital after learning her husband was dying, will be buried Saturday with him.

Pickens died yesterday from meningitis. Mrs. Pickens shot herself yesterday in an adjoining room in the hospital.

Cambria Legion Fair Opens at Ebensburg

The Cambria County Legion Fair at Ebensburg, opens today for a gala two-day program. A bugle and drum corps competition features tonight's events. A continuous entertainment bill includes dancing, animal acts, aerial exhibitions, juggling, acrobatics, clowning and other amusements.

TURNER FETED AT BANQUET

Friends—700 of them—last night gave William M. Turner, Pittsburgh's new postmaster, a testimonial dinner in the Elks Club, Wilkinsburg.

Speakers included David L. Lawrence, county Democratic chairman; George Rankin, Jr., and James L. Quinn, member of the Legislature. Friends presented the Wilkinsburg Democrat with a desk set.

Fred Weir was chairman.

Following a program of entertainment, the speakers paid tribute to the geniality of Turner—the only Democrat ever to win office in Wilkinsburg. It was a non-political gathering, with Republican County Chairman William H. Coleman, a number of judges and political officeholders of both parties attended.

Greensburg Man Freed in Murder

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 8.—Albert J. (Casey) Jones, Negro, has been acquitted of murder following a jury trial.

Jones is alleged to have shot and killed Jordan Jackson, another Negro during a card game, May 27. Jones pleaded he shot in self-defense.

Brownsville Man Held in Dog Row

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 8.—William Stafford, Brownsville, was held for the grand jury for purportedly pointing a gun at Borough Solicitor Max J. Laponsky, who remonstrated with him for kicking Laponsky's pet dog.

WELCH'S USED ON REDUCING DIET

People who have given the most thorough study to the science of reducing healthfully have lately brought out some very interesting facts.

For years the "grape cure" has been prescribed by the most eminent European doctors as the ideal method of healthful weight reduction. But that involves the eating of many pounds of grapes daily, which is not practical.

It has now been shown that Welch's Certified-Pure, Pasteurized Grape Juice contains all the elements of the grape useful for weight control purposes. The rest is unnecessary. And modern science has discovered that Welch's belongs on every reducing diet, because its non-fattening grape sugar forces the body to burn up its fat. Excess weight melts away...health, vitality and strength improve. The whole treatment—in a very readable booklet entitled, "Keeping Your Weight Down"—is yours free for the asking.

If you have children

you will be interested in another booklet Welch has published, called "Red-Blooded Children." It describes a wonderful method of building up run-down, undernourished youngsters.

If you will send your name and address to The Welch Grape Juice Co., Dept. 1622, Westfield, N. Y., you will receive either or both of these booklets FREE.

To save time let Welch's start you on the road to health today! Along with your reducing diet, drink a glass of Welch's before breakfast, once or twice during the day and before retiring. Because of its purity, Welch's may be diluted with one-third water, and many prefer it so. Continue—and experience the wonderful difference.

IMPORTANT: Insist on Welch's. It is the exclusive Welch Process that retains in the bottled juice the healthful properties of ripe grapes so essential to the system. Only Welch's is Certified-Pure and Pasteurized. It contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial coloring, no preservatives, no water, and above all, no tartaric acid crystals. It is selling at the lowest price in 35 years, and is even cheaper by the case. Send for free booklet TODAY to place orders last May (when things looked darkest) for our Annual September Sale of Fall and Winter Clothing . . . But it's lucky for us and lucky for YOU we did it . . . Here are the facts from the head of our Clothing Department . . .

On May 22nd—a memorable day for us and for YOU—We placed our orders with Hart-Schaffner & Marx for our Fall and Winter Clothing . . . The country was in the very depths of the depression . . . commodity markets were glutted . . . merchandise was going begging . . . and there was no way of knowing that four months hence the entire picture would change . . . Naturally our orders were placed at the low levels then existing. Then what happened? . . . Raw commodities started up and quite naturally wholesale prices followed the upward swing . . . But . . . every suit of clothing . . . every topcoat . . . every overcoat that we ordered from Hart-Schaffner & Marx back in May . . . has been delivered . . . and at the prices specified in our original orders . . . We paid not one penny advance on these purchases . . . Our policy of mutual confidence with our customers is too well known to repeat here . . . but I want to emphasize the fact . . . that we have a floor full of Hart-Schaffner & Marx Fall and Winter Clothing . . . We own it at the market's lowest levels . . . and as long as this stock lasts we are going to sell it at the same low prices . . . We feel you are entitled to know these FACTS . . . so that you may avail yourself of the savings.

STORM WATERS PERIL TEXAS BORDER

HARLINGEN, Tex., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Muddy torrents surging into the Rio Grande from the rain-soaked Mexican watershed today threatened to raise the mighty border stream to a dangerous stage, while residents of the hurricane-devastated lower valley, after taking precautions to guard their flood control system, concentrated on the task of rehabilitation.

With 22 known dead, hundreds injured and thousands of refugees destitute after the disastrous tropical hurricane and its attending deluge of rain, relief agencies worked at top speed to relieve distress, prevent spead of disease and restore wrecked homes.

Estimates of damage ran around $10,000,000, with the citrus crop virtually wiped out.

SOUND FLOOD WARNING

Mexican tributaries draining the Monterrey region, swept by heavy rains earlier in the week, caused the Rio Grande to rise steadily and the Weather Bureau warned a flood stage would be reached all along the valley.

The San Juan River, dumping into the Rio Grande, near Rio Grande City, and the Salado, joining near Zapata, had forced the Rio Grande to a stage of 20.35 feet at the Hidalgo International Bridge. The stage at Rio Grande City was 35 feet and rising.

Protecting the fertile valley was a system of dykes and floodways built at a cost of millions of dollars. Early last fall the river raged and tore at these great earthworks for many days as it drained into the gulf.

REPAIRS MADE

There were several breaks and low-lying lands were inundated with small damage. Since then repairs have been made and it was believed the system will withstand the flood.

"The Rio Grande could go three feet higher and then there would be no danger anywhere if the levees held."

This was the view of J. E. Pate, manager of the International Bridge linking Hidalgo and Reynosa, Mexico.

Federal immigration officers at the bridge said a few feet more rise in the river would inundate a low place in the road and block the American bridge end.

FAY DESMOND'S SUIT DISMISSED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—The suit for annulment of her marriage to Leo Desmond, Long Island salesman, filed by Mrs. Fay Desmond, was dismissed yesterday.

Mrs. Desmond's suit was filed shortly after her husband had instituted a $100,000 alienation of affections suit against Dr. Eugene C. Nelson, Negro physician and former husband of Helen Lee Worthing, ex-Follies dancer.

Desmond charged Nelson with stealing the love of his wife. Trial of this case is to be set for an early date.

Mrs. Desmond asked for annulment of her marriage on the grounds her husband misrepresented his citizenship in applying for the license. Desmond filed a demurrer stating his wife's petition did not state a cause of action, but the dismissal came shortly before the demurrer was to be argued.

TEACHER STRIKE SETTLED

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Old Forge's teacher strike has been settled.

More than 100 of the borough's schoolma'ams and schoolmasters agreed last night to return to their classes next Monday after agreement was reached on their request for at least part payment of their six months' overdue salaries.

The strike started with the opening day of school this week and more than 4,000 youngsters got an extension of their vacation as a result.

GREATER SPEED, POWER MARK AIR GROWTH

By ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT
Aviation Editor of Hearst Newspapers

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—In many respects aviation in the United States has kept pace with the world's progress and has made good its promises.

All it needs today is the realization by the public in general of the real importance of the aviation industry in the life of the people and the future of the country.

The object of these articles is to awaken in the average man's mind interest and confidence in aviation. Technical descriptions of advancement in this industry are often incomprehensible to the layman, as they are in every industry. With that in mind, let us brush aside details of technicalities and glance at what has taken place in the last four years and estimate, if we can, what will come in the next four.

'THE IDEAL PLANE'

A good starting point is the series of interesting and instructive articles written in 1929 by John K. Northrop, one of America's outstanding aeronautical engineers. He is the man to whom credit may be given for many of the advancements made in that four-year period.

Here is what he wrote then:

"Improved design, better structures, more reliable, cheaper and abundant power, new and better alloys and greater understanding of aerodynamics and weather are giving birth to the ideal plane of tomorrow."

The plane of tomorrow visioned by Northrop is here today.

Design of our sky clippers has undergone radical change in four years. Fantastic drawings which visionaries drew at that time and serious-minded people regarded as idle fantasies, have, in many instances, been equaled and surpassed.

STREAMLINED EFFECTS

Norman Bell Geddes for years advocated streamlined effects. Today these new shapes actually can be seen in use on the modern skyliners, such as the Boeing 247s, the new Northrops, the Cord Vultairo, and last but most impressive of all, the new Douglas Transport. These ships will use more of streamlining to get a maximum speed out of their power plants and utilizing that power for speed instead of wasting much of it in dragging through the air cumbersome and bulky structures which in the past jutted out all over the surface of the plane.

In improved design the following has been accomplished in the last four years:

Low-wing structure, streamlined shapes, retractable landing gear and what is technically known as the "wing-root" fairing —gracefully-curving flanges which bridge the sharp angles between the wings and the body of the plane and prevent whirls and eddies of air from impeding the forward flight of the ship.

POWER MORE RELIABLE

Power is more reliable—it is cheaper and more concentrated than it was four years ago. We get more power per pound of weight and with less fuel consumption.

Metals used in the construction of the bodies and wings of modern airplanes are stronger and lighter. "Dural" and "alclad" are helping reduce the weight and increase the strength of the planes. Some of the new aluminum alloys available today are from 20 to 50 per cent magnesium alloys having the same strength as aluminum and weigh only two-thirds as much.

Understanding of aerodynamics and weather has advanced so rapidly that today the air lines know more about weather conditions their ships will meet during their flights than is known by the great ocean liners at sea. Today the pilot knows exactly what to expect and how to avoid what lies ahead of him.

There is no doubt that the planes of tomorrow, as pictured only a few years ago, are here.

Tomorrow's plane of tomorrow will arrive as quickly.

More speed is assured. Conquest of ordinary weather conditions is certain and complete mechanical safety and freedom from poor design and imperfect workmanship undoubtedly are things of the past.

TEXT OF COAL CODE DRAFTED BY NRA

36-HOUR WEEK TO BE AVERAGE AT MINES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—The text of the bituminous coal code follows:

ARTICLE I
Purposes

To effectuate the policies of Title I of the National Industrial Recovery Act, the following provisions are submitted as a code of fair competition for the bituminous coal industry and upon approval by the President shall be the standards of fair competition for this industry.

ARTICLE II

As used in this code the term "industry" as applied to the bituminous coal industry means the production and original sale of all kinds of coal and lignite except Pennsylvania anthracite.

The term "employer" includes any person employing labor in any phase of the industry.

The term "employe" does not include members of the executive, supervisory, technical and confidential personnel.

The term "administrator" means the official designated by the President to administer the National Industrial Recovery Act.

ARTICLE III
Standards as to Maximum Hours of Labor.

No employe shall be employed in excess of 32 hours in any calendar week during a consecutive period of 26 weeks in any 12 months period, nor in excess of 40 hours in any calendar week during the other 26 consecutive weeks of such 12 months period; provided, however, that any employer may elect to operate any mine on a schedule of employment of not to exceed 36 hours per week throughout the 12 months period. No employe shall be required to work more than 8 hours in any one day at the usual working places (exclusive of lunch period) whether paid by the hour or on a tonnage basis.

There shall be excepted from the foregoing limitations: (A) Employes required because of accidents which temporarily necessitate longer hours for them; (B) supervisors, clerks, technicians and that small number of employes at each mine whose daily work includes the handling of man trips and those who are required to remain on duty while men are entering and leaving the mine.

If at any time a majority of the unemployed workers, who are organized in the manner required in section 7 (A) of the National Industrial Recovery Act, expresses their desire to share the available work with other bona-fide unemployed workers of the same mine, or a written request so to share the work is addressed to the mine management, signed by a majority of the employed workers, the number of hours work to be allotted to the unemployed workers shall be determined, by conference of the mine adjustment committee, or in case of disagreement, by the decision of the district adjustment committee, and duplicate copies of the decision of the committee shall be furnished to the local mine management and the local mine employes' duly authorized representatives.

ARTICLE IV
Standards as to Minimum Rates of Pay.

Inside Rates

The basic minimum rate for inside labor including the occupations of track-layers, bottom cagers, drivers, trip riders, grippers, water haulers, machine haulers and timbermen shall be the rate hereinafter set forth in Schedule A for each district there described, with the understanding that other occupations will maintain their customary differentials above or below the said basic minimum rate. Should any of the rates conflict with contract rates in any district or portion thereof, negotiated collectively with a union of the employes' own choosing, the contract rates shall govern.

Each of the divisional code authorities hereafter described shall within 15 days from the effective date of this code, submit for the consideration and approval of the National Recovery Administration a supplemental schedule setting forth its minimum rates of pay to mine workers employed on a tonnage basis in pick mining, hand loading, undercutting, solid shooting, and also to mine workers employed in strip mining, mechanized mining and dead work, to conform to the basic minimum rate for inside labor, and where the mine workers in any district are organized and have bargained collectively for such wages and working conditions, to report what, if any, collective bargains have been made.

ARTICLE V
Conditions of Employment

(A) Employes shall have the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and shall be free from the interference, restraint or coercion of employers of labor, or their agents, in the designation of such representatives or in self-organization or in their concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection; (2) no employe and no one seeking employment shall be required as a condition of employment to join any company union or to refrain from joining, organizing or assisting a labor organization of his own choosing; and (3) employers shall comply with the maximum hours of labor, or minimum rates of pay and other conditions of employment, approved or prescribed by the President.

(B) Except as otherwise hereinafter provided, all coal mined on a tonnage basis shall be weighed and paid for on the basis of a 2,000-pound ton. The miners shall have the right to a check-weighman, of their own choosing, to inspect the weighing of coal; provided, that where mines are not now equipped to weigh coal a reasonable time may be allowed to so equip such mines; and provided, that in any case where on account of physical conditions or mutual agreement wages are based on any other method than on actual weights, the miners shall have the right to check the accuracy and fairness of the application of such methods, by representatives of their own choosing.

(C) Wages shall be paid semi-monthly in lawful money or par check at the option of the operators. Any deductions from employes' pay shall be a matter of agreement, subject to such rules and regulations as the administrator shall prescribe for the purpose of preventing unfair deductions, or those which may in effect lower the rates of pay herein provided, or create undesirable variations in practice throughout an operating district.

(D) Employes other than maintenance or supervisory men or those necessary to protect the property, shall not be required as a condition of employment to live in homes rented from the employer.

(E) No employe shall be required as a condition of employment to trade at the store of the employer.

(F) No person under sixteen (16) years of age shall be employed inside any mine nor in hazardous occupations outside any mine, provided, however, that where a state law provides a higher minimum age, the state law shall govern.

(G) As soon as possible after the adoption of this code, the National Recovery Administration shall undertake, through a designated committee or agency, an investigation for the purpose of determining and reporting on or before November 30, 1933; upon (A) the practicability and cost (assuming the maintenance of existing rates of pay) of applying to bituminous coal mining a shorter work day and work week, giving consideration to a 30-hour, a 32-hour and a 35-hour week; (B) the effect of and advisability of revising wage differentials in the various regions and districts of the industry; (C) the sales prices obtained for coal, or reasonably to be anticipated, up to the time of the report, for the purpose of determining whether wages and employment can be further increased or maintained without imposing undue burdens upon the industry.

On December 1, 1933, there shall be held a conference between representatives of employers and employes operating under this code, together with representatives of the National Recovery Administration, for the purpose of determining what, if any, revisions may be desirable at that time of the wages, hours and differentials, or any other requirements of this code, on the basis of conditions then existing and the report of representatives of the National Recovery Administration made as hereinbefore provided.

Unless revised by mutual agreement during, or as the result of said conference begun on December 1, 1933, the hours of work, rates of pay and wage differentials as set forth in this code, shall continue in effect until April 1, 1934, and thereafter during the effective period of the National Industrial Recovery Act, so long as this code shall remain in effect, unless changes therein shall be made by mutual agreement between the authorized representatives of the employers and employes in a division, as hereinafter described, and approved by the administrator, or by action of the National Bituminous Coal Labor Board, as hereinafter provided.

ARTICLE VI
Unfair Practices

Section 1—The selling of coal under a fair market price (which should be sufficient to provide for carrying out the purposes of the National Industrial Recovery Act, the payment of minimum rates herein established, and other wages properly based thereon, and the furnishing of stable employment for the workers necessary to maintain the industry) is hereby declared to be an unfair competitive practice and in violation of this code. In order to determine the fair market price, agencies shall be established, as hereinafter provided, and sales of coal at any time at a price less than a fair market price determined and published, as hereinafter provided, shall create against any person selling at a lower price a prima facie presumption that such person is engaged in destructive price cutting and unfair competition. It shall be proper in determining such fair market price to take into consideration, in addition to the matters above set forth, also competition with other coals, fuels and forms of energy or heat production.

Section 2—The fair market prices of coal of any grade and character referred to in the next preceding section, subject to the power of review hereinafter stated, shall be:

(A) The minimum prices for the various grades and sizes in the various consuming markets which may be established for future application by a marketing agency or by marketing agencies, of whatever form or howsoever constituted, now existing or hereafter created or organized, acting for coal producers representing at least two-thirds of the producers of the commercial tonnage (by volume and by numbers) of any coal district or group of districts, such minimum prices to be effective when and as announced as provided in Section 4 hereof.

(B) The minimum prices for the various grades and sizes in the various consuming markets, where no such marketing agency exists, which may be established for future application by the respective divisional code authorities hereinafter set up, for their respective areas, after having given consideration to the various conditions and circumstances entering into the sale of each grade and class of coal produced in the district or group of districts it represents, such minimum prices to be effective when announced as provided in section 4 hereof.

(C) As a basis for determining the fair market prices to be announced and published, as provided in the two preceding clauses, the divisional code authorities shall utilize the classifications of coals made by such sales agencies as are referred to in clause (A) of this section, and shall classify the coals in said districts not sold by such agencies and also the coals in the districts referred to in clause (B) of this section, to which the various prices apply. Said authorities shall, at all times, provide and keep open an office during business hours to which any coal producer in said districts and any representative of the administrator may apply for information with respect to said classifications and prices.

Section 3—The fair market prices established for future application under the provisions of section two (A5 shall be reported to said divisional code authorities by any such marketing agencies in such manner as may be required by such authorities.

Section 4—The fair market prices of bituminous coal, established as aforesaid by such agencies and divisional code authorities shall be published on the effective date of this code, after approval by the administrator, who in his approval may permit a reduction or increase in said prices by action of said agencies or authorities within the limits which he may prescribe, and thereafter shall be published whenever any change is made therein, and not less frequently than once each month, and on the first of the month. Simultaneously with such publication, said fair market prices of bituminous coal shall be transmitted by the divisional code authorities to the national recovery administrator for his further review and subsequent action.

Section 5—Both the records and the data of such marketing agencies, and of said divisional code authorities shall be open to inspection and investigation by any agent of the administrator whom he shall appoint for that purpose. Should such an agent of the administrator disapprove of any changes proposed in any fair market prices from those previously approved by the administrator as being in excess of any reductions or increases allowed in such approval, such changes shall not be made effective unless and until the administrator shall approve them.

Section 6—The consignment of unordered coal, or the forwarding of coal which has not actually been sold, consigned to the producer or his agent, is a violation of this code; provided, however, that coal which has not actually been sold may be forwarded, consigned to the producer or his agent, to tide-water ports and/or to lake ports and/or to docks beyond such ports, but such shipments shall be limited to cover bunker coal or to coal that is applicable against existing contracts, or for storage by the producer on docks, wharves, or yards for resale by the producer or his agent.

Section 7—The adjustment of claims with purchasers of coal in such manner as to grant secret allowances, secret rebates or secret concessions creates price discrimination and is a violation of this code.

Section 8—The prepayment of freight charges with intent or with the effect of granting a discriminatory credit allowances is a violation of this code.

Section 9—The giving in any form of adjustments, allowances, discounts, credits, or refunds to purchasers or sellers of coal, for the purpose or with the effect of altering retroactively a price previously agreed upon in such manner as to create price discrimination is a violation of this code.

Section 10—The pre-dating or the post-dating of any invoice or contract for the purchase or sale of coal, except to conform to a bona fide agreement for the purchase or sale entered into on the pre-date is a violation of this code.

Section 11—Terms of sale shall be strictly adhered to; and the payment or allowance of rebates, refunds, credits, or unearned discounts, whether in the form of money or otherwise, or extending to certain purchasers services or privileges not extended to all purchasers under like terms and conditions, is a violation of this code.

Section 12—Attempt to purchase business, or obtain information concerning a competitor's business by gifts or bribes, are violations of this code.

Section 13—The intentional misrepresentation of analyses, and/or sizes or the intentional making, causing or permitting to be made, or publishing, of any false, untrue, misleading or deceptive statement, by way of advertising, invoice, or otherwise, concerning the size, quality, character, nature, preparation or origin of any coal, bought or sold, is a violation of this code.

Section 14—The making of, causing or permitting to be made, any false or deceptive statements, either written or oral, of or concerning the business policy of a competitor, his product, selling price, or financial, business or personal standing, is a violation of this code.

Section 15—The unauthorized use, either in written or oral form, of trade-marks, trade names, slogans, or advertising matter already adopted by a competitor, or deceptive approximation thereof, is a violation of this code.

Section 16—Inducing or attempting to induce, by any means or device whatsoever, a breach of contract between a competitor and his customer during the term of such contract, is a violation of this code.

Section 17—Since the practice of transporting coal by unregulated trucking for distribution over wide areas and to many marketing centers has developed abuses and evils of substantial proportions; which abuses make impossible the establishment and continuance of fair rail rates for local deliveries, and are demoralizing to the distributing machinery and marketing processes of the industry as relating to wholesale and retail distribution, the National Bituminous Coal Board is hereby authorized to appoint a representative committee to investigate this subject and file recommendations within a period of 30 days from the effective date of this code.

Section 18 — Nothing in the foregoing clauses shall prevent any American producer from creating special prices for foreign shipments and any producer in any district who is adversely affected by the importation and sale of foreign coal at prices below the fair market price for the district and who is a subscriber to this code may be specifically authorized (by the administrator or his duly authorized agent) to use such special prices to meet said competition.

Section 19—The splitting or dividing of commissions, brokers fees, or brokerage discounts, or otherwise in any manner through sham or indirection the use of or endeavor to use a brokerage commission or jobbers arrangement or sales agency for making discounts, allowances, or rebates, or prices other than those determined as provided in this code, to any industrial consumer or to any retailer, or to others, shall be a violation of this code.

Section 20 — To sell to, or through, any broker, jobber, commission account, or sales agency, which is in fact an agent for an organization of retailers or industrial consumers, whereby they endeavor to secure indirectly a discount, dividend, allowance, or rebate, or a price other than that determined as provided in this code shall be a violation of this code.

ARTICLE VII
Administration

Section 1—For the purposes of administration, the bituminous coal industry is hereby divided into five divisions (which are further defined in schedule B hereto annexed) as follows:

Division No. 1—Pennsylvania, Ohio, lower peninsula of Michigan, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Northern Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina.

Division No. 2—Iowa, Indiana, Illinois.

Division No. 3—Alabama, Southern Tennessee and Georgia.

Division No. 4—Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Division No. 5—New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada and Arizona.

Marketing areas within divisions shall be established by the divisional code authorities.

Section 2. Divisional code authorities: Each division shall, within 10 days after the effective date hereof, by an association of producers, truly representative of the industry herein, establish a divisional code authority for the administration of its own affairs to the extent authorized in NRA and this code. One member of each such code authority (without vote) shall be appointed by the President and action of such code authority shall be subject to modification or veto by the administrator or his designated agent.

Marketing agencies may be established by associations of producers within the marketing areas which are established as provided in section 1 of this article, and shall operate under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the administrator, acting with the advice of the National Bituminous Coal Board created as provided hereafter in section 5 of this article.

Section 3—Organization for labor relations: There shall be a National Bituminous Coal Labor Board of three members, to be appointed by the President; one to be selected from nominations submitted by organizations of employes or representatives of their own choosing; and one to be selected from nominations submitted by the divisional code authorities. Such board shall pass finally upon any disputes arising from any of the five divisions.

In each division, within 10 days after the effective date hereof, there shall be created the following organizations:

(A) A mine adjustment committee for conference between employe representatives of their own choosing and representatives of their employer.

(B) A district adjustment committee in any operating district, which may be established by collective bargaining agreements between authorized representatives of employers and employes in said district, to exercise any authority defined in such agreements.

(C) A divisional adjustment board which shall consist of an equal number of representatives of the organized employes of their own choosing and representatives of the employers within a division as heretofore defined. The divisional adjustment board shall be authorized to consider and, if possible, to decide any disputes between employers and employes not settled by a mine adjustment committee or district adjustment committee.

(D) If there is any dispute in a particular case over who are the representatives of the employes of their own choosing an investigation shall be made by the administrator, through any agent or agency he may designate, and, if necessary, a secret ballot taken under his direction to determine the question.

Section 4.—Settlement of labor disputes.

(A) All matters affecting hours, wages and conditions of employment not agreed upon individually, shall, if possible, be negotiated to a conclusion between representatives of employers and representatives chosen by employes as provided in Section 7-A NIRA, meeting either in the mine adjustment committee or district committee or divisional adjustment board. All disputes which cannot be adjusted by the mine committee shall be referred to the district committee and if not adjusted (or if there is no district committee) then to the divisional adjustment-board.

(B) All disputes which cannot be settled by the Divisional Adjustment Board shall be referred to the National Bituminous Coal Labor Board and the decision of such board shall be accepted by the parties as effective for a provisional period of not longer than six months, to be fixed by the board.

Section 5.—There shall be created a National Bituminous Coal Board consisting of 10 persons, five to be appointed by the President from nominations made by each of the five divisional code authorities and the remaining five to be the representatives of the President on such code authorities. This board shall have the powers provided in this code, or any revisions thereof and shall study and report from time to time to the President upon the operation of the code.

ARTICLE VIII

All mines should be operated in conformity with requirements necessary to maintain safe conditions and to eliminate available hazards, including full compliance with all state laws imposing such requirements.

ARTICLE IX

This code and all the provisions thereof are expressly made subject to the right of the President, in accordance with the provision of sub-section (B) or section 10 of the National Industrial Recovery Act, from time to time to cancel or modify any order, approval, license, rule or regulation issued under Title I of said act and specifically, but without limitations, to the right of the President to cancel or modify his approval of this code or any conditions imposed by him upon his approval thereof.

ARTICLE X
Effective Date and Termination

This code shall become effective on the second Monday following its approval by the President, and shall continue in effect until June 16, 1935, or to such time when the President shall, by proclamation, or the Congress shall, by joint resolution, declare that the emergency recognized by Section 1 of Title 1 of the National Industrial Recovery Act has ended.

Coal Code Bans Strikes; $2 a Ton Price Raise Seen

order in an admittedly chaotic industry, Johnson conceded that coal prices would have to rise to sustain the code.

He said he would "stand for" prices advancing around $2 a ton. Coal advisors estimated that a 50 per cent increase in coal prices would be necessary to enable operators to meet their increased operating costs and make a profit.

BASIC WAGE

Announcement was made that the following basic minimum wage schedules would prevail:

Pennsylvania, Ohio, the Panhandle district of West Virginia, and Michigan, $4.60.

Northern West Virginia, $4.36.

Southern West Virginia, the Potomac district of West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, Northern Tennessee, Eastern Kentucky, $4.20.

Indiana, $4.575.

Illinois, $5.

Iowa (except Wayne and Appanoose Counties), $4.70.

Missouri, Wayne and Appanoose Counties of Iowa, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, $3.75.

Western Kentucky, $3.84.

Alabama, $3.

New Mexico, Southern Colorado, $4.25.

Northern Colorado, $5.

Utah, $5.44.

Wyoming, $5.42.

Montana, $5.63.

Washington, $5.40.

The master code provided for a maximum work week averaging 36 hours. No miner would be employed more than 32 hours during 26 weeks of the year or 40 hours during the other 26 weeks. The two periods would be made up of consecutive weeks.

The miners would be given the right to check weighmen to check the operators' computation of their loadings, or other means of computation where weight was not used.

VICTORY FOR LABOR

Wages shall be paid in lawful money or check and the regulations prevent unfair deductions. No employe as a condition of employment shall be required to trade at a company store or live in homes rented from the employer.

These stipulations, with the basic minimum wage rate and the maximum hours of labor, are ironclad and are not subject to consideration in the forthcoming conferences.

A long list of "unfair practices" would be banned. They included secret rebates, consignment of coal to possible markets before it actually was sold, and other market-demoralizing customs.

For administrative purposes, the bituminous field would be divided into five districts, each to have a divisional code authority. One member of each authority, without vote, would be appointed by the President. The districts are:

1—Pennsylvania, Ohio, Lower Michigan, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Northern Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina.

2—Iowa, Indiana and Illinois.

3—Alabama, Southern Tennessee and Georgia.

4—Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

5—Rocky Mountain and Far Western states.

ARBITRATION BOARD

A national coal labor board of three, to be appointed by the President, would stand at the head of a national coal labor arbitration system. One of the three would be nominated by the operators and another by the miners.

Under it would be mine, district and divisional adjustment boards. Each would be made up of representatives of both miners and operators and would attempt to settle labor disputes in the order named. The national board would be the final court of appeal.

Objection to the code were in evidence among groups of operators today and it appeared certain that final agreement would go over until after the public hearing Monday.

Concessions made at the President's conference Wednesday night were writen into the code, and any changes to be insisted upon are believed to be of such minor importance that they were not touched upon at the White House meeting.

For this reason Gen. Johnson regards the outlook as encouraging and he predicts that all differences will be ironed out and the code will be given full approval early next week.

Frick Men Strike, Charge Truce Breach

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 8.—Six hundred men walked out yesterday at the Maxwell mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Copmnay in sympathy with a fellow union miner who was discharged.

The workers charge the management with violation of the truce by requiring the employes to labor more than the specified eight hours.

Here are the Reasons Why You Can't Afford to Wait!
Frigidaire Corporation, like Spear's, has adopted the N. R. A. Code 100 Per Cent!
Yet, in the face of advanced labor and material costs, Fridigaire's prices have remained at rock bottom up to now. Frigidaire has been able to do this only because of huge sales volume.
But production costs are still mounting! Sooner or later Frigidaire's prices will have to advance.
Buy your Frigidaire now and take advantage of the lowest prices in Frigidaire history.
"Buy Now"—Food prices are going up. All food prices are advancing. This means that a Frigidaire will save more money. The higher the food prices, the greater the saving on bargain and quantity buying, and the greater the saving by eliminating food spoilage.
So, Buy Now, and Save Money on Foods.
"Buy Now" instead of next Spring. You surely plan to get a Frigidaire some day. There are no advantages in waiting.
If you wait:
You will be without the conveniences of Frigidaire in the meantime.
You will be without the health protection afforded by Frigidaire.
You will spend money for food that you could save with Frigidaire.
If you plan to buy on monthly payments, you will pay through one winter anyway.

MELODY, DRAMA, POLITICS -:- Jeannie Lang Scrappy Lambert -:- ON RADIO TONIGHT

Jack Denny's New Series Begins

Jeannie Lang, Scrappy Lambert and Jack Denny's orchestra present a lively program of song and dance hits—the curtain raiser in their new autumn series — over Columbia-WJAS, this evening.

Jeannie, self-styled leader of the "squeak" school of singing, continues to delight and dumfound the listeners with her extraordinary vocal style; Scrappy offers his interpretations of modern song hits, and Denny "goes to town" with his unusual dance arrangements. Beginning tonight, the program will be heard Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9:15.

Easy on the Ear

Jessica Dragonette and the Cavaliers, WCAE at 8.

Ethel Shutta and Don Bestor, KDKA at 8.

Rolfe's Crooning Choir, KDKA, 9:45.

Lee Wiley and Paul Small, WCAE, 9:30.

Neil Sisters and the Merrie Men, KDKA, 9:30.

Boswell Sisters, WJAS, 10:30.

The Silver Toppers, local quartet heard over KDKA at 7:15 every Friday evening, disguise themselves with false whiskers and coon-skin caps to go on the NBC network under the name of the "Pioneers," Thursday afternoons.

Air Dramas

Several dramas are on the air tonight, of which "The Comet Strikes" is the best bet. It is a vivid and thrilling production in which a comet smashes into the earth. The feelings of various types of world inhabitants, with but a few minutes to live, are vividly pictured. WJAS carries the program at 9:15.

For stamp savers, a drama of the "Forty-Niners," based on the old miner's picture on a U. S. stage stamp, is enacted over WJAS at 7.

The First Nighter presents a drama of love on the golf links, over KDKA at 10.

Addresses

Mrs. John Howard Phillips, Pittsburgh civic leader, speaking for the women's division of the NRA, is heard over KDKA at 6:06, discussing recovery activities.

Postmaster General Farley, speaking before a gathering of Boston businessmen, will be heard over the Columbia-WJAS network Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. His subject, the NRA.

Dr. M. A. Rasonoss, Mellon Institute scientist, speaks on "Education of the Foreign Born" over KWSW at 8:40.

'Mister Radio' Overlooked In Contest

By AIRCASTER

As a sturdy defender of justice and fair play, I should like the privilege of rising up to point out a rank bit of bad sportsmanship that has been rife in the radio world for several years.

As I remarked yesterday, they're going to pick a Miss Radio, 1933, at Madison Square Garden, September 24. She'll be queen of the radio show. The lads who select her will be representatives of the bigger and better broadcasting bazars, who have been asleep, it seems, for ever so long. Otherwise why haven't they ever thought of selecting a Mister Radio?

Plenty of Queens

As to the femme possibilities, I personally would prefer to see the crown placed upon the stately head of Loretta Lee, who has not only the queenly bearing, but the talent for the job. But I'm not exactly set on this choice. Jean Sargent and Jane Froman would qualify no end, and how about Irene Taylor, who nearly nailed down the prize two years ago?

Oh, there's no trouble about femme candidates. The difficulty lies in the profusion of them. But I hope that no selection is made without consideration for Lee Wiley, Alice Fay, Vera Van, Countess Albani, Ramona of the Whiteman stable, the chic Patty Pickens, Carolyn Rich, the cameo gal, Carol Deis, and Mary McCoy.

One hopes the judges will recognize the box office, as well as the sex appeal of the aforementioned, and that they will see the injustice of denying the glorification lavished upon the gals, to the more gorgeous gents of the radio realm.

How About a King?

After all, it's not for lack of beauty (on which the female nomination is largely based) that the male artists have been ignored. There are plenty of pretty boys just itching for the honor. Why, I could name half a dozen or more of the lovely lads myself. As a matter of fact, just to get the judges off to a good start, I will name them.

My first choice, by and large, would be John S. Young, a very pretty fellow, indeed, with classic countenance, mischievous eyes and a delicate complexion—a fit, if not entirely trustworthy companion for any radio queen. And there's Rudy Vallee, whose lovely permanent wave would add class to anybody's radio show, rivaled only by the comely Harry Richman, chic and with just the proper dash of trig. The beauteous Bing Crosby's no slouch, either, though a husky hyperion, he might lose a few points in elegance by virtue of a more than incipent baldness. There are available, too, such buttercups as the exquisite Russ Columbo, though, like the towering George Hall and the plump, but personable Lopez, he is a bit slick and swart. And there's the lissome, lithe and languid Lanny Ross, who lacks only the warmth demanded of a princeling.

Sport Talk, Comics On WCAE Today

Grandpa and Lillian read the Sun-Telegraph comics over WCAE at 4:55 this afternoon.

James J. Long, dean of sports writer, gives the Sun-Telegraph weekly sports review over the same station at 7.

The Globe Trotter, voice of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, broadcasts the day's news over WCAE-WJAS at 9:05 a. m., and 12:15, 2:15 and 6:30 p. m.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Did you ever see a star before the serial number on a dollar bill?

Mark Osterman's letter had me examining dollar bills (both of them) to discover whether I had one of the "lucky" bucks. He wrote that he heard bill marked with a star before the serial number were worth considerably more than a dollar, but the Federal Reserve Bank put me right. They explain that a dollar bill so marked is a duplicate, the original having been destroyed because of a printing or some other defect. They have no special value.

When Dr. Joseph Avent takes time off from his professional duties he gets into radio discussions. He can tell his friend that he (the doctor) was right when he claimed that the "Horse Sense Philosophy" program was not local but a chain presentation.

Six housewives, headed by Mrs. A. S. Diel, in a neighboring city, are anxious to know whether one of their public utility corporations is on the "up and up" with the NRA. The public utility referred to has slashed wages and has not added men to the payroll.

There being no utility code, such a company must have signed the blanket code. A practice such as indicated in the letter is a violation of the spirit, if not the technical letter, of that code. The matter should be referred to the local committee of the NRA.

Dear Mr. Oliver, California, Pa. —Received your letter concerning Henry Ford's attitude toward the NRA. Any remarks from here concerning that attitude have not been personal opinion, but reflections of some of the stories appearing in the paper that might have tended to explain, not justify or condemn his position.

All authorities seem to be waiting for the President to tackle the problem first.

New Thrills In Drama Tonight

Imagine a comet about to smash the earth into smithereens! What would you do if you had but a few minutes to live?

"The Comet Strikes," a gripping radio drama heard throughout the tri-state area today, realistically produces the sounds of such a frightful calamity, and pictures the reactions of various types of people, the last few fatal moments before the crash.

Ingeniously dramatized from a feature story in next Sunday's American Weekly Magazine, distributed with the Sun-Telegraph, "The Comet Strikes" is heard on the following schedule:

WSAZ, Huntington, W. Va., 1:30 p. m.; WHBC, Canton, O., 2 p. m.; WKBN, Youngstown, O., 4 p. m.; WALR, Zanesville, 5 p. m.; WJAC, Johnstown, 5:15 p. m.; WOBU, Charleston, W. Va., 5:15 p. m.; WADC, Akron, 7:45 p. m.; WAIU, Columbus, 8 p. m.; WLBW, Erie, 9 p. m. and WJAS, Pittsburgh, 9:15 p. m.

Township Officials Meeting Tomorrow

William E. Armstrong will preside tomorrow at the semi-annual meeting of the Allegheny County Association of Township Commissioners. The session will be held at 2 o'clock in Courtroom No. 3, Courthouse.

Listen In . . . "When the Comet Strikes"

Hear the thrilling radio dramatization of the comet as it approaches the world, vividly recording the reactions of the different groups of people as the last 10 minutes of terror arrive.

CHAPTER II.

Her blue eyes were suddenly dark, and the terror that must have been with her all the time became evident now. "You—you won't let them—condemn Tom?"

"Of course I won't. That is, if Siddall wants me to defend him."

"But I want you to. That's your triumph: that I, who hated you because you took the road I didn't want, should now be glad you took that road, Jack. Dad's lawyers say that Tom hasn't a chance. They say—it's murder. Dad wants me to go abroad tonight. He says I'll be dragged into scandal. He says it's obvious that Tom went back to Miss Montagne. He says he knows that Tom quarreled with Crelliman about her. I know that isn't true, and I wouldn't care if it were. I love him, and I want to save him. You must save him. Will you do it for me?"

"Of course I will," he assured her again. If her declaration of love for another man wounded him, in no way did he give evidence of his hurt. "I'll go down to the Tombs right away and talk with Siddall."

She shook her head. "He won't see you, Jack."

"What do you mean?" he asked. "A lawyer has to see his client."

"But he won't be your client. I'll be your client."

His voice hardened. "I think you'd better put it in words of one syllable," he told her.

"I talked with Dad. I went to Tom's lawyer. They both say that you now have the reputation of getting off the guilty. They say that juries will be prejudiced against you because of what you've done. They say that for this kind of case it will look like desperation if you're engaged. They say it's all right for you to defend gangsters and notorious people because such people would naturally turn to a criminal lawyer. But where a man like Tom is accused, they say it's better psychology to employ a lawyer not associated with the defense of criminals."

Gives His Consent

"To put it briefly, they don't want me. Is that it? Then why come to me?" he demanded.

"Don't you see? I want you. Jack. I read every line of the Gazotti case. I read every word of the Philbrook trial. And I know that it wasn't Jackson Durant, the great detective,

Synopsis

Jackson Durant has won socially unpleasant fame as an underworld lawyer and has been jilted by Sue Leonard, a pretty society girl. He has been drowning his sorrow. Layton, his faithful valet, has been politely remonstrating with him, stressing the evil of excessive drinking. Durant reads in the afternoon papers of the murder of Mimi Montagne, Broadway night club singer, for which Thomas Siddall, wealthy young broker, has been arrested. Durant's former fiancee calls and pleads with him to defend Siddall to whom she is now engaged. She insists that only "Jack" can save "Tommy."

McArdle vs. Mackrell Attacks Entertain

By MARK SHIELDS

One of the entertaining developments of the Republican mayoralty primary is the manner in which Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell and Councilman P. J. McArdle, opponents of Mayor John S. Herron, are devoting themselves to attacks upon each other.

Mr. Shields.

When the campaign began both Mr. Mackrell and Mr. McArdle designated themselves as exponents of good government, violently antipathetic to Mayor Herron, Senator James J. Coyne, and all that they and organized politics — that section which was not in the camp either of Mr Mackrell or Mr. McArdle—stood for. They have continued to make the campaign with excoriation of Senator Coyne as a big issue.

Apparently, however, both Mr. McArdle and Mr. Mackrell realize they have made as great inroads on the organization now, inroads as great as any of which they are capable. Henceforth the contest between the two anti-Herron men settles down to a question of how much strength each can take from the other; how much Mackrell can appeal to such independents who might be for McArdle; and how far McArdle can penetrate former organization ranks now on the outs with the administration, and which might shift to Mackrell.

As between the two, the attacks of McArdle and his associates on Mackrell are more bitter than the latter's assaults upon the Councilman. The strategy of the campaign by the Citizens' League candidates at times might lead to the belief that Mackrell is the strongest candidate and the one who must be torn down, a belief which candid canvass by impartial observation does not support.

All Very Puzzling To the Outsider

It is all very puzzling to the outsider. Mr. Mackrell says that Mr. McArdle is entered by interests who wish to insure the election of Mr. Herron. Mr. McArdle and his cohorts respond with the equally vehement charge that Mr. Mackrell's sole purpose in campaigning is to insure retention of control by the city administration.

Each says that is the reason the other did not retire from the fight along with James F. Malone and so provide the means of a clear-cut contest between the city administration and those who do not believe in its principles of government. The salient fact is that neither retired, that the contest is completely jumbled, and that the expectation in some quarters of defeating Mayor Herron for the nomination is now no more than a dubious hope—if one will face conditions frankly.

The fact that there are two anti-organization candidates and that a situation which was dead against Mayor Herron has so shifted that every condition now is in his favor, is a subject for frequent discourse in quarters where men who look at politics practically gather. Their consensus is that Mr. McArdle and Mr. Mackrell must feel, each personally, that if he cannot be elected, then Mr. Herron is preferable as an alternative.

It is difficult to figure the situation on any other basis.

Dr. A. L. Lewin, member of the Pittsburgh School Board, who resigned from the Citizens' League after it indorsed Mr. McArdle, spoke on the radio Wednesday night in behalf of Mayor Herron. At the end of his speech he said he was for the city manager bill, defeated in the last legislative session by the political interests favoring Mayor Herron, and for the election of Judge Ralph H. Smith, opposed by Senator Coyne.

Lewin Speech Not Passed on by Herron

Dr. Lewin's speech was not passed upon by Mr. Herron before its delivery. It is diverting to find the regular Republicans paying for radio time, part of which is devoted to opposition to the desires of its joint leader.

Louis J. Conley is chairman of the Republican organization in the Ninth Ward. In addition to

GREAT BENEFIT TO RECOVERY, MAYOR SAYS

University Educators Join 'Big Parade' Backing Drive

Support of President Roosevelt's National Recovery Administration by buying now and buying American was recommended today by Mayor John S. Herron in unison with outstanding educators.

The Mayor indorsed the Sun-Telegraph's campaign to "Spend in September, spend a dollar and make a job" with this statement:

"I am in hearty accord with the national movement which recommends that all our citizens buy in September and buy American.

"I believe that the influence of the NRA is being felt by all classes, and that by aiding the merchants at this time, the stimulation thus given business will go a long way in the restoration of confidence to make possible the recovery which we are all advocating and so earnestly hoping for at the earliest possible time."

TECH PURCHASING

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology:

"We are buying everything we can and just as fully as possible. Right now we are purchasing dining room and new school supplies.

"I think the 'Buy in September' drive is a good business movement and believe that we should all support the government just as much as possible. We should show our patriotism at this time."

URGES PUBLIC SUPPORT

The Rev. Michael A. Brannigan, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, Duquesne University:

"I think it is an excellent idea and that all the people should support it. It is impossible to do business if the people hold on to their money and keep it out of circulation."

Chancellor John G. Bowman, of the University of Pittsburgh:

"The 'Buy in September' movement seems to me good, provided you have the money for the buying. Personally, I do not buy a hat unless I can pay for it. I do not think that the President of the United States has recommended that I change this policy."

MORE JOBS NEEDED

Dr. Gustav Schramm, professor of political science at the University of Pittsburgh:

"I think that the way to get out of our difficulty is to get more men back to work. The 'Buy in September' drive is in line, I thoroughly believe, with the NRA movement to get men working."

Dr. Albert Bayard Wright, head of the school of business administration at Duquesne University:

"I personally favor the 'Buy in September' movement. My attitude is that everything connected with the NRA program should be backed to the limit. This is a time to follow and not to criticize."

PRICES IMPORTANT

Dr. George K. McCabe, of the economics department of the University of Pittsburgh:

"If the retail dealers will follow Gen. Johnson's advice to price their goods attractively, then the objective of the drive will be realized. That is, the larger volume of sales will carry whatever additions to the payroll have been made necessary by conformity to the NRA without boosting prices.

"It is time for the 20 per cent improvement in industry to be reflected in the retail market provided the wage earner be given the credit terms that were customary before 1930."

Dr. Nathan Miller, member of the economics department of Carnegie Institute of Technology:

"We want to buy not only in September but also in October, November and December and all the other months of the year. What we need is a 13-month year with the people buying every month."

HOME AUCTION PAYS FOR TRIAL

The home of Mrs. Anna Allas in Whitaker lane, Munhall, will be sold Monday to satisfy a mortgage taken to defray the expenses of her trial in the recent Munhall insurance murders.

Mrs. Allas and Mrs. Mary Chalfa were convicted in the deaths of three youths and sentenced to the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy. The home of Mrs. Chalfa, also in Whitaker lane, was recently sold at a Sheriff's sale. It, too, had been mortgaged to finance Mrs. Chalfa's defense.

PARKS TO SHOW FREE TALKIES

Free talking pictures will be shown Sunday in McKinley, Schenley and East parks. "County Fair," featuring William Collier, Jr., is the picture scheduled for McKinley Park. "Klondike," with Thelma Todd, is billed for Schenley Park, and "Oliver Twist," with Dickie Moore, is to be shown in East Park.

YOUNG BANDIT ROBS AUTOIST

A hatless bandit, described as about 18 years old, held up William Kopf, 35, of 834 Evergreen avenue, as he went to work this morning.

Kopf, who is a repairman for the North Side branch, Bell Telephone Company, was parking his car in front of the building at 15 East Montgomery street, when the bandit leaped into the front seat beside him.

With the bandits' gun jabbing his ribs, Kopf was forced to drive up Venture street, where he was advised to hand over his money. When he protested that he hadn't a cent with him, the youthful thief allowed him to turn around and drive away.

Kopf gave the North Side police a good description of his "kidnaper."

Heart Attack Victim Collapses in Street

A victim of a heart attack, William Strehlan, 49, of 8026 Franks-town avenue, was in Pittsburgh Hospital today. He collapsed while waiting for a street car at Penn and Center avenues last night, police said.

Triumph Seems Sure for Rugged Individualism

-By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER-

Tough struggle going on between rugged individualism of the citizens and the equally corrugated personality of Gen. Johnson.

Whoever wins, it will be a triumph for rugged individualism.

That's always been our trouble in getting harmony. We can dig up more orchestra leaders than musicians.

Everybody wants to perch in the driver's seat and holler "whoa."

The industrial giant says, "you can have your way if you let me do it my way."

In the meantime, Gen. Johnson is putting all his power into the job. There's nothing between his shoulder and the wheel but an epaulet.

COURT NAMES VOTE OFFICIALS

Judges Sylvester J. Snee and Elder W. Marshall in Common Pleas Court today appointed the following election officials:

JUDGES OF ELECTIONS:

Sixth District, Eleventh Ward, Frank Starr; Eighth District, Twenty-second Ward, Robert W. Miller; Twenty-third District, Fourteenth Ward, J. E. Houston; Third District, Bethel Township, Anna M. Wyckoff; Fourth District, Second Ward, John Schultz; Second District, Third Ward, Braddock, Anthony Gorack; Second District, Bethel Township, R. L. Barger; Third District, Glassport, John Grigshaw.

MAJORITY INSPECTORS:

Peterson.

JUDGE WARNS THEATERS

Judge Sylvester J. Snee must be a movie fan.

From the Common Pleas bench today he issued a warning to motion picture theater owners that they should install guard rails on steps inside the theaters where there is the slightest danger to patrons. He explained:

"Coming in from the street, patrons are blinded by the darkness and change of light, and every week there's some sort of trouble, people falling and getting hurt on unprotected drops."

His advice followed application of Mrs. Mary Haugh, 29, of Wilson, for a new trial in her damage suit against the Harris Memorial Theater. She claims to have received permanent injury to her back when she fell on the balcony steps in that theater, May 17, 1929. In a previous trial, she was given a verdict of $6,500. Decision on her application was reserved.

$50 in Prizes Weekly for News Tips

Are you alert? Do you wish to make your alertness pay? The Sun-Telegraph is presenting the opportunity. Every week it is offering a total of $50 in prizes for NEWS TIPS telephoned to the News Tip Editor, Grant 6500.

If you know of an accident, of a business merger, of a big building project—that is NEWS. Watch especially for unusual stories about children and animals and for stories that lend themselves to interesting pictures.

For the best exclusive news tip of the week $15.00 will be given, for the second best, $10.00, and for the next 25 best, $1.00 each.

OUSTED AVALON TEACHER SUES

Edgar A. Bowers, a former teacher in the Avalon High School, has asked the Avalon school board to pay him $1,890, one year's salary, alleging violation of a contract.

In a suit filed in Common Pleas Court Bowers asserted he reported for duty last Tuesday, when he was informed he had no contract. His original contract, he claimed, required written notice of the termination of the contract.

Bowers said he was informed verbally in March that he would not be retained for the 1933-34 school year, but was invited to attend a teacher's meeting in March and voted upon a salary reduction.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 7.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Most of us had the impression that the late big war was started all at once, by Germany deciding it would be a good time to go through Belgium.

Will Rogers

Well, do you know about the late Viscount Grey, who at that time was Britain's foreign secretary. Well, according to all official records that have been published, they had dozens of conferences, and communications, among all these nations, for weeks (also read Col. House's books). So, according to all the dope, this fellow Grey had quite a time arranging the war.

It looked for a while like he wasn't going to be able to put it on. Now I see where Lloyd George's book says the same thing. It's awful hard to get into a war without a diplomat. Yours, WILL.

PARISH GIVING RING TO FATHER HAYES

Bishop-Designate To Wear Gift at Consecration

When the Rev. Ralph H. Hayes, pastor of St. Catherine's Catholic Church, Broadway, Beechview, is consecrated bishop in St. Paul's Cathedral September 21, he will wear a large amethyst ring, the gift of his congregation.

The ring will be hammered and hand-chaised from a five and a half ounce nugget of gold.

A large oval Siberian amethyst weighing 17½ karats will form the central setting of the ring. This amethyst will be flanked by the insignia "P. X." the abbreviation for Pax, or peace, and a diamond will be set in the center of each insignia.

When completed the ring will be a size 10 and will weigh almost an ounce. Since the gold used is 18 karat gold, the nugget first had to be hammered by hand to prevent the metal becoming brittle.

Father Hayes was appointed bishop of Helena, Mont., June 27. Only 49, he will be one of the youngest bishops in the Catholic Church at the time of his consecration.

EMIL ROZMAK AT WORK ON THE RING TO BE USED AT BISHOP-ELECT HAYES' CONSECRATION

Johnson Invited Here For NRA Parade

Former Gov. John S. Fisher and Mayor John S. Herron today sent telegrams to Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson urging him to come to Pittsburgh to contribute to the success of the NRA Victory Day parade here September 15.

Mayor Herron urged the visit to stimulate the "great buying move" now under way here.

Plans for the parade were extended today with the announcement of the following marshals and aides:

Grand marshal, Ex-Gov. Fisher; chief of staff, Col. W. R. Dunlap; chief of military division, Col. Eric Fisher Wood; aide to grand marshal, Assistant Police Supt. Ben Marshall; chief of labor's representation, P. T. Fagan; in charge of industrial floats, Frank C. Harper.

Mayor Herron's message to Gen. Johnson reads, in part:

"For the City of Pittsburgh I extend to you a most earnest invitation to be the guest of the city as well as of the Pittsburgh chamber of Commerce and the local NRA committee. You can do an inestimable service to our NRA campaign here, now entering the stage of stimulating a great buying movement, by coming and addressing our people."

CHIN IN POLICE MORALE SEEN BY HERRON

Praising the city police department, Mayor John S. Herron, candidate for election, said in an address last night that its morale had greatly improved since the appointments of Director of Public Safety Harmar D. Denny and Supt. Franklin T. McQuaide.

Mayor Herron cited bombing outrages which, he said, had been entirely suppressed by the police since he took office. He also touched on the rounding up of suspects in an insurance accident faking plot, and the capture here of two men who escaped from the Western Penitentiary with Maug and Turpack, noted criminals, who later were arrested near Cleveland.

The police department is, he asserted, functioning extremely well for the safety of the citizens.

Herron denied charges that politics entered into the distribution of welfare money, declaring no expenditures were authorized by Council without the advice of the welfare organizations.

Mackrell Makes Party Plea to Republicans

Calling the present primary election the most important ever held in the city, Joseph N. Mackrell, Progressive Republican candidate for Mayor, appealed for a Republican registration in addresses at John Morrow School, Lee School and Carrick High School, last night.

Because this is a Republican city, Mackrell said, it is the duty of Republicans living here to keep their house in order.

Mackrell rehearsed planks in his platform touching particularly on aid to veterans, advocacy of old-age pensions, civil service, revision of assessments, a school and police system free from politics, and independence of the City Controller's office.

Mackrell, and candidates on his ticket, will speak tonight at W. B. U. Hall, Rescue street, Spring Hill, and Mifflin School, Mifflin road.

Henry Fears Disaster In Present Tax Rate

Attacking the present rate of taxation in the city as disastrous, John M. Henry, candidate for Democratic mayoralty nomination, presented a four-point remedy in a speech at Brookline School last night.

Henry stated:

"Pittsburgh must reduce costs or the home owner and business man will be crushed beneath the weight of taxation, municipal credit will be destroyed, and commercial activity strangled."

Henry proposed and discussed the following reforms:

"Elimination of duplicating agencies within the city government.

"Elimination of political deadwood in every department.

"Placing of $32,000,000 untaxed utility property on the tax list.

"Equitable redistribution of assessments.'

Such reforms are unattainable while machine politicians are in power, Henry said, because they hold their machine in line by favors involved in such practices.

Henry will speak at Gladstone Junior High School, Hazelwood avenue, tonight at 8:30.

McArdle and Associates Speaking in East End

P. J. McArdle, Independent Republican candidate for Mayor, and the councilmanic candidates on his ticket will speak tonight at Westinghouse High School, North Murtland avenue, and Allderdice High School, Shady avenue. Each meeting will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

McArdle and Councilmanic Candidates Howard B. McNutt and Edward O. Tabor will also speak at the residence of Earl F. Walters, 126 Boggs avenue, and McArdle will address a meeting of the Margaret Brent Civic League at Monongahela House.

Charles Wolff, councilmanic candidate, will address the Unemployed Citizens' League of the Twenty-seventh Ward at Halls Grove School, Hall street, and the Progressive Republican Club at 2469 Charles street, Twenty-sixth Ward.

Robert K. Cochrane, candidate for Sheriff, and Wolff will speak at 12:30 o'clock at the Independent Republican headquarters, William Penn Hotel.

Regular Republican Meetings List Revised

The following revised list of meetings was announced today by the Regular Republican campaign committee:

'FLOP' CHARGED TO DEMOCRATS

Leo O. Guthrie, candidate for jury commissioner, attacked the Democratic organization sponsoring William N. McNair for mayor for styling themselves "Roosevelt" Democrats, in an address last night.

Guthrie asserted that some of the candidates on that slate openly boast of their Hoover affiliations a year ago.

Charges Plot to Cut Independent Vote

The suspicion that one or more independent candidates for director of the poor may be in the race to cut the independent vote, was voiced last night by Bernard L. Flynn at a meeting of the Oakmont-Verona Italian Club.

Flynn, a candidate for poor director, said a man who had been a candidate two years ago recently informed him his sole purpose had been to split the independent vote in favor of the organization.

Minor Judiciary Supports Foley

The Minor Judiciary Association of Western Pennsylvania has indorsed the candidacy of Robert A. Foley for jury commissioner, it was announced today by its secretary, James W. Watson.

Neeson Urges Equality In Jury Selections

The jury act must be so administered as to give every citizen, properly qualified, equal opportunity to exercise the right of passing upon the questions involving the rights of the people, Vincent C. Neeson, candidate for jury commissioner, said last night before the Oakmont-Verona Italian Club.

Candidate Condemns Jury Duty Dodging

John A. Schrader, candidate for jury commissioner, urged citizens not to evade doing jury duty in an address last night. Such service, often involving a great sacrifice, is one of the finest expressions of civic loyalty, he said.

Patterson Opens Hotel Headquarters

John W. Patterson, candidate for Council, has announced the opening of headquarters in the Monongahela House, Smithfield street. Elimination of the racketeer and a full return on every tax dollar received are among points in his platform.

RAIL MEN BACK M'ARDLE

Fort Pitt Division No. 672, Order of Railway Conductors, has indorsed the mayoralty candidacy of P. J. McArdle, and the councilmanic candidacies of Edward O. Tabor, William A. Magee, Charles Wolff, Howard B. McNutt and Robert N. Waddell.

It also indorsed Judges Ralph H. Smith and Harry H. Rowand and Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay, for Common Pleas Court; Judge Thomas B. Trimble, for Orphans' Court; Judges Benjamin Lencher and Frank A. Piekarski, for County Court; Mrs. Lois McBride, for Juvenile Court; Robert K. Cochrane, for sheriff, and W. J. McGregor, for coroner.

this duty. Mr. Conley is deputy fire chief. Mr. Conley is reputed to be good at putting out fires, and he certainly is good at putting out gents who do not go along with the organization. Mr. Conley himself is burning up at the newspapers. In inviting his followers to a meeting last Tuesday night he wrote:

"You have been reading the anti-Pittsburgh newspapers, owned and edited by carpetbaggers whose diseased minds seek only to defame our most respected neighbors and friends. You must have noticed how these papers distort the news and ignore our candidates."

I can speak with knowledge of only one newspaper. Around here we thought we had been treating the old Gulfoco Fire Chief and his pals pretty well in the matter of publicity. Why, the boys on the news side even made some of them national figures when they be-

NORMAL HOME LIFE URGED FOR WARDS

Reforms in the Juvenile Court's fooster home system should be directed toward providing a normal home life for the children, Gustav L. Schramm, candidate for the juvenile judgeship, said in a talk in Dormont last night, continuing:

"I have noticed in the criticism aimed at the abuses of the old Juvenile Court system a tendency toward freeing the children of all responsibility, which is just as bad as the old way of overburdening them with harmful work for the foster parents' profit.

"A child should be taught in his home to be industrious. The Juvenile Court should encourage foster parents to give the dependent children the same wholesome chores they would give their own."

Candidate Cites Teaching Experience

Attorney Theodore L. Moritz, candidate for Juvenile Court, said last night in the Woolslayer School:

"None of the candidates for the Juvenile Court have had any practical experience, because the court has not yet started to function. However, I submit to the voters that my many years experience in public school work has given me an insight into child psychology incident to that position."

Mrs. McBride to Be Tea Honor Guest

LINK PRISONER IN BANK HOLDUP

State police were en route to Cleveland today with extradition papers for Charles Gudawich, who, according to Cleveland police is Aleck Zeberich, wanted in connection with a $75,000 bank holdup at Vandergrift in 1925.

While Cleveland police believe Gudawich was a member of the Flathead gang led by Paul Jawarski, police here did not join in the opinion.

Cleveland police said they arrested Gudawich in an automobile with two known hoodlums. A comparison of fingerprints convinced them he was Zeberich.

Gudawich will be taken to the Greensburg barracks for questioning.

MAGEE OPPOSES TAXES AS VOTE QUALIFICATION

Former Mayor William A. Magee, candidate for Council, advocated elimination of the tax qualification for voting in a discussion of dishonest election practices last night.

On this practice and other "defects in the state Constitution," Magee blamed the disfranchisement of possibly a million voters in Pennsylvania, citing statistics to show a smaller voting percentage here than in other states.

This would do away with the illegal but settled practice of tax receipt buying by the organization, through which much of its power is derived, Magee said. Loss of this power, he claimed, would make politicians more dependent on the will of the electorate.

Magee also urged amplification of the authority of the court, especially the vesting of power to stop elections in notoriously corrupt districts.

Costly Improvements Attacked by Clark

Pittsburgh frequently has been burdened with costly improvements through the failure of Council to follow recommendations of the City Planning Commission, former Safety Director James M. Clark declared in an address yesterday.

Clark, a councilmanic candidate, served on the Planning Commission for eight years. The appointment of Dr. Robert L. Finlay as Clark's Fifth Ward chairman has been announced.

Asserts Councilmen's 'Expert' Claim False

Present members of Council have failed in their contention of being "experts" in municipal government, Louis Wechsler, councilmanic candidate, said in addresses last night.

Wechsler attacked Council for its expenditures of bond issue money when prices were high. Had it waited until the improvements were actually needed, it could have provided work for thousands of jobless and saved the city thousands of dollars, he said.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

More than 300 reservations have already been made for tables at the Ogontz Alumnae Association's attractive benefit for the Tuberculosis League Hospital tomorrow night at the Longue Vue Country Club.

Some of the people reserving tables for the supper dance are entertaining large parties of their friends. Mrs. John H. Wilson will have over 30 guests at her table.

Mrs. William Rodgers also will have a table as well Mrs. Robert Gross, the Joseph Buffingtons, the Brooke Jarretts, of Sewickley, and Mrs. William Duff, and ever so many others.

The swimming exhibition being held in connection with the benefit will be particularly exciting, with Champion Lenore Kight and her Homestead Library swimming team as stars.

Anne A. Koughan Married To L. M. Sweeney in Church Ceremony

At a pretty ceremony at 8:45 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, McKeesport, Miss Anne Alice Koughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Koughan, of Versailles avenue, became the bride of Leo M. Sweeney, of East Marshall avenue, North Side. Officiating was the Rev. Patrick J. O'Connor.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white velvet, princess mode, made with a slight train, lace trimmed sleeves, falling in points over the wrists, and lace trimmed bodice. She wore a small white velvet turban and carried Johanna Hill roses and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Miss Frances Koughan, as maid of honor, wore pansy velvet made with a cape and long sleeves, with which she wore a black hat and accessories, and another sister, Miss Estelle Koughan, as bridesmaid, wore Nile green velvet with butterfly sleeves and black accessories. Both carried Talisman roses.

The bride's mother chose eel grey velvet with matching accessories and the mother of the bridegroom chose black velvet.

Mrs. Neil Gleason played the wedding music and Frank Spain sang.

There was a breakfast for the immediate families in the Youghiogheny Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney left by motor for Chicago and will be at home in two weeks in Baillie avenue, McKeesport.

Carrol Sweeney was his brother's best man and ushers included another brother, William C. Sweeney, J. Paul Farrell, William A. Koughan, cousin of the bride; Eugene Shaffer and Thomas Glenn.

Mayre Evans Engaged To Henry A. Young, Jr.

Miss Mayre Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Evans, of New Kensington, will be married late in the fall to Henry A. Young, Jr., of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Young, of Brackenridge Heights, Pa.

The announcement was made at an evening bridge of five tables, held at the Evans home Wednesday. The bride-elect is a graduate of Lake Erie College, and the bridegroom of the University of Pittsburgh.

P. C. W. Faculty Returns From Vacations, Studies

The Pennsylvania College for Women faculty, most of whom spent the summer away from the city, is back. Most of the travelers spent some of the time in study.

Miss Eleanor Taylor and Miss Oma Thompson, of the administration staff, were at Columbia, the former studying English and the latter, student personnel administration.

Miss Margaret Tobb took a course in the Northwestern University School of Speech. Dr. Nita Butler spent her fourth summer delving in the ruins of Pompeii, Italy. She will not be back in the city until near the opening of school on September 19.

Dr. Keith Sward, of the psychology department, did some research work in Munich; Mrs. Marjory Kimball, of the Spanish department, spent the entire summer traveling in Spain and France, and Miss Luella P. Meloy, of the social science department, spent the summer in England.

Miss M. Helen Marks, dean and acting president, was in New Hampshire and Rhode Island, for six weeks, visiting friends. Dr. Earl Wallace, head of the science department, who has been at home for most of the hot weather, will leave with Mrs. Wallace this week for Chicago, to attend the American Chemical Society's semi-annual convention, and to visit the Fair.

Two new teachers will report with the others, Miss Constance Williams, in the social service department, and Miss Elizabeth Piel, in the German department.

Miss Williams succeeds Miss Eleanor Flynn, who has taken a part-time teaching position in the University of Chicago, in order to continue graduate work in social science. She has her A. B. degree from Vassar and her master's from Simmons College, and she has done graduate work at Radcliffe.

Miss Piel, who lives in Aspinwall, has her A. B. from P. C. W., and her master's from the University of Pittsburgh. She has been teaching in the Erie branch of the University of Pittsburgh.

LATE SUMMER FASHIONS TIDE ONE OVER INTO THE AUTUMN

WHETHER WE deplore it or not, summer is slowly winding its way out; but remember that until it actually comes to an official end, certain summer fashions still have their place. It's true that women who go about in the evening already wear clothes that smack of the fall—yet there's absolutely no reason or necessity for discarding your chiffons, organdies and linens most recently added to your wardrobe just because fashion talk is of the coming season, not of the past. Even the new gowns you buy now may wait in your closet until you've given a sufficient amount of wear to your late summer purchases.

SOME DISCRIMINATION must be made between the wearable and the not-so-wearable dresses. Voluminous petal skirts, enormous sleeves, rows and rows of girlish ruffles—these fol-de-rols are definitely out. But most fashions of the final summer showings revealed some characteristics that are now being emphasized for fall. Quite a number of high fashions being proclaimed late 1933 were really quietly launched late in the summer, almost as if to test their future success. These are the dresses that are still good today. Their lines are smoother and slimmer, colors darker, richer, newer, and skirts straighter and narrower. Shoulders are modified—quite bare in contrast to the dramatic stiffening and height given them earlier in the summer.

THE SUMMER tic-silk in all its tailored smartness was a real forerunner. Some of these prints will live again for winter. A famous star-print, important for many months in chiffon, will continue to sparkle in satin and velvet for fall. Most 'chiffons can linger for a while longer.

* * *

ONE TYPE, like the lacquered model shown in two views in the sketch, would tide one over nicely until the day when a fall dress will commence the new season. In the first place, its glistening surface is likened to shiny fabrics now considerably in the limelight—such luxuary fabrics as velvet, satin, brocades and metals, for instance.

News of Club Women's Activities

Year Books Sent Out by Four More Clubs

MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Four more year books were added yesterday to the constantly growing files in the club editor's desk. The Sheraden Woman's Club book, which is always a good looking volume, announced October 6 as its opening day. On frequent pages may be found a single word of mystery, "Whispers."

This means that personal news of the members will be "whispered" by means of a talk or paper. Many interesting topics in a wide variety will be taken up at the meetings, ranging from "Lighting the Home," "The Century of Progress," "Henry Van Dyke" to an exchange of recipes, a Christmas cantata, an evening with the club husbands and the juniors, and an all-day sewing and afternoons devoted to "Thumbnail Sketches" and "Pittsburgh Composers."

Another familiar book is the monogramed volume of the Ingomar Woman's Club. Speakers listed by this organization are Dr. E. S. Wallace, Dr. J. M. Fetterman, Louis L. Kaufmann, Miss Anna B. Dietrich, Ray Marater and David Timothy. In addition there will be several social affars and much music.

The maiden year book of the Turtle Creek Woman's Club Juniors tells of its opening meeting on September 26 with Mrs. J. M. Steim, State Federation junior chairman, as honor guest. Book reviews, music, a stunt night, addresses, a reception to the seniors, tours to the Allegheny Observatory and the Better Homes Exhibit will fill the year for this new organization.

The fourth book belongs to the Hilltop Y. M. C. A. Mothers' Club, which had its initial meeting on Tuesday. It's next event will be the birthday party in October, between which and the closing luncheon in June, the members will find a season of miscellaneous interests.

SMALL ACTRESSES IN CLUB PLAY TODAY

BARBARA PERRIN

Miss Barbara, playing the school girl role, and Miss Lilly Marie the 'teen-age role in "Seven Ages of Women," pageant given today by the Crafton Woman's Club in Mrs. John P. Gangwisch's garden, Crafton boulevard. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Democratic Women's Dinner Wednesday

Mrs. J. Wood Clark, president of the Women's Democratic Club of Allegheny County, announces a dinner to be given by the club on Wednesday in the William Penn Hotel. All the affiliated Democratic clubs of Western Pennsylvania and the executive committee will sponsor the affair.

Miss Sue White, of Washington, executive secretary of the Women's National Democratic Club, will be the guest speaker, and among the local speakers will be David L. Lawrence, Democratic county chairman and Mrs. Carrol Miller, a member of the state committee.

Jewish Council to Give Program for Foresters

The Civilian Conservation Corps at the reforestation camp in North Park will be entertained with an evening program sponsored by the recreation bureau of Pittsburgh section, National Council of Jewish Women, this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Radio station WWSW will furnish the entertainment, which will be given by the Five Kentucky Hill Billys, the ABC Trio, "Two Boys and a Girl," and Allen Haid and Chezzy.

Mrs. Israel Oseroff is chairman of the recreation bureau, and Mrs. Edward Lenchner, vice chairman.

Semple School P. T. A. Invitations in Rhyme

Semple School Parent-Teacher Association, Wilkinsburg, has issued invitations in rhyme for its first meeting, Monday evening. Henry Abel, magician, will give the program.

Johnston School unit will also meet Monday, a reception for the teachers being held. W. C. Graham, superintendent of schools, and Miss Marion Craig, principal of the school, will speak and there will be music.

County P. T. A. Holding Last of Outdoor Affairs

The Allegheny County Council, Parent-Teacher Association, is holding the last in a series of outdoor affairs today at Olympia Park, Mt. Washington.

Mrs. John M. Winner, the county president, who has returned from her summer in the West, is present. Mrs. Robert M. Selden, former president, is hostess for the day.

Highland School P. T. A. Bingo Party Tomorrow

Highland School P. T. A., Castle Shannon, will have a bingo party at the home of Mrs. C. Hilliard, May street, tomorrow night. The proceeds will be used to finance a corn roast and dance to be held Monday for members and their families at South Park.

Former Hood Students Invited to Tea Sept. 16

All former Hood students are invited to attend the tea to be given Saturday afternoon, September 16, at the Woman's City Club. Freshmen from this district will be honor guests. Mrs. J. D. Creigh Miller, of Sewickley, is president of the club.

Theta Sigma Phi Dance To Be Given Tonight

The Theta Sigma Phi fraternity is holding a dance tonight at the Edgewood Country Club at 9 o'clock.

Dormont Literary Group to Study Island Arts

A somewhat unusual program has been outlined for the literary department of the Dormont Mothers' Club for the coming season.

Mrs. Donald P. Maxwell and her committee have prepared a study of the literature, music and drama of Hawaii, Japan, Porto Rico, Bermuda, the Philippines, Iceland and the islands of the Mediterranean.

Readings, dramatics and musical sketches will feature the meetings. Mrs. Maxwell has named Mrs. Harold G. Ewens as head of the music section, and Mrs. Harry Trimble, head of drama.

North Side Voters To Hear Candidates

All candidates for election in November have been invited by the combined North Side Leagues of Women Voters to attend a community meeting at the Community House, Union avenue, on Monday evening. The meeting is, of course, open to the public and a voting machine will be demonstrated.

Mrs. A. L. Fillmore, chairman of the Twenty-fifth Ward League, will preside and introduce the speakers. She has on her committee: Mrs. Harry Plank, Mrs. Adolph Mayer, Miss Anna Law, Mrs. George Kreigelstein, Mrs. Albert Barnes Smith, Mrs. William H. Hart and Mrs. Henry Whitehouse.

Jewish Home Auxiliary Program on Tuesday

As their part in the activities connected with the opening of the new Jewish Home for the Aged, the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Home will have a program on Tuesday.

Mrs. Fannie Weinhaus, the oldest member; Miss Marjorie Aaronson, youngest member; the president, Mrs I. S. Harris, and Mrs. Emmanuel Friedberg will speak. Walter Framer will direct a play and Edith Canter Lazear, with Mrs. Emma K. Finkelpearl at the piano, will sing.

Mt. Holyoke Club to Give Tea for College Girls

Honoring the girls about to enter Mt. Holyoke as well as those who are returning as upper classmen, the Mt. Holyoke Club of Pittsburgh, will have a tea tomorrow afternoon at the home of Miss Lois Schuette, Northumberland street.

Mothers' Club of Carrick Backs 'Buy in September'

When the Carrick Mothers' Club has its two-day country fair Wednesday and Thursday of next week "Buy in September" signs will be prominently displayed on all the booths, for the members are staunch in their belief that to "Spend a dollar" means "Making a job."

Mrs. Joseph R. Bradley, who has just taken over the executive reins of this worthwhile group of philanthropic clubwomen, says:

"Wise spending now is one of the surest solutions to our economic problem. If we don't spend, how will money get back into circulation? We must have full confidence in President Roosevelt and in ourselves as a nation."

Westminster College Club Tea Tomorrow

Machine Gun No. 7 Unlucky for Bailey

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—Sheriff Stanley Rogers dug down in his private purse for $200 to buy a machine gun to guard Harvey Bailey, desperado. He already had six machine guns, but he considered seven a lucky number.

Councilmen Ask Bigger Type On Ballot

Councilmen W. Y. English, Clifford B. Connelley and Harry A. Little feel that the distinguishing word "Councilman" under their names on the voting machines is not nearly large enough to coincide with their importance in city affairs.

English and Connelley appeared before the County Commissioners yesterday and registered a complaint for themselves and Little.

Commissioner C. M. Barr explained that several other candidates had needed distinguishing words, and that there had been space in their cases only for a moderate sized type. The Commissioners felt, he said, that type which was big enough for judges ought to be big enough for Councilmen.

REGULAR BOLTS TO AID M'ARDLE

Louis Dadowski, Jr., an attorney residing in the Sixth Ward, today declared for Councilman P. J. McArdle as the Republican mayoralty candidate.

Dadowski has been secretary of the regular Republican organization in the Sixth Ward, a position he resigned today. He said McArdle possessed "the qualifications necessary to really serve the citizens of Pittsburgh."

Dadowski, according to an announcement by the Citizens League, supported Senator James J. Coyne for County Commissioner in 1931 and in 1932 backed M. J. Muldowney, a Coyne follower, for Congress. He is represented as having supported Representative George Metzier for ward chairman to replace former Congressman P. J. Sullivan, who also has declared for McArdle.

City Takes Park Benches From Herron Group

A dozen park benches which have been doing duty as seats in the Herron headquarters in Forbes street were back in Schenley Park today.

Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang announced he had ordered the benches taken back to the park after an investigation by Supt. of Parks James Moore.

How did the benches travel from the park to Herron headquarters? Director Lang didn't know.

No arrests for larceny of city property were contemplated.

RIFT OVER DOUG BY PICKFORDS AIRED

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Echoes of the days when the Mary Pickford-Owen Moore marriage was terminating reverberated down the years to mingle today with the complaint of a graying actor who is suing the film actress for $250,000.

Edward Hemmer filed the suit, saying that in the old days he acted as foster father, adviser and business manager for the actress and members of her family. He says he is entitled to compensation.

REVEALS RIFT

He served a complaint on Miss Pickford's attorney yesterday detailing the situation which, he said, impelled him to sever his relationship with the Pickford family.

The document, as quoted by the New York Herald Tribune, said both he and Miss Pickford's mother "were vigorously opposed to the associating of the defendant with Douglas Fairbanks prior to her divorce from Owen Moore and took a vigorous and determined stand in opposition thereto, but nevertheless, defendant persisted in associating wth Fairbanks, although the wife of Owen Moore."

DISPUTES AIRED

He said that led to such disputes between him and the actress' mother on the one side, and Miss Pickford on the other "that during the year 1922 the situation came to a climax and the plaintiff agreed to sever a long relationship that had existed between him and the Pickford family."

Hemmer says he was promised that Miss Pickford's mother would compensate him by a bequest in her will. No such bequest was made, and upon the death of her mother, Miss Pickford received all of the estate, valued at about $1,500,000.

The actor added that he had been assured by Miss Pickford that if her mother failed to leave him a bequest, she herself would pay him reasonable compensation.

M'NAIR TO WIN, SAYS GUFFEY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic leader of Pennsylvania, today served notice on all factions that "the Democratic state and national organizations will support wholeheartedly the Democratic tickets nominated at the primary election."

Poltical observers said this was a blow at John O'Donnell, veteran Philadelphia leader and present recipient of all Democratic patronage in Philadelphia.

O'Donnell is facing a severe factional fight for the Democratic leadership in Philadelphia. He is accused of being "too friendly" with William S. Vare, Republican leader.

Guffey made several predictions. He asserted:

"I am confident W. N. McNair will be elected mayor of Pittsburgh, together with a full Democratic councilmanic slate in November."

PIGS FOR U. S. SHIPPED HERE

About 1,000 underweight pigs for government purchase continue to arrive daily at the Pittsburgh Union Stockyards, Herr's Island, government live stock officials reported today. A permit system regulating the shipment of the pigs has prevented such an overshipment as glutted the Chicago stockyards this week with the small size porkers.

Under the Agricultural Recovery Act, the government is paying from $6 to $9.50 a hundredweight for the pigs. Those large enough will be converted into meat for distribution to relief agencies.

M. P. PASTORS TO BE ASSIGNED

Appointment of 81 pastors will end the one hundredth anniversary conference of the Methodist Protestant Conference tonight in the First Methodist Protestant Church, Aiken avenue and Howe street. The conference covers Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

A feature of the program yesterday was a visit to the graves of the Rev. A. C. Shinn and the Rev. Charles Avery, founders of the conference, in Allegheny Cemetery.

Conference officers elected were:

President, the Rev. J. W. Hawley, pastor of the First Church; recording secretary, Charles M. Smith, Chagrin Falls, O.; general clerk, the Rev. William Schatz, Washington, Pa.; statistical secretary, the Rev. O. W. Bolton, Sharpsburg; treasurer, the Rev. H. M. Peterson, Fairchance, Pa., and historian, the Rev. T. M. Gladden, Rogersville.

3 Relief Marchers Indicted in Riot

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Three men accused of leading several hundred demonstrators in a march on the Indiana County Emergency Relief Board headquarters are indicted on charges of inciting to riot and rioting.

They are Jack Blaney, of Black Lick, and William Dias, of Blairsville, officers of the Workers' Federation of Indiana County, and H. M. Mauk, of Indiana.

DISAPPEARS ON 'POLITICS'

About the time a flying squad of county detectives was rushing to Wildwood to search for Edward H. Robison, reported kidnaped from his home early today, Robison himself walked into his residence and asked:

"What's the fuss?"

His mother had worried over his leaving home in trousers and undershirt at 1 a. m. Clarence A. Stump, a neighbor, reported his disappearance to county detectives.

Robison, asked where he had been, replied:

"On private business."

Then as an afterthought, or perhaps a more enlightening explanation to his worried mother, he added:

"Politics, you know. Some politicians called on me."

NRA VIOLATIONS CHARGED HERE

In an appeal to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson late yesterday Miss Emmelinne Pitt, local commissioner of the Department of Labor, cited a dozen strikes in the Pittsburgh district and declared that in many violation of the NRA was much in evidence. The only way in which these can be settled, she told the general, is by an immediate check-up on charges of workers that the Blue Eagle is used "as a cloak for strikebreakers."

AID COMPLAINTS UNFOUNDED

Various complaints made against the Registration Bureau, 211 Wood street, were proved to be unfounded today, an investigation by the Sun-Telegraph indicated.

An unidentified down-and-outer interviewed after going to the bureau for food and lodging, said:

"They asked me a few questions and treated me just swell. I got a slip of paper to get a meal at the Improvement of the Poor and another that will get me a room for the night at the Salvation Army."

Several other men had exactly the same thing to say and made no complaints. They all praised the kindness shown them.

The bureau is a clearing house for the social agencies in the city and takes care of transient men and women.

PATRON OF FOXX INDICTED

The grand jury today returned an indictment against John Douglas, Jr., for passing a worthless check on charges brought by Harry M. "Puncher Proof" Foxx.

The indictment set forth that the check, for $1,107 was issued by the American Hotels Supply Company and signed by Douglas as treasurer.

Douglas is free on $50 bond furnished at a hearing before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan. His address was given as Hotel Mayfair, Foxx's as 5700 Northumberland street.

FROM THE AMERICAN NIGHTS . . . .

How a $6 Stay-at-Home

was transformed by the Fairy Prince into a

$14 CINDERELLA

Dear small Suzanne—how she wanted, craved pretty clothes. But always there was papa hors de combat and always smaller sisters and brothers needing this and that—and—the $6 that Suzanne earned at ———'s, melted like snow in the netherlands. One day along came a Fairy Prince, with a Blue Falcon perched on his shoulder. 'Twas none other than—(you'd never guess)—General Hugh S. Johnson. At first, Suzanne was a bit frightened. For she had never seen a real prince before, and did not know whether she was waking or dreaming. But when she opened her first week's pay envelope and found therein $14 glittering dollars she fell on the Prince's neck, and wept tears of great joy. For now at last—at last!—she could own that fabulous velvet party gown she had seen at Harris'—and a new Fur Coat even—and silk things beyond belief—hats, shoes, everything. No sooner thought of than done. First thing Monday morning, Suzanne tripped gaily down to Harris'—pointed to this, that and the other, produced her little account book, and said, commandingly, "Gimme!" NOW—well, you just wouldn't know Suzanne! Where once she sat neglected, she latterly has more dates than a calendar! Her allegiance, once divided only among her parents, her boy friends and Harris'—now includes, if you please, General Hugh S. Johnson, the Prince of the Realm who took Suzanne out of the Basement and made her a Modern Cinderella. On alternate Mondays, Cindy pays us a visit and deposits $1 or two on her Extended Charge Account. Most of her NRA money, she puts in the bank. Says it makes her feel important to have a book at two places—here and at the bank. And anyhow, why go spend all one makes on clothes, when one doesn't have to, reasons Suzanne rightly. Why not let Harris' finance your purchases for you, she asks, if they're willing to do it without charging you a cent more than their regular cash prices! Indeed, why not? And why not start to-morrow?

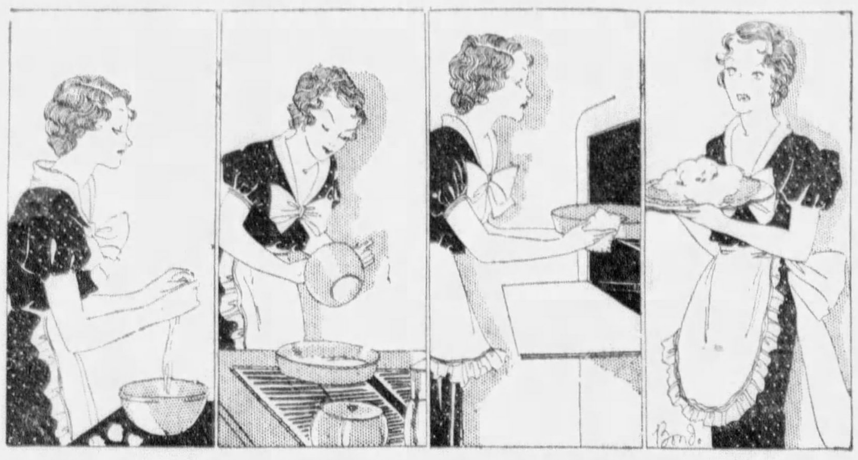
THE COOK'S TOUR

Omelet Celestine



Separate the whites from the yolks of four eggs; beat whites, adding a pinch of salt, until stiff. Beat the yolks until thick and combine the two, with a folding motion.

Melt 1½ tbsp. butter in a large omelet pan, pour in egg mixture and cook until just beginning to set around edges, then place pan in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.).

When omelet is set in about 5 minutes, remove from oven; pour over ¼ cup hot marmalade, sprinkle with 1 tbsp. toasted almonds, chopped, and fold together.

Turn omelet on hot platter, pour another fourth cup marmalade over the top; sprinkle with another tbsp. chopped almonds and garnish with about 2-3 cup of whipped cream.

FISH.—Fish, for canning, should be absolutely fresh. As soon as fish are caught it is well to kill them with a knife and let the blood run out. In scaling fish it is easier to remove the scales if the fish is dipped into boiling water. If skin is very tough remove skin and wash the fish clean. Remove entrails and the dark membrane that in some fish covers the abdominal cavity. For small fish the backbone may be left in. For larger fish remove the backbone and use it with what meat adheres to it, for making fish chowder.

In order to draw out all blood before canning, place the fish in brine made in the proportion of 1 level tablespoon salt to 1 quart water. Let soak from 10 minutes to 1 hour, according to thickness of the fish. If fish meat is loose or soft it can be hardened by soaking for 1 to 2 hours in cold brine made in proportion of ½ cup salt to 1 quart water.

Remove fish from brine, drain well and cut into pieces of convenient size for packing into jars. Pack closely to within ½ inch from top of jar, add 1 level teaspoon salt to each quart; do not add water. Partly seal and process for 3 hours in a hot-water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

SALMON AND OTHER LARGE FISH.—Scale fish, wash, cut open, remove entrails, thoroughly wash, wipe dry and cut into pieces of convenient size for packing. Pack raw into clean, hot jars, and add 2 level teaspoons salt to each quart. Do not add water. Partly seal and process for 3 hours in a hot-water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam process cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

FRIED FISH—Clean fish and remove entrails. For large fish, split along the back and remove backbone. For small fish, bones may be retained. Place in a salt-water bath, using ½ cup salt to 1 quart water. Allow fish to remain in this brine, according to thickness of the meat, from 10 minutes to 1 hour, in order to draw out the blood and harden the meat. Drain, wash, dry and cut into pieces which can be conveniently packed into the jars. Fry in deep fat until nicely browned. Drain well and place the pieces on coarse paper to absorb excess fat. Pack into hot, clean jars. Do not add any liquid. Partly seal and process for 3 hours in a hot-water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

FISH ROE—Use only the roe of freshly caught fish, and only such roe as is known to be good to eat. Clean the roe by removing the shreds and strings adhering to it and wash well in cold water, being careful not to break the roe. Coak well for about 2 hours in brine, made in the proportion of 1 level tablespoon salt to 1 quart water. Drain and pack into hot, clean jars. Partly seal and process for 4 hours in a hot-water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

CLAMS—Use only fresh clams. If clams are muddy, wash before opening. After opening, discard all broken or discolored clams. Pack into hot, clean jars. Fill jar to within ½ inch from top with hot brine made in proportion of one teaspoon salt to one quart water. Partly seal and process for three hours in a hot water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

OYSTERS—In canning oysters, be sure they are absolutely fresh, have not "soured" and contain no oysters that are spoiled. It is therefore best to open them by hand and absolutely reject oysters which have the shell partly open, as this is a sign that the oyster in this particular shell is dead and unfit for use.

Rinse oysters in cold water to be sure no pieces of shell or grit are packed with the oysters into the jars. Pack oysters, with their natural liquid, into hot, clean jars and fill with boiling brine, made in the proportion of one teaspoon salt to one quart water. Partly seal and process for three hours in a hot water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

BEEFSTEAK—A sirloin of beef is skinned and cut into suitable pieces for serving. Heat butter or grease in frying pan. Put the sliced steak into hot grease and sear quickly on both sides. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Brown but do not cook entirely done. Pack while hot into hot jars. Add two to four tablespoons of the pan grease to each jar. Partly seal and process in hot water bath for 3 hours or for 90 minutes in steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

BEEF STEW—Cut meat into cubes, brown slightly in frying pan. After browning put meat into stew pan, season with salt and pepper, cover with water, bring to boiling point and cook 10 minutes. Add diced vegetables (potatoes, carrots, onions, tomatoes) and cook until vegetables are thoroughly heated. Pack the mixture into hot, sterilized jars. Partly seal and process for 3 hours in hot water bath or for 90 minutes in steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

SUCCOTASH—Boil corn cut from cob for five minutes. Add the corn and equal quantity of young, tender shell beans, or lima beans which have been boiled for five minutes. Pack quickly and loosely into hot jars, add one teaspoon salt to each quart, fill jar with cooking water, partly seal and process for three hours in a hot water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds.

SQUASH—Wash thoroughly and cut into small pieces. If tender, do not peel. Cook until tender, drain off water, mash, pack hot into hot jars, add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart. Add no water. Partly seal and process for 3 hours in a hot-water bath, or for 75 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds.

SWEET POTATOES — Sweet potatoes should be canned as soon as they are dug. This is necessary because sometimes in digging the skin of the potato is bruised or broken, and if allowed to stand, these places turn black and may start to decay. A sweet potato, which is dry and mealy when canned is desirable.

For canning whole, select firm, small potatoes of uniform size and color. Wash thoroughly and boil or steam for 15 minutes. Peel quickly. It is advisable not to stick potatoes with a fork, as this may cause them to discolor. Pack into hot jars. Do not add water. Partly seal and process for 3 hours in a hot-water bath, or for 90 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

TOMATOES—Scald until the skins crack, cold-dip and remove the skins, cores and all hard, green spots. Cut into halves or quarters, and pack tight into clean, hot jars. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart, add no water, partly seal, and process for 30 minutes in a hot-water bath, or for 15 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 5 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

TOMATOES (OPEN-KETTLE)—Scald until skins crack, peel and core, cut into pieces, add salt to taste, boil for 20 minutes, pack immediately into clean, hot jars and seal immediately.

TOMATOES AND CORN—Boil fresh corn cut from cob for 5 minutes. Scald tomatoes until skins loosen, peel and core, cut into small pieces. Mix thoroughly 2 parts tomatoes to 1 part corn. Heat mixture to boiling, pack into clean, hot jars, add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart, partly seal, and

This judge of fine food says: "It tastes better than mayonnaise!"

Yet it costs ⅓ less...

THE critical women to whom we've submitted Kraft's Miracle Whip Salad Dressing all agree that it tastes better than mayonnaise!

A flavor that's new and different—yet tantalizingly familiar—there's the secret of the instant popularity of this new type of dressing. It's not too tart. Not too bland. Not too oily. Miracle Whip Salad Dressing is a perfect combination of true mayonnaise and true old-fashioned boiled dressing.

It's mixed from choice ingredients to a new creamy fluffiness in the exclusive Kraft Miracle Whip. We think you'll prefer this new dressing to mayonnaise. Try Kraft's Miracle Whip Salad Dressing on your favorite salad today!

Women Should Banish Hate After Letting Mates Go

Should husbands be held—regardless?

Would you hold yours, in spite of everything, if he wanted his freedom?

That's what a lady who signs herself "Killed at Twenty-eight" says wives should do. And she's plenty mad at us for telling Marian that it's bad medicine.

"I think you did a great wrong!" she snorts. "And if she is gullible, and doesn't weigh the pros and cons before she acts, she will do herself a great harm. (I won't say she'll 'ruin' her life, because if she really loved her husband, it is already ruined.)

"I know what I am talking about, because I am comparing her case with mine. Supposing she still loves this man, and gives him up to this other woman, to be a good sport? What about her? Why should he get all the breaks?

"Didn't he make promises, as well as she, when they were married? And proving she was a Regular Wife, could she help it that he fell for someone else, because she maybe "got fat" from age, and having children? Or because he admired blondes, or something—or someone with a livelier disposition, after her disposition has been spoiled by what she had to contend with?

"Should she give him up, even if she were sure he would be happy? Shouldn't he be a Good Sport and pay the price, too? You know it is altogether different, for a woman to start all over again, after living out of circulation for say ten or fifteen years. You can't get back your old job (telephone operator, in my case). They don't want you after a certain age, and other places want to know 'are you experienced?' And how can you have experience, after you've given up so many years trying to please this one man?

OFFERS ADVICE

"And another thing—just try to find someone else to fill the gap he has left in your heart. As soon as they learn you've been married, it's just too sad. I don't believe there are any men any more with 'honorable intentions' like they used to brag about.

"A man, at 35, can find plenty of attractive young women who probably have it all over his wife, who has had all the worries. But who, can she attract, at 35? All her friends are married couples, and can't be bothered with her—or rather you can't take advantage of their hospitality, if you haven't a home to entertain them in in return, and your buying power has been lowered.

"I tell you it's a tough proposition, and unless Marian has a home to go back to, I'd advise her to sit tight. That's what she'll do if she is smart. She won't be as 'brave' as I was, when I found out my husband wanted someone else.

"I broke up with him, and here I am, just marking time till the end comes, trying to smile when it's at all possible, but all the while grieving inside. What do you think of this angle?"

A BITTER FARE

I think it's a mighty tough spot for any woman to be in, sister. But I also think that a self-respecting woman can put herself on a still harder spot by holding an unwilling husband. For what does an unwilling husband give an unwanted wife? Not love. Not respect. Only grudging bed and board. That's bitter fare for any proud woman. And the woman who would take it, brands herself in the taking.

So I'm not saying "let the man go" because I'm sorry for the man . . . But because I am thinking of the woman, her self-respect, her future. Living with hate never did any human any good.

And that goes for you, lady. You may have given up your husband, but you haven't given up your hate. Why can't you make a new start, win new friends? That's why. You're still living in that hateful past, and it's poisoning you. The man you lost may have wronged you—but he didn't wreck your life. You, yourself, are wrecking that life by your own stubborn self-pity and resentment.

You can have good breaks if you'll make them. There is a future for every human who has the gumption and get up to go after it. But to find that future, you'll have to let the past go.

What do you think? Should a woman hold a man who doesn't want her—because she'll be lonely without him—or needs a meal ticket—

Or even "because she loves him?"

Would you?

Fay King Thinks Folks of About Equal Age Should Marry

By FAY KING

The consensus of opinion is that a husband should be older than his wife.

Hence there is approval when a young girl marries an old man, but disapproval when a wife is only a few years older.

If there is not more than five years difference, it ought not to matter which is the older. In the twenties a man often seems a little older than he is while a woman may seem a little younger than her age.

There are countless happy marriages where wives are unnoticeably older.

A great difference in years on either side is unwise, for in 10 or 15 years it will be too marked, and no mate will like being mistaken for a parent.

A near age is best.

Household Hints

Warm vinegar takes stains, heat marks and other disfigurations out of mahogany. Rub well; it is an excellent polish into the bargain.

Lacquer tables are treated in the same way. The vinegar cleans, but in this case clouds the surface. Polish with a speck of paraffin applied in light, energetic circles.

Rinse new or disused kettles with malt vinegar and salt before using.

Chocolate stains may be removed by sprinkling with borax and washing in cold water.

Oxydized fittings can be cleaned with a paste made from olive oil and whiting. Afterwards, polish with a soft duster. Chemicals must not be used.

When delicate colors have been spoiled by the stains of acids, ammonia, being a strong alkali, will often restore the color.

Sour milk is good for polishing linoleum. It will also remove rust from white fabrics.

Corks will become airtight and watertight if soaked in oil for five minutes.

In the Rooming House

The person who has charge of a rooming house is wise to keep a large calendar by the telephone. Each person using the phone may write his or her initials above phone date. At the end of the month excess calls can be divided easily according to the number each person has used.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

An Unusual Play

The expert player realizes that there are many situations in which ordinary routine play proves ineffective. In such situations the master looks around for some play that will confuse the issue for the defending players in such a way that the natural play will not be made, and thereby the Declarer will gain time to devise another means of making his contract.

In the recent tournament of the American Whist League at Hanover, N. H., in the Masters' Pair game, the final contract on the hand below, at one table, was four hearts, played by South.

South, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

Mr. Oswald Jacoby
♠ 9 6 5
♡ J 6
◇ A Q 9 4
♣ Q 9 3 2

♠ A K 10 7 2 ♡ 8 7 ◇ 8 3 2 ♣ J 6 5 — West — North — East — South — ♠ Q 4 ♡ 9 3 2 ◇ J 10 7 6 ♣ A 10 8 4

♠ J 8 3
♡ A K Q 10 5 4
◇ K 5

Mr. Walter Malowan

West led the King of spades, followed by the Ace. Of course, East dropped the Queen of spades on the second round, and Mr. Malowan realized that the third spade would be ruffed by East. If East also had the Ace of clubs and played it, the contract would then be set. If the Ace of clubs was with West, there was still a strong probability that East would lead a club. In order to confuse the issue and prevent any signaling, Mr. Malowan played the Knave of spades on the Ace, despite the fact that it was established as the high card of the suit. When West played the Ten of spades to the third trick, East, misled by South's unusual play, discarded a small club, as he did not expect that West would retain the lead. The purpose of the discard of the small club was to deceive the Declarer and not his partner, but West, who was still in the lead, interpreted the discard as a request for a diamond lead, and led that suit. This resulted in the development of a perfect squeeze against East, who could not hold the Ace of clubs and also a winning diamond. On Declarer's lead of the sixth trump, East discarded the Ace of clubs, and Mr. Malowan took the balance of the tricks and fulfilled his game contract, a result which would have been impossible had it not been for the unusual play on the second lead of the spade suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION

North-South vulnerable. South opens with the bid of one spade. West, not vulnerable, bids two hearts. What should North bid, holding the following hand:

♠ J 8 7 ♡ K 5 ◇ A K 3 ♣ K Q J 8 2

Answer—Four clubs—a Forcing Takeout, requiring both partners to keep the bidding open until a game contract is reached.

Correct Manners

By CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Difference in Cards

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—Is there a difference between the At Home card sent with a wedding invitation and one sent with the wedding announcement? I think I heard someone say that there is.

2—I am not sure whether I want to send At Home cards with my wedding invitations or announcements. Is it absolutely necessary that they be sent? They seem rather an unnecessary expense.

3—What I would like is the Mr. and Mrs. card with our future address on it. By your enthusiasm for these cards you have aroused my enthusiasm, too; they seem to have so many uses.

Thank you for helping me on these questions. F.

1—Yes; there is a very definite difference between the At Home card sent with the wedding invitation and that sent with the marriage announcement. The difference, fundamentally, is this: The At Home card sent with the invitation does not carry the married name, since the couple are not then married and the bride-to-be has no right to use the name. After the wedding, when the announcement is sent, the card may carry the married name.

This is the form of the At Home card sent with the invitation:

At Home
after the first of October
Two Wyoming Avenue
Pawtucket, Rhode Island

For the At Home card sent with the announcement, there are two forms, either of which is correct:

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wells
will be at home
after the first of October
Two Wyoming Avenue
Pawtucket, Rhode Island
or
Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wells
Will be at Home
After the first of October
Two Wyoming Avenue
Pawtucket, Rhode Island

2—It is not necessary to send At Home cards, and in most cases they are not sent. It is proper to do what you think is the more convenient.

3—Because I think the Mr. and Mrs. card is such a convenient item, I suggest that, if you decide to send At Home cards, you send them with your announcements, using the second of the two forms I have given.

After its use for the At Home card, the plate can be used for the Mr. and Mrs. card. The little lines at the side can be taken off the plate by acid, or covered in the next engraving.

Given in Marriage -:-

A Sequel to Heart Of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Suspects Veritzen Has Another Scheme

I never have needed self-control more than I did when Philip Veritzen asked me to invite Avis Arlen and her mother to the wedding of Noel and Mary about which I just had telephoned him. Before me flashed a premonitory vision of Mary's lovely mutinous face when I should tell her that this girl whom she detested, and who had tried so hard to lure Noel away from his allegiance, was to be one of the witnesses of her marriage.

"Of course it will be convenient to have Mrs. Arlen and her daughter," I said, and flattered myself that my voice held just the right note of cordiality. "Where can I reach Mrs. Arlen, that I may extend an invitation to her myself?"

"That is like your thoughtfulness," he said, and something in his voice told me that he was not cherishing any personal rancor against me for my part in arranging the marriage between his son and my husband's niece. I wished I knew whether this amnesty extended to the "love birds," as Harry Underwood persisted in calling them, or was only my own good fortune.

"The address has slipped my mind for the moment," he went on. "My memory is really getting shocking. But if you don't mind speaking to Miss Avis, who is here in my office temporarily, she can give you the address, and, incidentally, you can tell her about the wedding."

AVIS SUSPECTED

From somewhere deep within me sounded a note of warning like that struck by a bell. There was a special reason for his putting Avis Arlen at the other end of the telephone wire. I knew that Philip Veritzen's memory was distinctly not "shocking" nor even inadequate, and that in all probability he was perfectly aware of "Fanny" Arlen's address. He knew of the dislike and disapproval which had been mine toward the girl, feelings which he knew did not include her mother. His penchant for the correct social procedure, also, would have led him normally to secure Mrs. Arlen's address for me himself, and to have had the first invitation to the wedding to go to the mother herself, instead of being first proffered to the daughter. Why, why, had he gone out of his way to bring Avis Arlen into telephone conversation with me?

I had not far to look for the answer. He must definitely suspect the girl of holding out the letter which I had written him, and of reading it to glean whatever information she could concerning Noel. I could visualize him sitting like a crafty spider in his arm chair while that foolish fly, Avis, buzzed through a conversation with me, with 10 chances to one of betraying the fact that she already knew of the approaching marriage.

AVOIDS CONVERSATION

The odds were not fair, I decided, and knew that my emotion was not so much pity for the girl as resentment against Philip Veritzen, for his arrogant, "Lord of all" attitude toward any suspected culprit.

"I wonder if you could excuse me for just a little," I said. "I have been feeling quite ill today, and just now, I—I—am quite dizzy. A little later, I will telephone again, and perhaps you will then have the address ready. I wonder if you will think me very silly if I say that today I am so nervous, I would rather speak only to you. Later, when I get myself together, I will telephone Mrs. Arlen."

I was ashamed of myself for knowing so well what would appeal to the egotism of Philip Veritzen. His response to it was immediate.

"Oh! My dear!" he said quickly. "Of course, say nothing more. But can I not telephone you? Where are you?"

"I am not at the farm," I said with quick evasion. "And—I think I would rather telephone you."

"As you wish," he said. "I understand—perfectly. Do take care of yourself. Au revoir."

His telephone clicked, but for a long second I set with the receiver still held to my ear. What did he understand, perfectly?

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

If any beauty ill justifies loud plaints and lamentations, it is the complexion that is coarse grained, pitted with pores and cursed with oil-gushing propensities. Be stingy with creamy cosmetics when this condition is present. If cream is used, wipe it away in half an hour. It's necessary, of course, if the epidermis flakes, which happens sometimes even when the skin has too much natural lubrication. Use ice and cold water freely. Eat sparingly of fat foods. Drink six glasses of water a day. Avoid tan and sunburn, which thicken the cutaneous fabric, incline the texture of the skin to become coarse. Use a light powder, and compact rouge instead of the creamy kind.

Overbleached hair is almost impossible to wash properly. It has taken on a jutelike quality that prevents soapsuds from taking hold. The egg shampoo is the proper cleansing medium. If tresslocks are fairly heavy, use six eggs. Don't beat them; just give them a couple of flips with a fork. Rinse the hair with a bath spray, friction in part of the eggs until they foam, rinse, repeat the egg application, rinse again. To a bowl of water add the strained juice of three lemons; pour over the head with a cup. Give a final rinsing with the bath spray. Dry quickly.

A bottle of sweet and subtle perfume is a good investment. It sets one up, strengthens the spirit. It is the final cosmetic touch. Dabble the floretted liquid back of the ears, on the back of the hand. If you can find a talcum powder of the same fragrance, trot it home with you. Use after the bath when the flesh is warm; its sweetness will last all day; it will be a prop to the more expensive aroma that comes in a bottle.

Bath salts not only soften the water but impart a sweet odor to the flesh. If you don't like sitting on scratchy crystals, you can get a bath powder. Just as good, dissolves immediately.

to END SOAP WASTE

To end soap waste, just sprinkle Climalene in wherever water of any kind is used in cleaning.

It's the mineral salts in hard water that waste soap because the soap cannot dissolve. Climalene softens water. This makes your soap two times more effective.

Sprinkle Climalene in the water to make your clothes snowy white...to make your dishes sparkle. It leaves your hands soft and smooth. Get Climalene from your grocer today. The Climalene Co., Canton, Ohio.

Nasal Polyp Should Be Removed

"What is a nasal polyp?" "Is it a serious disturbance and will it develop into cancer?" "I have been told that I have a polyp and an operation has been advised. Is it possible to cure this without an operation?"

Dr. Copeland

These are some of the questions asked me in a letter I received from one who has this trouble. Of course I am glad to reply as best I can.

A nasal polyp is a growth found in the nose. It is not cancer. It is usually traced to some chronic inflammation of the lining of the nose or of the nasal sinuses.

The polyp grows slowly, very gradually increasing in size. If untreated, it may become so big as to completely obstruct the nasal passage. Sometimes the sufferer complains of loss of smell. The growth presses on the nasal nerves, interfering with their function.

Mouth breathing is another complaint of sufferers from this affliction. The victim breathes through his mouth instead of his nostrils and may believe this is due to adenoids. He is amazed to learn after being examined by a physician that the trouble is caused by a nasal polyp. In children most cases of mouth breathing are due to adenoids, and nasal polyps are rarely found in children.

As it is true of many other growths, nasal polyps can only be gotten rid of by surgical measures. There is no medicine or ointment known to medical science that will remove the tumor mass. It must be incised and entirely removed if permanent relief is to be had.

Let me assure you that the operation is a simple one. It is performed in the doctor's office and usually there is no need of going to a hospital. The operation is performed under local anesthesia and there is little pain and discomfort during or after the procedure.

Most persons dread the word "operation." When told that this is the only cure they postpone the necessary treatment. This is an unwise attitude to take, certainly as regards nasal polyp.

The victim of nasal polyp is usually susceptible to sore throats, colds, grippe and other respiratory diseases. If for no other reason, they should never be neglected. Neglect may lead to some serious and permanent disability.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. L. B. T. Q.—About two years ago I had a varicose ulcer on my left leg above the ankle. The condition has healed, but there seems to be a breaking out around the outside, extending over quite an area. I have tried to clear this up without results. There is no pain, but there is a tired feeling and at times there is a disturbance resembling water blisters. What would you advise in this case?

A.—The present condition may be due to eczema. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J. E. VK. Q.—What would cause the mouth to feel as if one had been chewing alum, all puckered up? I have no sense of taste; everything tastes alike.

A.—This is probably due to some gastro-intestinal disturbance—keep the system clear. For full particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

Big trifles are sets consisting of hat and shoulder capelet. These are offered both in velvet and satin. With a brown woolen frock, one woman wears a toque and shoulder capelet made of three shades of green velvet. The hat comes to a point in back and is a cuffed turban. The capelet ties in a knot on one shoulder.

On the border of the mode is the fur-bordered coat again making its appearance. At a smart outdoors event, one woman wore a coat of black satin with a border of silver fox, in a curved design. The sleeves were of capelet cut. Autumn luxury coats will follow this idea.

We must flutter if we are to be smart. A charming evening frock, in two shades of delphinium blue crepe, has a long scarf and muff of pale blue ostrich, the boa trailing down the back of the dress to the hem.

A strong desire to freshen up evening frocks that been in service all summer, makes us turn to new accessories. For wear with her white evening frocks one girl has a new jacket of black slipper satin with ruffled armholes, and a fitted silhouette. It closes with large links of mirror glass and she has a matching handbag, in satin with a frame of mirror glass motifs.

TOMATO CREOLE SAUCE (OPEN KETTLE)—For dressing ordinary steak or decorating plain boiled rice, besides adding a distinctive flavor, tomato creole is one of the favorite sauces.

Mix together 1 quart sliced white onions and 12 finely chopped green peppers; simmer until soft. Add about twice this bulk in tomatoes and cook together over a low fire until tender. Season to taste. Pack into clean, hot jars and seal immediately.

TOMATOES AND OKRA—A combination of ½ tomato and ½ okra makes an excellent soup, which can be served directly from the jar, or it may serve as a base for the much renowned southern gumbo.

Cut the okra into thin slices and cook gently with the tomatoes until tender. Pack immediately into clean, hot jars, add 1 level teaspoon salt to each quart, partly seal and process for 10 minutes in a hot-water bath. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

TOMATO SAUCE—Cook small and broken tomatoes until they are soft. Press through a sieve to remove skins, seeds and cores. Let stand a few minutes until the pulp settles, pour off the clear water, add 1 level teaspoon salt to each quart of pulp, then cook quickly until it begins to thicken. Pack immediately into clean, hot jars, partly seal and process for 30 minutes in a hot-water bath, or for 15 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately. This may be used as a foundation for soups, sauces or relishes.

BEETS—Beets should be canned before they grow too large. Small beets should be canned whole. Leave on 1 inch of the stem and all of the root while blanching. This will prevent loss of color.

Wash and boil 15 minutes until skins loosen. Slip skins. Pack into hot jars. Do not add salt. Fill with boiling water, partly seal and process for 2 hours in a hot-water bath, or for 40 minutes in a steam - pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS AND CABBAGE—Wash and boil for 10 minutes in an open kettle. Add salt to cooking water in proportion of 1 level teaspoon salt to 1 quart water. Pack hot into clean jars, fill with cooking water, partly seal and process for 1½ hours in a hot-water bath, or for 40 minutes in a steam-pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal at once.

CAULIFLOWER — Soak cauliflower for 1 hour in a cold brine made in the proportion of 1 tablespoon salt to 1 quart water. This will remove any lurking insects and help to prevent discoloring later in the cooking process. Boil for 3 minutes, pack quickly into hot jars, add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart, fill with cooking water, partly seal and process for 1½ hours in a hot-water bath or for 40 minutes in a steam-pressure cooker at 10 pounds. Remove from canner and seal at once.

SUPERIOR JELLY PIE—2 cups milk, 5 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca, 4 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, ½ cup shredded coconut, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup currant jelly.

Scald milk in a double boiler. Add tapioca, sugar and salt. Cook over flame until tapioca is transparent, stirring frequently, then remove from stove and pour into beaten egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture is thickened. Add coconut and vanilla and cool. Fill baked pie shell with tapioca mixture and spread with a layer of jelly. Fold sugar into stiffly beaten egg whites, and spread over jelly. Return to oven 300 degrees to brown meringue. Serve cold.

Apricot Is Valuable Food And Blood Tonic

Rich in Flavor and Color, This Fruit That Alexander the Great Brought Into Greece From Asia Contains Important Mineral Salts—Dried and Canned Varieties as Good as When Fresh From the Tree

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I am glad to observe that apricots are becoming more popular. Food authorities, dieticians and housewives now realize that the apricot is a valuable food and an excellent stimulant for the lazy appetite.

I have often heard housewives complain that the apricot season is so short. But they forget that when fresh ones are not on the market, dried apricots, which are equally tasty and nutritious, can be obtained.

The apricot is an old fruit. For many centuries it grew wild over western and central Asia. Alexander the Great brought the apricot from Asia into Greece. From there its popularity spread to Italy and other European countries. It was first grown in America in the late eighteenth century.

Today the fruit is extensively grown in California, where the climate and soil are especially suitable for its cultivation. Modern methods of transportation, refrigeration and improved cultivation bring this fruit to the consumer in a fresh and tempting condition. It can be purchased in the fruit markets of New York within 10 days after being plucked from the trees in California.

RETAINS FLAVOR

The dried fruit is shipped with ease and retains most of the rich color and flavor found in the fresh apricot. Large quantities are preserved. The canned fruit is tempting and delicious to the taste. Canned or cooked dried apricots improve the color and flavor of salads, and can be used in a variety of ways.

I wonder how many of my readers have ever tasted Syrian apricot paste. It is used for making jelly, and as an ingredient in fruit drinks. The paste is made by stoning the fruit and mashing it in a large cement-lined basin.

BLOOD TONICS

The apricot belongs to the peach family, and, like other members of this group, is a valuable addition to the diet. It contains important mineral salts, such as potash, soda, lime, magnesium and iron. These salts are blood tonics and furnish material for building healthy red blood cells.

The fruit is alkaline in reaction and is of value in preventing any tendency toward acidity. It has a mildly laxative action, also, and is beneficial in the diet of sufferers from constipation. It is an attractive as well as a valuable addition to the diet, for its color, pleasing flavor and tonic action make it appealing to all.

COMMITS THEFT TO PAY DEBT

RACINE, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Defending himself when arraigned on a charge of breaking into a filling station, "Peck" Carner, 32, of Racine, testified thus:

"The operator of the station gave me $5, a week ago, to buy him a dog. I spent the money, but not for a dog. I had to return with a dog or $5. It was quite a problem because I didn't have the money. So I broke into the filling station to get the money to pay him back."

Ninety days was the penalty.

ALL-BRAN STOPPED HIS SLEEPLESSNESS AND TIRED FEELING

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

Read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. Haraden:

"My system had been run down for quite some time. About three weeks ago, I started taking ALL-BRAN for breakfast. I had been unable to sleep nights, but now all I have to do is turn in, and before I know it, I am fast asleep.

"I used to have a tired feeling all day, but now that ALL-BRAN is in my home to stay, there will be no more tired feelings with me."—Mr. Carl Haraden, Main Street, Hamilton, Massachusetts.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking pills and drugs—often harmful! Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Friends of the Family

LOOK at the packages on your pantry and bathroom shelves, and see what a multitude of brand names you recognize. Some of them have been familiar for years. You may have made the acquaintance of others only a few weeks ago. But even these are not suspected strangers. You have bought them confidently because they were advertised. And it is the same with your sheets and towels, your shoes and clothes, your electric appliances, the car in your garage—nearly everything you use.

Advertised products have a standing that commands respect. They are not nameless, but vouched for by responsible firms. The fact that they are advertised is in itself an indication that their standards of quality are strictly maintained, that they represent honest value.

As science and discovery go on, newly developed products are constantly being advertised—ready to help you save money and improve your standard of living. Every advertisement of such a product you read in your daily paper is a letter of introduction to a new and possibly useful friend.

It will pay you to read the advertisements in this paper every day. By so doing you will meet many choice products—worthy to become friends of the family.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

It is good to note that some of the distinguished news-weeklies are now featuring a department concerning people who anticipate babies . . . I didn't know about this angle in radio until the other day . . . That many of the comedians make two broadcasts the same night, one for the East—and another for the West—to get better time on the Coast . . . And that they hire special applauders at $1 the show . . . This is because some of the comedians can't get accustomed to "mike" without an audience . . . The first audience is a legitimate one—invited by the sponsor—but no passes are given for the later performance—hence the specially engaged audience at the dollar each salary . . . They are old-timers, some of them former headliners—and they are recruited from the N. V. A. Club . . . In other words—they get $1 per week . . . Author Ehrmann's "The Untried Case" is the sort of book that keeps you awake most of the night, so reluctant are you to put it down . . . It alleges that Sacco and Vanzetti died for crimes they didn't commit, and he names those who got away with it . . . Too bad the Judge who handed down the sentence died before it was published . . . The one story all editors hope they will encounter in their careers happened to a wire news man the other day . . . From his office window he witnessed those three desperadoes making their escape over the walls of the Tombs—and had the yarn tied up . . . And he tried to get the warden on the phone and got four wrong numbers in a row!

Some men prefer going along doing good deeds without having their names recorded in the local good-books . . . That fellow, frinstance, who left a great sum to a fund sometime ago—from which magistrates may dip now and then . . . To provide shelter and sustenance for needy families of men they have to send to jail . . . "That's one of the rules in his will," they tell you, "his name must never be revealed" . . . I salute his memory, at any rate, they can't stop that! . . . The one item I forgot to record in my visit to the night court was the most amusing of them . . . A boy, pinched for peddling ice-cream without a license, had to wait while the judge called a recess and left the room . . . And while marking time for the court to convene—he sold out his stock in court! . . . Wonder what it's like—visiting New York for the first time? . . . That's one thrill I've never had and never will rate . . . That little girl from Reading who was so excited—spellbound me for a moment . . . "Just imagine," she was breathlessly saying, "I haven't been in New York one day—when what do you think? I've had three thrills I never thought I'd have!" . . . They included riding atop a Fifth avenue bus—visiting the Aquarium—and reaching the Empire State heights! Wonder what it's like in the Aquarium—or on top of the Empire State?

Wish Joe Cook's show would come to town tonight . . . If it is as good as the Boston critics reported—it certainly needed no suburban rehearsals . . . The simplicity of George M. Cohan is hypnotic . . . He remembers little things that concern you—items that happened long enough ago to escape you . . . He sends you away feeling that your chatter interested him—and he is a concrete example of the type of person—who never gets too big to forget the smaller fry . . . Less talented men of Broadway are so peacocky . . . I'm glad I existed in his era . . . I had never thought along those lines. I mean what that former Ziegfeld showgirl said. She now appears in the slums of the profession—the new low for burlesk . . . And she pointed out that the dears who reveal their peeled forms at Minsky's are never within the reach of the audience—as they are in the most popular Broadway floor shows. . . . Nor do the Minsky girls have to sit with customers, who get gay, she reminded . . . And that's what annoys her—she is snubbed by the cafe gals—who shudder at her station in life . . . Minsky pays her twice the Ziegfeld wage

Well, I finally got a laugh out of a college magazine . . . The first student says: "What shall we do?" The other says: "I'll toss a coin. If it's heads, we'll go to a dance—tails we'll go to a movie—and if it stands on edge—we'll study."

The sentiments expressed by so many since the sudden passing of "Phoch" Howard is a monument, indeed . . . Imagine going through life never making a sour crack about anybody—always a honeyed remark about this or that one . . . That was Evander Phocian Howard—he was nice to know . . . Forty years on Broadway and never lost a friend . . . A Broadway miracle, indeed . . . I had a hunch that the line: "There are 32 hands that will beat four aces in poker" would arouse an army of skeptics, who would demand statistics . . . The answer being there are 32 ways of making "straight flushes," excluding those with aces . . . Huey Long hasn't opened his kisser for days. Probably took somebody's advice at last . . . Bugs Baer thinks it's a shame—first they name the island after him and then they hit him.

There isn't another place in the town that could entice me twice—but the Trans-Lux . . . Where Mr. Disney's delightfully comical silly symphony, "Three Little Pigs," has been revived . . . This abbreviated comedy, perhaps, is not only the funniest show in town—but the best entertainment Disney has created—and that goes for all his Mickey mousetraps . . . At any rate—I haven't howled so loud and so much for too long, particularly when one little pig boastfully asserts that he isn't afraid of the great big wolf—who "with a huff and a puff" blows down his shack . . . I know people who have seen it four times—and little wonder—it is that amusing . . . Leave it to Vernon Duke to compose "This Is Romance," one of the tunier tunes . . . I like the style of Patterson McNutt, who kidded the Broadway columnist in the jitney mags last week. A different theme for a change . . . I didn't think they could improve on that cynical crack: "All I want is six friends—to serve as pallbearers" until a bitter lad of the Times Square belt, who just threw an ace-deuce at love—added: "And one woman—to weep a little" . . . What confused me about that unlucky Italian's plane crash at Floyd Bennett Field was that men with blaze-extinguishers couldn't get near it—but photographers got close enough to snap the victim being burned alive! . . . Of all shudders!

Velez House Strongly Guarded

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8.—Those kidnaping threats against her niece still have Lupe Velez in a flurry. Besides sending the youngster to Mexico, she has done everything but put a moat around her Beverly Hills house.

The latest safeguard is $1,500 worth of ornamental but effective iron bars which workmen installed last week on all accessible windows of the Velez menage.

Lupe' chauffeur can hit a dime at 20 paces and draws like an old-time Western gunman. Her swank car rolls into a floodlighted driveway and before the Mexican star gets out, a man servant appears at the door to cover her entrance. And, of course, you've heard that both Lupe and Johnny Weissmuller have pistols.

Hollywood gossips were not the only ones surprised to learn that Dorothy Lee was marrying Marshall Duffield in Agua Caliente on Sunday. The bridegroom didn't know it himself until Dorothy told him upon her arrival here Saturday night. Marshall had had his application in for a long time, but the date was uncertain.

Miss Lee

The two honeymooners luncned Tuesday at Paramount, where the former U. S. C. football star is working as an assistant director. They'll take an apartment in Hollywood for the present, but later will move to Santa Monica. Marsh eventually hopes to run for state assemblyman from his district.

England is making a strong bid to take Bing Crosby away from Hollywood. More of Bing's records are sold in the British Isles than in any other part of the world. The reason, according to Ev Crosby, the crooning star's brother and manager, is that records are not allowed to be played on the English radio.

Holland also is a good market for records. The Dutch like hot music.

You have a treat coming when you hear the music that Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed have composed for Marion Davies and Bing in "Going Hollywood." Listen for "We'll Make Hay While the Sun Shines," "Temptation" and "After Sundown."

What makes Claudette Colbert's quick recovery all the more remarkable is that she really had two other minor operations in addition to the appendectomy . . . Some gossip pointed out that at the fights the other night Carole Lombard and Gary Cooper were sitting ringside with the Countess Frasso and Andy Lawlor a few rows behind them and Lupe Velez and Johnny Weissmuller just around the corner of the ring . . . Can you believe it? The American Mercury is after an interview with Mae West . . . And here's one for Hollywood to laugh off. Jessie Matthews, English actress, turned down a long term Fox contract and a chance to come to the cinema capital because she is in love and wants to get married . . . Claire Windsor does have the worst luck. Fox wanted her for a picture, but she has to be in court.

Veteran Theater Man Joins Harris Staff

James G. Balmer has resigned as district manager of Warner Brothers Theaters to take a similar position with the Harris Amusement Company, the resignation to be effective in two weeks. Mr. Balmer is returning to his former employers after having been associated with Warner Brothers for the past three years. He formerly was associated with Harry Davis and the late Senator John P. Harris, managing the old Grand Theater, now the Warner.

After the sale of the Harry Davis enterprise to the Stanley-Davis-Clark Company he was employed by this organization, and opened both the Stanley and Enright theaters. He resigned to join the Harris Amusement Company, managing the Butler and the Harris-South Hills theaters. Later he went to the staff of Warner Brothers.

Tracy, Oakie Borrowed For One Film

Spencer Tracy and Jack Oakie have been signed by Twentieth Century for one picture, "Trouble Shooter," a story of the men who keep the telephone lines open in all kinds of weather and through all kinds of mishaps. Tracy, one of Fox's most important stars, has been borrowed from that company, while Paramount has loaned Oakie.

Fulton Film Dramatic

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

A dramatic story of a girl "who never had a chance," from the time she is first "sent up" for an attempted theft, committed by somebody else, until she finds herself on trial for a killing, "Midnight Mary" is the picture in the Fulton, with Loretta Young making the central role credible, human and sympathetic.

It begins and closes with the trial, the intervening action being a striking application of the "flashback" technique. After the charge of the jury Mary Martin, the accused girl, is taken to the office of the court clerk to await the verdict. As the kindly clerk explains about the dated volumes of records in the office the young woman dreamily recollects incidents in her life suggested by the years appearing on the volumes, and her stream of thought, from the time she is left motherless by death until the return of the jury interrupts her reverie, is visualized.

It shows her vainly trying to obtain employment and her eventual experience as the "moll" of a racketeer, which part is the clearly-cut portrayal of Ricardo Cortez. It shows her fleeing a gambling house after a shooting by her friends, in company of a young lawyer, intelligently played by Franchot Tone, with whom she falls in love. Yet she repulses him to prevent him from being dragged into the light of unfavorable publicity when the policeman who had been shot recognizes her some time later.

And so on up to the time the jury returns with a verdict of guilty of the crime charged, murder. Then there is a dramatic interruption by Mr. Tone, which results in a new trial and the revelation of the true status of the girl, who, throughout the picture, is represented as a victim of circumstances.

Other roles are nicely played by Una Merkle, Warren Hymer, Andy Devine and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

Leslie Howard Near Holiday's End

Leslie Howard, now vacationing in England following the completion of an English production, will return to Hollywood the end of September, according to word received by his friends in New York. His next American film to be shown will be Fox's "Berkeley Square," produced by Jesse L. Lasky from the John Balderston stage success, which ran a year in London and a whole season in New York.

George S. Otte, of Wheeling, who has been named manager of the Pitt, will go to New York today to confer with George Shafer, also of Wheeling, lessee of the Penn avenue house, relative to the policy, once announced to be dramatic stock. Now it seems that a policy of vaudeville and pictures also is being considered. The interior of the theater has been nicely redecorated and improvements have been made in both the auditorium and stage. The opening date has been tentatively set for September 23 or 25. However, the nature of the attraction still awaits decision. Meanwhile the work of brightening up both exterior and interior continues.

All in a Day

Things I'd Like to Do Again

WHEN I revived this type of column a week or so ago, I hardly thought that anyone but myself would get a kick out of it. Much to my surprise, however, four of my seven readers assured me that they liked the stuff and requested me to keep it up. (Editor's note:—Must have been his father, mother, brother and wife.)

Furthermore, I got a genuine wallop out of some of the aftermaths of that column. For example, I used an item about the time I took my first Follies girl to dinner. I said she spent $12 of my money to call up some other guy in Cleveland—and I still thought it was wonderful!

That was plenty of years ago and I haven't seen the young lady since. But, believe it or not, she called me at the hospital the day after the item appeared and we both laughed over it. She suggested another dinner date for old time's sake, but I don't think I'll go through with it. By this time she's liable to have a guy in Paris.

Then, too, there was another bit about the days when I walked with Gertrude along upper Broadway. I said that, with a Variety in my pocket and a John Barrymore look in my eyes, I thought I was a pretty hot number.

I hesitate to mention how long ago those walks took place—and I've seen Gertrude but once or twice since. Two days later, nevertheless, I received a very sweet note from the young lady in question. And in it she told me that she had never liked either the Barrymore look in my eyes or the Variety in my pocket.

I have but one reply to make, Gertrude. With you married all these years to a swell guy, and with me sailing briskly onward with the sweetest girlie of them all—this is a poor time to tell me! . . .

But enough of this. I must be getting on with this column before another day passes and another couple of columns of white space bounce up to hit me in the kisser. So we go. Onward, my friends, with the futile cry of every human soul: "Things I'd like to Do Again."

Borrow my first $2 from Jacob DuBoff, the stationery man, on the promise that I would pay him back $2.25 at the end of the week. (I did pay him back—but during the week I read every magazine on his stand for nothing because he was afraid to throw me out.)

Get my first check for $1.50 for a poem from a magazine called Saucy Stories. (I re-read the poem a few weeks ago, and I think I was highly overpaid.)

Write a piece from Paris some five years ago in which I spoke of Maurice Chevalier, then a great French favorite, but unknown in this country. I said: "It's not that he's so good, but that the others are so rotten." (A year later, after he had scored sensationally in this country and I had grown quite friendly with him, he repeated the article word for word. Was my face green!)

Cover my first murder story for a newspaper. (The girl's head had been chopped off with an ax and I grew so sick that I couldn't go back to the office.)

Have Mr. Algire, vice president of the National Surety Company, fire me and tell me at the same time that I was not the type of man to work for his company. (And all because of the minor fact that I was in the habit of taking six or seven hours for lunch every day!)

Watch Walter Winchell coin the word "Whoopee"—in the modern sense—in the Texas Guinan club one early morning, and have him ask me anxiously if I thought people would consider it vulgar if he used it. (Whatever credit is due, they've been trying to take away ever since. And why I'll never know.)

Hear the same young man tell me he couldn't sleep more than six hours a night, and have me tell him that wasn't so bad because Thomas A. Edison slept only four. (His answer was: "Sure. But I have big things to worry about.")

Tell Nick Blair, who wanted to hire Helen Morgan as a cabaret attraction, that she couldn't be any good in a large room because nobody would hear her. (As soon as he was certain of my opinion he hired her.)

Watch Flo Ziegfeld as he picked two girls out of the 5,000 that answered a chorus call for his last Follies. (One fat and bow-legged damsel, who had been immediately tossed out, walked up to Flo after the call and said: "All I can say, mister, is that you're a rotten judge of beauty.")

* * *

Complain bitterly to the Governor of Constantinople about the treatment accorded me in that city and ask him if he wanted me to print the whole story in the American newspapers for which I wrote. (As I shook with emotion he poured me another cup of coffee and answered easily: 'Certainly. Why not?")

* * *

Be a cashier again in the Red Head, in Greenwich Village—and listen to the soft voice of "Sonny" Jackson, a wandering minstrel, as he sang about his mother and dad in California. What a melodious voice he had! (Jackson was hanged a year later in Texas for the murder of a Mexican. He sang as he walked to the gallows.)

Awaken one morning to learn that a baby brother had arrived during the night. (Pop is the type of gentleman who never discusses such things with children, and he was quite certain I knew nothing about the expected arrival. He didn't know I had lost pennies all over the neighborhood betting the kid would be a girl.)

* * *

There they are, my friends. Merely memories. Just a few more things I'd like to do again . . .

'BUTTONS' RIDES WITH 11 MORE PRIZES TODAY

"Buttons," the Sun-Telegraph page boy who spends most of his time giving away money had an exciting day yesterday. He was calling at the homes of Pittsburghers, paging the residents and handing out real cash.

"Buttons"

Dressed in his snappy uniform, nifty cap and rows of little brass buttons, he had started out on foot and by street cars to make his calls. That's where he made the mistake. He had not counted on the fact that he and his mission had been described in the Sun - Telegraph and from time to time he was the center of a near riot. "Buttons" no sooner extricated himself from one crowd when he was in the middle of a another—all looking for the Sun - Telegraph cash he was giving away. One day of this was enough. "Buttons" is now making his calls in an automobile.

Today he is "paging" 11 more Pittsburghers — calling at their homes and giving them cash awards—just to boost the idea "Spend a Dollar . . . Make a Job . . . Buy in September and Save." To one of these 11 he is awarding $5. To the other 10 he is giving $1 each.

On the Classified Ad pages there is a list of the persons "Buttons" is paging today. Your name may be in this list. If it isn't there today, it may be there tomorrow. Watch this page and watch for "Buttons." He may ring your doorbell tomorrow.

NEW WOMEN'S STORE TO OPEN

Hailed as "something entirely new in Pittsburgh department store management," The Fashion, operating on a cash-and-carry basis, will open at 526 Penn avenue, tomorrow at 9 a. m.

The new store, devoted chiefly to women's apparel, will, by the elimination of expenses usually incurred by credit and delivery services, be able to offer better quality at less, according to its manager, Oscar Lager, former Pittsburgher, more recently connected with the Boston Store, Columbus, O.

To date, the new enterprise has brought employment to more than 50 persons in the Pittsburgh area, Lager said.

A complete line of women's apparel, girls' coats, dresses and shoes and boys' shoes will comprise the stock. In addition, a beauty salon will be maintained.

TABOR ASSAILS ENGLISH AGAIN

Edward O. Tabor, councilmanic candidate, repeated his charges of official dishonesty against Councilman W. Y. English, candidate for re-election, in an address last night.

Tabor said English favored letting the investigation of the Department of Supplies be conducted by the late Mayor Charles H. Kline, and Controller Bertram L. Succop. Council had no authority to turn the investigation over to Kline and Succop, when they were the accused persons, Tabor declared.

He included Mayor John S. Herron and Councilmen Harry A. Little and Clifford B. Connelley in his charges, asserting their action made them unfit for public office.

GIANTS FACE TOUGH TEST ON LAST WESTERN TRIP

SPORTS

By JAMES J. LONG

Meine Aid Against Giants. | Frisch Defends Red Trade.
Pirates Rout Three Aces. | Madigan's Huge Gridders.
Three Dual Bills in Row. | Moran in Star Parade.

HEINIE LEADS LOOP IN BEATING TERRYS

For a period of more than three months this season, the pitching of Heinie Meine was anything but impressive. From May 15 to August 29 he won only five games and went the distance only three times in 16 starts. Yet, but for the record of the veteran right-hander against the Giants, the Pirates today would not have been in a position to figure that they had a chance of overtaking the league leaders before the end of the race. For of Pittsburgh's nine victories over New York, Meine has pitched almost the majority, as yesterday's lopsided win was his fourth of the year at the expense of the Terrymen, including one in a relief role. Even in his long slump, two of his five triumphs during that off spell were scored over the first-placers.

Heinie Meine

You may be surprised to learn that Meine, who has allowed only two earned runs in three straight full games, has a better record against the Giants for 1933 than any other pitcher in the National League, but it's a fact. Only one other hurler, Dizzy Dean, of the Cardinals, has beaten New York four times, and Dean has lost three games to the Terrys, whereas Meine has lost only one. Ben Cantwell, of the Braves, with three wins to his credit, is the only flinger besides Meine and Dean who has defeated the Giants more than twice. Those who hold two decisions over New York are Larry French, Guy Bush, Lonnie Warneke, Bud Tinning, Tex Carleton, Bill Walker, Van Mungo, Fred Frankhouse and Ed Fallenstin.

In the matter of beating Giant pitchers, the Pirates have accomplished one of the outstanding batting feats of the year by knocking three of New York's four aces out of the box in one series. Carl Hubbell, Fred Fitzsimmons and Bud Parmalee all were shelled off the hill, each being forced to retire in the middle of an inning.

BOSTON CLUB IN TWO GREAT FLAG DRIVES

If the Boston Braves had carried through to success their late pennant rush this year it would have been the third sensational triumph of that kind for the same club, and not merely the second, as is generally believed. Though the drive of 1914 is famed in song and story as being without a parallel, H. D. Dewar, an old-time fan of Burbank, Cal., rises to remark that he personally saw the Boston Nationals pull a similar feat 'way back in 1883.

Dewar relates that the Boston club of 50 years ago started a drive from last place in July and continued to climb until a string of 12 straight wins put it in a tie with Chicago just before those two clubs met for four games in the final series of the season. Then, with Jim Whitney and Charley Buffington pitching, the Bostons went on to win all four games and the pennant. It was in one of those games that King Kelly, on second base for Chicago with one out, got away with his famous trick of cutting straight through the pitcher's box to score while the Boston players and the umpire were busy putting Cap Anson out at first base.

SEVEN TILTS WITH DODGERS IN FOUR DAYS

The Pirates' longest engagement with one club this season was a string of six straight games with the Cubs last month, interrupted by three open dates. They are booked to beat that and play the longest series of the season in either major loop, starting tomorrow, by meeting Max Carey's Dodgers seven times in four days.

Max Carey

There will be three double-headers in a row, and to make matters worse the clubs will have to spend two nights on railroad trains during the period of extra action. Following a twin bill here tomorrow afternoon, the Bucs and Dodgers will jump to Brooklyn for two games on Sunday, hopping right back again for a third dual card at Forbes Field on Monday and a single game on Tuesday. The tough stretch may leave the Rovers sort of frayed at the edges for the hard series of four games with the Braves that will start next Wednesday.

To avoid the playing of a second game in Brooklyn on Sunday, President Bill Benswanger offered to waive Pittsburgh's share of the receipts if the Brooklyn club would consent to stage the postponed game on an open date that was available during the August visit to Flatbush, but the Dodger owners insisted on the double-header.

FRISCH DENIES TRADE HURT SLAB STAFF

At first it was figured that the Derringer-Durocher trade had made the Cardinals by plugging the gap at shortstop. Some critics now contend that it sank the club, that it hurt the pitching staff, the Cards' best bet, because the loss of Derringer piled too much work on Dean and Carleton.

Frankie Frisch denies that. He says the pitching has been all right, that Dean and Carleton have not been overworked, and that the extra hurling they have done was at their own request. What really hurt the Redbirds, the manager adds, was the lack of one more good hitter, and while he doesn't mention any names, it isn't hard to guess that he thinks the trading of Chick Hafey last year was a fatal mistake.

MADIGAN HAS GIANT GRID TEAM ON COAST

One of the heaviest football teams in the country this year will be found at St. Mary's in California, the school for which Angel Brovelli starred before coming to the Pittsburgh pros.

From end to end Slip Madigan's Gaels will average 215 pounds, and the giant of the lot is a sophomore guard named Matt Brasnyo, weighing 245 pounds. John Yezerki, a tackle, stands 6 feet 4 inches and scales 238. The lightest back weighs 175 and the heaviest goes 200. And there are 16 letter men on the squad, including eight seniors. Howard Jones and his Trojans are worrying already about the game of October 14.

MORAN IN GATHERING OF OLD RING GREATS

Little has been heard of Frank Moran in recent months, but Pittsburgh's one-time heavyweight championship contender bobbed up at a boxing show in Los Angeles the other night to play a part in the presentation of one of the most notable gatherings of former fistic stars ever known in one ring. The ex-Pittsburgher, who fought Jack Johnson 20 rounds in Paris for the big title in 1914 and never collected a dime for the effort, and who also met Jess Willard in a 10 round no-decision bout in New York in 1916 when Willard was champion, was one of an unusual group to appear in the roped square as a special feature of the coast show.

Frank Moran

There were three former heavyweight champions in the parade in Jack Dempsey, Jess Willard and Jim Jeffries, and in addition to Moran the rest included Billy Papke, once middleweight titleholder; Jack Jeffries, brother of Jim, and several others of lesser note. Memories of a glorious bygone surged back to the fans as the ghosts of the past tramped the boards.

BRYAN GRANT, JR., OF ATLANTA, AND HIS VICTIM, ELLSWORTH VINES, JR., NATIONA SINGLES CHAMP, IN TITULAR TOURNAMENT . . . SCORES: 6-3 6-3, 6-3

SUTTER BEATS AUSSIE, VINES, ALLISON OUT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Clifford B. Sutter, of New Orleans, third ranking American tennis star, staged a brilliant rally this morning to overcome the sensational Vivian McGrath, Australian youngster famous for his two-fisted backhand, and gain the last quarter-final bracket in the national men's singles championship.

Starting where they left off when darkness interrupted the match last night, with McGrath leading, 3-1, on games in the final set, Sutter put on the pressure and captured the set, 8-6. This made the complete scores stand at 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6 in the southerner's favor.

OPPOSES CRAWFORD

Sutter's uphill triumph qualified him to play the Australian ace and No. 1 "seeded" foreign entry, Jack Crawford, late this afternoon.

Competition of the quarter-final brackets found five Americans, two Australians and one Englishman left in the battle for the national turf court title which Ellsworth Vines lost yesterday when eliminated in three straight sets by Bryan Grant, Jr., of Atlanta.

FAVORITES BEATEN

It was noteworthy that only one of the four top-ranking Americans remained in the tournament, an unprecedented development in the history of the tournament. Vines, Wilmer Allison and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., who ranked first, second and fourth last year, all were put out yesterday. Sutter, third on the list, had a close call before he downed McGrath in five brilliantly played sets.

Allison was put out by another Australian, Adrian Quist, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2, and Grant's victory over Vines was only slightly less decisive, the scores being 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Crawford put out Wood, 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 8-6, but Fred Perry, Britain's lone remaining representative, had to travel five sets to eliminate Keith Gledhill, 6-2, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3. Gregory Mangin contributed a major upset by putting out Jiro Satch, Japan's No. 1 player, 6-2, 2-6, 613, 4-6, 6-2.

Hines Takes Lead In Glens Falls Open

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Streaking home with a 68 in the closing hours of a day which saw par blasted five times and equaled four, Jimmy Hines, of Great Neck, L. I., led a record international field of 210 shotmakers through the first round of the fifth annual Glens Falls open yesterday.

Hines, semi-finalist in the 1933 National P. G. A. tourney, bagged four birdies and was over par on only one hole, the seventeenth. He displaced Joe Brennan, of Ambler, Pa.

Tied with Brennan, a virtual unknown among the nationally prominent linksmen were Walter Kozak, of Flushing, L. I., and Felix Serafin, of Scranton, Pa.

Grays Lose, 7 to 6, In Mushball Game

The Homestead Grays lost, 7-6, to the McKees Rocks Hunting and Fishing Club in a mushball game at the Homestead Athletic Field last night.

In two other games, the Homestead Millers defeated the Manhattan Club, 5-1, and the Braze team won over the M. J. Conleys, 10-4, for the Homestead district senior and junior titles, respectively.

Earlier, the Grays won two baseball games from the American Giants at Greenlee Field, 8-5 and 5-3.

BRUINS LOOM AS MENACE TO LEADERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The present western invasion of the league-leading Giants has nothing in common with a joy-ride; indeed, Bill Terry's fatigued soldiers look upon the tour as a perilous journey. The New Yorkers today were hoping for surcease from their pennant cares during the next four days which are to be spent in Cincinnati. But even the lowly Reds have been known to smite the big boys, so it behooves the pacesetters to stay on their toes else all may be lost.

With reinforcements coming to them from all points of the compass, the Giants will pull out of Pittsburgh late tonight for Redland, where they must play five games in four days, a bargain bill being slated for Sunday. A high spot of the invasion will then be met, for the New Yorkers must battle the ambitious Cubs in six games in four days at Chicago. Dual bills are scheduled there for Thursday and Saturday of next week.

BIG TEST IN CHICAGO

The Bruins are noted as tough hombres on their own park. They did a foldup act recently at the Polo Grounds, but at home they are mean as can be. From Chicago the Giants go further into the west, their next stop being St. Louis, where they will play three games. You will note, then, that they must play 19 games on their crucial tour.

When the Giants reach Cincy tomorrow they expect to be greeted by Chuck Dressen, former Red third sacker who has managed and played third for the Nashville club this season. Later they may pick up Recruit Hank Leiber, who is batting almost .400 for Memphis. Leiber is an outfielder.

The player-limit of baseball is off after September 1 each season; that is each club is allowed 40 players after that date. Memphis Bill will take advantage of the "break" to strengthen his fences for the final dash.

BUCS CRUSH LEADERS

The Giants were as pygmies in the hands of the stalwart Buccos yesterday. The Oaklanders floored Roy Parmelee, Dolf Luque and two other hurlers, as they rolled up double figuring in runmaking. The score of the game was 14 to 2, it being the third Pittsburgh success in four games played. The demoralizing defeat sustained by the Giants reduced their lead to five and one-half games.

Heinie Meine bewildered the Giants through nine rounds. Gus Suhr and Earl Grace smacked out homers in the heavy attack, Recruit Weintraub making a four-sacker for the Giants. Parmelee was shelled off the hill in the first inning when the Bucs made five runs. They picked up four more off Luque in the third.

CATHOLIC NINES MEET

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(INS.)—St. George's, the C. Y. O. champions of Louisville, Ky., will meet St. Adrian's, of Chicago, tomorrow afternoon at Comiskey Park for the National Catholic baseball championship sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization.

ENTITLED: WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF THIS, MY DEAR WATSON?

Finish of unusual double play as Pirates slaughtered the Giants at Forbes Field, 14 to 2. Travis Jackson opened the fourth inning with a single and Mancuso lined to Suhr, who trapped the ball, touched first, retiring Mancuso, and then threw to Shortstop Vaughan at second. Jackson had to be run down, Vaughan tossing back to Suhr and Suhr back to Vaughan, who chased Jackson almost back to first base before he tagged him. Meanwhile, Second Baseman Thevenow was at the left of first base, Catcher Grace was rushing to back up the play and Pitcher Meine and First Baseman Suhr are to be seen nowhere in this Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture. Rather odd, isn't it? At least it doesn't happen every day, and, therefore, it comes under the head of news.

SCOTT HIGH, UNIONTOWN BATTLE TONIGHT

S. HUNTINGDON, ELIZABETH IN OPENER

By JULIUS LEVIN

The lid on the local scholastic football campaign will be raised with appropriate ceremonies this afternoon and this evening when six schools swing into action in regularly scheduled contests.

Scott High School, of North Braddock, coached by Johnny Reed, will be host to the Uniontown High eleven, coached by A. J. Everhart, on the North Braddock field, the contest being a night affair. Scott High was one of the first schools in the district to install a lighting system for night games.

Out at Elizabeth High Field, scholastic fans will be given an opportunity to see a newcomer in W. P. I. A. L. ranks make its bow when South Huntingdon High, a class B member, sends tis eleven against Coach Byler's newly-built machine.

Braddock invades Erie for a night fray with Strong Vincent.

Injuries suffered in the practice sessions may cost Uniontown the services of three of its regular performers against Scott tonight. Trickett, who has been groomed to play either at guard or center, is suffering from a charley-horse and is a doubtful starter. Susano and Croushore, also heralded as regulars, likewise are incapacitated.

Coach Reed, of North Braddock, however, has warned his boys not to take the Fayette Countians too lightly.

Two more teams will swing into action tomorrow, Monaca and Apollo engaging in battles with alumni elevens.

School Notes

Harry Whitehill, coach at Etna High School, a class A member of the W. P. I. A. L., has two dates open on his schedule for class A schools, September 29 and October 27 are available for teams willing to play night ball. Write Coach Whitehill at Etna High School.

Albert Monaca, stellar lineman of the Peabody High eleven last fall, has decided to enroll as a student at St. Vincent College at Latrobe.

Ken Stilley, all-scholastic fullbauk on the Clairton High team, champion of the W. P. I. A. L. two years ago, is making a determined fight for a regular place on the Notre Dame varsity squad.

Jock Rosenberg, coach at Rankin High School, is having trouble filling his schedule. He would like to hear from all teams desiring games at home or abroad. Write him at Rankin High School.

Arthur Weigle, coach at Leetsdale High, has September 22-23, November 10-11 and November 17-18 available for games with class B teams. Write him at Leetsdale High School.

The lack of first-class ball carriers seems to be Bill Campbell's big problem in rebuilding the Homestead High eleven this fall. Coach Campbell must fill three places in the backfield.

Johnny Dreshar, former star at Carnegie Tech, has taken full charge of football activities at Tarentum High School. Dreshar lost little time in sending his charges through their first scrimmage.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE STRANGE FATE OF LIBBY PRISON—Inside the enclosure of massive stone walls representing the outworks of a medieval fortress, which is the Chicago Coliseum stands the famous old Confederate gaol notorious in the Civil War as the Libby Prison. More than 40,000 men were held prisoners in this building at one time. The grim structure remained in Richmond, Va., until 1888, when it was purchased by a syndicate, taken apart brick by brick and shipped to its present site at Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets, Wabash avenue, Chicago.

TOMORROW: THE LEG MYSTERY

BRUINS, CARDS CREEP UP ON TERRYMEN

Associated Press.

While the Pirates were reducing the Giants' lead in the National League race with a 14-2 victory over the Terrymen yesterday the Cubs and the Cardinals also took a few cuts at New York's edge, winding up 6½ and 8½ games behind, respectively. The Cubs edged out the Boston Braves, 2-1, in a duel between Lon Warneke and Dutch Brandt as Gabby Hartnett did all the Chicago scoring and Warneke lost a shutout through Wally Berger's twenty-sixth homer. The Cards walloped the Phillies, 10-1, behind Dizzy Dean for their thirteenth consecutive home victory under Frankie Frisch and moved into fourth place, a half-game ahead of the Braves.

Walter Beck gave the last-place Cincinnati Reds their twentieth shutout of the season as an eighth-inning rally against Red Lucas brought Brooklyn a 2-0 victory.

The New York Yankees finally nipped a game off Washington's American League lead as Lou Gehrig led them to a 12-8 victory over the St. Louis Browns, while Chicago's White Sox beat out the Senators, 1-0.

Philadelphia unveiled another rookie hurler, Johnny Marcum, from Louisville, who gave up five hits and beat the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 0. The Detroit-Boston clash was halted by wet grounds.

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—People often ask Uncle Nicholas just how the chain store system in baseball works. Well, you take Branch Rickey, of the St. Louis Cards, for instance. Branch opens his morning mail and get a report like this:

Nick Altrock

"Baseball Park No. 1142, East Burlap, Iowa. Players sold during fiscal week—1-3 doz. outfielders, 1-6 doz. battery men. Cash register reading at end of week, $118.42. Supply of shortstops not selling fast, so holding a clearing sale next month. Please send us small quantity of relief pitchers from your nearest warehouse. That last barrel of third basemen you shipped us leaked and half the order got away.

(Signed) "Elmer Glutz."
"Day Manager."

And that's the way the chain system works.

In the Middle Atlantic League, it's all over but the playoff, and that gets under way Sunday afternoon in Wheeling, with the Wheeling Stogies meeting Zanesville in the first clash of a seven-game series for the 1933 pennant.

Displaying the class that gave them the first-half pennant, Zanesville's Grays yesterday defeated the Dayton Ducks, 18 to 10, in the final fray of the season and hurdled into second place in the second-half standings.

LOCAL PLAYERS ON EAST NINE

Of the 17 players selected to represent the East against the West in the Negro diamond classic scheduled for Comiskey Park, Chicago, on Sunday, 10 are members of the two Pittsburgh teams, the Crawfords and Homestead Grays.

The Pittsburghers monopolized the nation-wide voting, Oscar Charleston, playing manager of the Crawfords, polling the greatest number of votes, 43,793.

LOCAL HURLERS NAMED

All four pitchers selected for the Eastern team are locals, Streeter, Paige and Hunter, of the Crawfords, and Britt, of the Grays, being chosen. Josh Gibson, of the Crawfords, will share the catching job with Mackey, of Philadelphia.

Charleston was the unanimous choice for the first base job, with Russell, of the Crawfords, at second. Wilson and Lundy, of Philadelphia, will be at shortstop and third base, with Scales, of the Black Yankees, the utility man.

In the outfield will be Harris, of the Grays; Bell and Page, of the Crawfords, and Dixon, of Philadelphia.

DORMONT, BOOKS TIE

The Dormont and Book nines battled to a 6-6 tie in the second game of the City League championship playoff series at Olympia Park last evening. The contest was called at the end of the sixth inning due to darkness.

Books won the first game at Dormont Wednesday. The next game will be played at Olympia Park next Monday evening. The score:

SPORT VIGNETTES

When the local boxing fans see Antol Kocsis, of Hungary, battle Mose Butch, local southpaw featherweight, at Hickey Park, Millvale, next Monday night, they will be gazing upon the young man who won the Olympic Games flyweight championship at Amsterdam in 1928, a fellow who, if history repeats, should go on to win a world professional title.

The two immediate predecessors of Kocsis as Olympic flyweight champions won world championships . . . They were Frankie Genaro (1920) and Fidel La Barba (1924), both of the United States . . . They gained the laurels in the flyweight class both as amateurs and pros.

Antol Kocsis

Some famous professional boxers have graduated from the ranks of the Olympic champions . . . Jackie Fields, featherweight champion in 1924, went on to win the world welterweight title twice . . . Bep Van Klaveren, of Holland, the 1928 Olympic featherweight champion, is now a leading welterweight campaigning out of New York.

Eddie Eagan, the 1920 light-heavyweight champion, might have won the world heavyweight title if he had cared to go into the professional end of the sport . . . Otto Von Porat, of Norway, the 1924 heavyweight champion, has been a prominent contender as a professional.

With their early start, half of those Duquesne University players ought to have their letters won before Pitt and Carnegie Tech swing into action this fall. . . . Speaking of the Dukes' early start, which, by the way, will be one week from tonight against Waynesburg, the ticket prices for their games show a considerable reduction. . . . Box seats will continue to sell for $2.20, but at four games, with Waynesburg, West Virginia Wesleyan, Westminster and Geneva, reserved seats will be available at $1.10, while they will cost $1.65 for the games with West Virginia University, Bucknell, Western Maryland and Detroit University. . . . The unreserved seats at all games are 85 cents.

Bayuk's Guarantee means today exactly what it meant on January 3rd

The Bayuk "Phillies" you buy today for 5c is the same fine cigar—with the same ripe tobacco—as when it was the largest-selling 10c brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees it—the same guarantee we gave Bayuk "Phillies" smokers in January when the price on this famous 10-cent cigar was cut in half. Bayuk pledges further that—despite rising costs—this quality will not be changed.

We can't tell you that Bayuk "Phillies" is certain to please your taste. But we can tell you that it is pleasing the tastes of more smokers than any other cigar in America.

Men are demanding more than a million Bayuk "Phillies" a day. Wherever introduced—it is the most popular cigar on the market.

Ask any dealer what cigar his customers like best. Ask him what cigar he smokes himself. He knows tobacco—and he knows good cigars.

Bayuk's Guarantee

In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Havana and Domestic long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

HOCKEY REVIVAL OFF

GARDEN MAKES NO BID FOR FRANCHISE

The Harris Amusement Company, operator of Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh's only indoor hockey arena, will not be represented at the International Hockey League meeting to be held at London, Ontario, tomorrow.

Company officials are convinced that only minor league hockey could be made to pay here with the hockey facilities now available, and they today expressed themselves as equally certain that the owners of the Pittsburgh franchise in the National League would block any effort to return an International League team to this city while the big league franchise is not being operated.

The Harris concern is contemplating "sounding out" the league officials by wire regarding their attitude toward Pittsburgh as an International loop member, but no real success is anticipated until the National Leaguers alter their stand.

It appears that Pittsburgh hockey in 1933-34 will be limited to a revival of the scholastic league which was organized last winter.

CHABOT RETIRES

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Lorne Chabot, veteran goal tender of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Professional Hockey League, announced today he had retired from sport to devote his entire efforts to his dairy business here.

FRANCIS LALLY GOLF LEADER

Piling up a 4-up lead over Mike Galido, defending titleholder, at the end of the first 18 holes of the 36-hole final match for the city golf championship, Francis Lally was in a fine position to clinch the laurels in the second 18 holes being played over the Schenley Park layout this afternoon.

Lally turned in a fine medal score of 66 to obtain his big advantage over the defending championship. He took a 33 on his outward trip and returned in the same number of strokes.

Galido was four strokes above this mark, requiring a 70 for his 18 holes. He took 34 strokes out and was two above this figure on his homeward trek. The cards:

Lally's card:

Out	443	434	344—33
In	344	433	435—33—66

Galido's card:

Out	454	434	344—34
In	444	444	444—36—70

Galido went into the final round virtue of a well-earned victory over Marty Boschert in the semi-final round, 4 and 2.

Lally played the greatest two rounds of his career to defeat Carl Kauffmann, the County Parks champion, 7 and 5. Kauffmann never had a chance.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Baby Arizmendi vs. Chris Pineda, 10 rounds, Hollywood, Cal.

GRAPHIC GOLF

DEVELOP FEEL OF CLUBHEAD IN SWING

In the average golfer the matter of swing mechanics, such as the proper action of the hands, wrist and feet, often has shoved aside the actual part the clubhead plays in the swing or the relation of these members with it. The actual speed of the clubhead is motivated by the centrifugal force exerted by the different muscles of the entire body and applied through the hands. The whole process should be clear in mind for the best results, but, unfortunately, this is not always the case. Making oneself aware of the part the clubhead plays in the swing will help considerably. One thus can cultivate the feel of the clubhead during the arc not unlike the feeling of a skilled workman as he swings the sledge at a wedge. One can visualize that Mac Smith has this quality down to a science in the illustration above.

At Sioux Falls, S. D.—Johnny Martin defeated Irish Kennedy, 6 rounds; Bobby O'Dowd and Wayne (Kid) Sweay drew, 2 rounds; Johnny Stanton knocked out Red Adair, first round.

At New York—Skippy Allen won on technical knockout over Routier Parra, 5 rounds.

Jones Hails Newman As Best Quarter

By HOWARD JONES
Member, All America Board of Football

Before reviewing the 1933 prospects of the various Pacific Coast teams perhaps our readers would welcome a brief reference to the Century of Progress football game, recently played at Chicago between a team of Pacific Coast players and an eastern team coached by Dick Hanley, of Northwestern University.

The East won this game by the margin of one touchdown, due chiefly to the superb playing of Harry Newman, Michigan's All-America quarterback of 1932. His brilliant and consistent returning of punts for long yardage and his exceptional ability in forward passing would bring thrills to any spectator—or even to a coach!

Living in another section of the country and denied the opportunity of seeing publicized players of another section perform, partisanship to our own players is the natural thing. The Middle West can boast of Newman as the best quarterback of the year.

Howard Jones

When I selected the team from the West, Morley Drury, formerly All-America quarterback at University of Southern California, volunteered his services. I was surprised and skeptical. Drury had not played in a single game in the past six years, but his recent performance was evidence that All-America players, who live correctly, need not wither and grow senile when their football days are over.

Coaches of rival colleges seldom mix with players of opposing teams, and it was a delight to me to handle boys of California, Stanford, Washington, St. Mary's, Santa Clara and other schools and find such a splendid spirit amongst them.

That ball game at Chicago proved another thing—the public wants its football. The attendance, which exceeded 50,000 people, was clear proof that interest in the game has not lessened and that we can expect to see large crowds this year. But the business end of the game must keep the ticket prices down.

Now for the Pacific Coast and what's on the football horizon. We Southern California Trojans will learn much about Coast teams as we meet all the squads with the best records of the past few years.

LOYOLA TOUGH FOE

Loyola University, a small college in Los Angeles, meets my team on the second Saturday of the season and anyone who calls that a "breather" will please refer to the record book for 1932. Score: Trojans 6, Loyola 0.

On the third Saturday we meet Washington State College. Babe Hollingsbery always has a good team and visiting coaches tell me they are going to be strong this year even though they lost Sander, their best back.

St. Mary's College comes next. I only hope that the Gaels who were the last to beat us (1931) will not be the first to break our present string of victories. Although he lost some key men Madigan will have a good team and the word is out that St. Mary's will show real offense this year. Madigan's teams are always powerful on defense.

Oregon State College is an unknown quantity. They have big boys up there. Stiner who aided Paul Schisler for many years will be head coach. But keep your eye on the Golden Bears. Bill Ingram at California is due to show one of the strongest contenders for Conference leadership. The Trojans play them at Berkeley and that game is never noted for its gentleness. Ingram is a canny coach and will have fine material to work with. He lost good men in Gill, guard; Tozer at tackle and Schaldach, a star halfback, but they tell me his replacements are making Bill smile. One boy who has been getting considerable mention on the coast is Blower from Santa Ana. He is booked to fully replace Hank Schaldach's place, but that's a large order. Christy at center and Ransome at left tackle, have shown themselves to belong in the top flight.

STANFORD COACHES BUSY

What will Tiny Thornhill produce at Stanford? That's the query of the hour out here. Tiny, an old Pittsburgh player, has been assisting Warner ever since Pop went to the coast. Stanford was represented by a spirited, smooth running freshman team last fall and Grayson and Hamilton, two stellar backs, should be tough youngsters to stop. One thing I do know about Stanford—the new coaches have been pounding the boys with fundamentals!

Jimmy Phelan at the University of Washington had a formidable team last season. The loss of Buffkin is Jimmy's worst worry. He was a powerful, first-class fullback and easterners will have the satisfaction of seeing him play for the Army.

At the University of Southern California we should have a good team because while the coach is supposed to be a melancholy man, I am happy to confess that we suffered less from graduation than any other squad on the coast. We did lose three splendid players in Sparling at end and Smith and Brown, our two big tackles. Bob Erskine, who played tackle with Ernie Smith two years ago, will be moved to left tackle to fill Tay Brown's shoes. He weighs well over 200 pounds and should be able to meet all requirements. The other tackle position will be filled by George Lady or by Harper, a reserve for Smith last year. Harper is best known as the lad who threatened to take first place in the shot in the National collegiate meet at Chicago, until a boy from Louisiana came along and spoiled the picture.

Tomorrow — Hunk Anderson, Notre Dame coach.

SEEDED STARS CLASH TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Bracket two matches dominate this afternoon's card of action in the third annual Allegheny Country Club invitation turf court men's doubles net tourney. All four seeded pairs are slated for battle today, Dr. Dave and Dr. John O'Loughlin, first on the list, opposing Bob Lampus and Paul Sullivan; Frank Broida and Irvin Goodman meeting E. A. Knoepe and Carlton Hughes; B. F. Arkle and Wright Hugus, Wheeling duo encountering Chuck and Jimmy Arensberg, and Billy O'Loughlin and Wally Arensberg taking on Hub Rinehart and Don Mattern.

Favored duets came through inaugural tilts yesterday as seven scheduled contests were disposed of. Broida and Goodman accounted for Jack Schroeder and James Higgins right neatly, 6-2, 6-4, as O'Loughlin and Arensberg tripped the home club outfit, Bill Doolittle and Pearce Wright, 6-4, 6-1. The speedy Rockwood youngsters, Ralph Bald and Bob Grier, registered the day's nearest approach to an upset by out-volleying Van Glidden and George Henderson, hard-hitting Stanton Heights veterans, 6-3, 6-4.

One of the most promising tussles of the Allegheny conclave is booked for 5:30 today, when the University Clubbers, Frank McClintock and Frank White, engage Dave Devlin and Junior Kunkle, Westmont lads and holders of the Southern Pennsylvania dual crown.

HORSE 'DOPING' WAR WAGED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Adoption of the regulations in effect at French race tracks to prevent the "doping" of race horses is recommended for courses of this country by Harry J. Anslinger, commissioner of narcotics.

The use of narcotics on horses has been brought to light in a campaign against the practice which has resulted in over 50 arrests in eight months.

Anslinger said the bureau considered the French regulations the most effective of any and expressed the belief their adoption in this country would end "doping."

The regulations provide that racing commissioners at any track may at the end of each race select any horse for a saliva test. The test is given immediately by a track veterinarian in the presence of the owner or his representative and the specimen taken is sent to a chemist employed to make analyses. The regulations provide air-tight precautions against switching specimens or other irregularities.

Most of the "doping" is done to stimulate horses rather than to slow them down, narcotic agents have found.

LAYDEN LAUDS RADO, BENCHES M'DONALD

By JESS CARVER

If you are adept at gate crashing, or have a stand-in with Elmer Layden, you might pay a visit to the Duquesne University practice field on the Bluff today, for there will be some gridiron pyrotechnics set off behind the Dukes' closely barred gates.

Today is the day Coach Elmer and Joe Bach have picked to select a tentative varsity and starting lineup. The opening game of the season is only a week away, and to date the coaches have not been satisfied with the way in which matters have been progressing.

M'DONALD BENCHED

For example, yesterday it was found necessary to bench Jim McDonald, crack halfback, who had been shifted from left to right halfback. The right halfback post in most football systems, and particularly in the Notre Dame style of attack, calls for a good blocker. McDonald has been showing up well as a blocker, but yesterday, when called upon to lug the ball, he went completely sour, fumbling almost every time he got his mitts on the oval. So he was given a seat on the sidelines.

George Rado, husky Brookfield lad, is about the only man who, according to Layden, has clinched his position. He's been handling the left guard position vacated when Nick DeCarbo was graduated, and has been filling it with class. There are three or four other lads, of course, who are more or less set, but Rado is the only one Layden has openly complimented.

A definite lineup will be worked out today in order that the coaches may polish it up between now and next Friday and the inaugural with Waynesburg.

The drills at Tech are getting tougher and tougher as the days go by. Coaches Harpster and Lovewell right now are concerned primarily with getting their athletes into condition. There is no excess of weight on the Carnegie squad, save in the case of Joe Mihm, the big fullbacker, who weighs about a pound less than a fire truck. The rest of the boys could use some extra poundage.

The battle for line positions already is under way, especially for the guard and tackle jobs. Heinzer, Anderson, Bunny O'Burzio and Dreshar are neck and neck in the tussle for the guard posts, with Nutter, Doloway, Croft and Forsman casting covetous eyes on the tackles. Forsman, a regular last year, is expected to have difficulty in standing off the challenge of Doloway. Nutter is causing Croft the same amount of worry.

The Tipoff

Freddie Milanovich, who starred for Nate Lippe's Aliquippa High School basketball team in 1932, '31 and '30, has departed for Bloomington, Ind., where he is to enroll at Purdue University. Milanovich captained the 1932 and '31 quintets and was the leading scorer each year.

The training seasons at Bethany, Grove City and Thiel will not get under way until next week. The Bisons, under John Knight, will get going Monday; Thiel will see action September 13, and Grove City September 18.

Luby DiMeolo, former Pitt star and for the past three years line coach at N. Y. U., departs today or tomorrow for New York, where he'll accompany the Violet varsity squad to its training camp at Lake Sebago, N. Y., next Monday. The squad is to report to Coach Howard Cann Sunday.

The Navy becomes the first major league eleven to suffer the loss of a varsity player. Coach Rip Miller yesterday was informed that Bill Brooks, husky tackle, would not be available for the Middie team. Brooks developed ear trouble during the summer and the medicos have put the old cross-out mark on him.

HENRI COCHET, great French tennis star, will pair with MARTIN PLAA, French professional, against BILL TILDEN and BRUCE BARNES, American professionals, in a series of matches, but will not accept pay for his services, even though he automatically will forfeit his amateur standing.

MISS ENID WILSON, British women's golf champion, yesterday reiterated her determination to retire from competitive golf as MRS. GLENNA COLLETT VARE, five times United States champion, announced her return to tournament play.

W. R. THOMSON, of Glasgow, who lost an arm in the service of his king, yesterday won the first one-armed golf tournament ever held, scoring 82-87—169 from a field of British army veterans at Edinburgh, Scotland.

MISS BONNIE MILLER and MISS FRANCES HERRON, of California, clash today in the final round of the annual girls' national tennis championships in Philadelphia.

JACK KELLOR, pro, and P. E. THOMAS, of the Meadville Country Club, had a best-ball card of 69 to win top honors in the pro-amateur tournament staged at the Kahkwa Country Club, Erie, yesterday.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have recalled PITCHERS RAY PHELPS, LEFTY PERKINS and OUTFIELDER LON KOENECKE, who will report to the Dodger training camp in Miami, Fla., next spring.

PITCHER CLAY BRYANT, shifted to the outfield for the final game of the season by the Zanesville Greys of the Mid-Atlantic League, hit three home runs, a double and a single as the Greys defeated the Dayton Ducks at Zanesville last night, 18 to 10.

Forbes

One Very Big Employer on 'Boot-Straps'

By B. C. FORBES

ONE OF America's very largest industrial employers writes:

Mr. Forbes

"With you I have always believed that there can be no such thing as prosperity without profits in business. There is a fundamental weakness in the 'boot-strap' method—the boot-straps themselves may be strong enough but the lifting power too weak. Somewhere in the process values have to be created, and to accomplish the creation of values there must be an opportunity for the making of profits."

Business and industry could no more be maintained without profit than a working force could be maintained without wages.

President Roosevelt could do much to stem the spreading misconception that neither NRA nor any other governmental agency now laying down the law need give a single thought to the feasibility of profits. This misconception, if permitted to spread far enough, might culminate disastrously.

THE PRESIDENT could render no more invaluable service at this juncture than make a very plain, very elementary, very convincing talk designed to give the people an understanding of the facts.

Should enough people, enough voters, become convinced that the day for permitting business to be done at a profit has passed, then they would logically plump for an entirely different economic system—whether Socialism, Fascism, Communism, or what, no mortal would attempt to foretell.

A fitting slogan for educational effort on this fundamentally important subject might be:

"No profit, no pay."

Until this basic fact is grasped throughout the land, employers cannot be blamed for feeling apprehensive.

Mr. President, please set the country straight.

THIS SHOWS why NRA should co-operate rather than coerce; many employes who formerly were given public holidays were informed this week that, no work having been done on Labor Day, they would have to work on Saturday.

Since they have been compelled to comply with NRA's commands regarding wages and work-hours, some employers feel that it is no longer incumbent upon them to do one iota more for workers than is prescribed in the code imposed on them.

This attitude may not be noble, but is it altogether unnatural?

ALL INFLUENTIAL citizens in all cities have not lost favor. In various communities the unprecedented troubles of the last two years have brought to the front men, usually business leaders, who have rendered yeoman public-spirited service and have won deep gratitude.

The people of Buffalo are rejoicing over what several influential citizens have done to insure retention and development of a cherished, universally-known local industry, Pierce Arrow.

Control was obtained some five years ago by A. R. Erskine, then head of Studebaker, and for some time, in view of conditions, there had been uneasiness over what might befall Pierce Arrow.

Banker George F. Rand, mainspring of the widely-ramified Marine Trust Company, stepped forward, enrolled the co-operation of associates, raised the capital necessary to buy control from Studebaker and to instal a sound capital structure for Pierce Arrow, and announced that both management and control will in future be in local hands.

This is the kind of service everybody in a community appreciates.

INCIDENTALLY, Studebaker itself has risen out of red ink, has greatly increased sales and is being pushed vigorously ahead by the aggressive, practical, go-getting, youngish receivers now at the throttle.

ONE CITY is fortunate in having a live business progress association, Philadelphia. This city ranks as the third largest manufacturing center in the United States, with a 1931 total production of $1,875,000,000. Philadelphia's decrease is appreciably less than the national average.

Often more valuable than abundant resources and geographical advantages is a handful of brainy citizens vigilantly working for community progress and prosperity.

GUSHERS FLOW UNDER NRA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Many of the midcontinent's largest oil gushers flowed today under state orders for sharply reduced allowables allocated by the National Recovery Administration's oil code committee.

Laying down specific allocations for all prorated fields, to reduce the state's total daily allowable production from 601,500 to 540,000 barrels, Oklahoma's Corporation Commission set the pace with a temporary order effective at 7 a. m. today.

For Texas, the only state having a larger production than Oklahoma, a 25 per cent reduction to a state allowable of 975,200 barrels daily was ordered this week, to be effective today, by the Texas Railroad Commission, which will hold a statewide hearing September 16 to discuss field allowables.

Kansas, said Chairman Homer Koch, of the Kansas Corporation Commission, will co-operate in every respect to hold the state's daily flow to the prescribed 111,000 barrels.

To the west, California was represented by State Oil Umpire J. R. Pemberton as ready to put into effect today the NRA program, which calls for daily state production of 480,000 barrels, 21,000 over the State Control Board's figure but about 20,000 barrels under actual production.

STOCK TRADING LIGHT, PRICES IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Only faint sparks of life were discernible in the financial markets today and prices, as a whole, were inclined to drift over a moderately irregular course.

Trading in stocks was largely of a professional character, with the public generally maintaining the utmost indifference so far as new commitments are concerned. There was a scarcity of offerings as well as bids. The government's cotton report was about in line with expectations and that staple did little. Grains were rather heavy at one time as the dollar advanced against sterling and the European gold currencies. Secondary railway bonds were under pressure.

With the exception of Union Pacific, which dropped about 5 points, carrier shares held fairly steady. Some of the oils improved, with Seaboard and Standards of New Jersey and California moving up fractionally to about a point. American Telephone, United States Smelting, Homestake, Industrial Rayon were around a point higher. American Can, United States Steel, General Motors, Case, National Distillers, Chrysler and others fluctuated narrowly.

Announcement that Saturday sessions of the stock exchange would be resumed tomorrow was not received with any great enthusiasm by the majority of brokers. It was pointed out that, with existing business below profit levels, the two-hour proceedings would hardly pay for keeping the board rooms open. It was thought, in some quarters, that when the various wrinkles of the exchange code are ironed out, there might be a return to the five-day week.

Despite growing doubts as to the ability of the market to break out of the rut in the near future, optimism was still leading pessimism by several laps. Week-end trade reviews sounded another cheerful note. Dun & Bradstreet found that retail sales were progressing "unmindful of the general lifting of price levels." The covering of deferred necessities alone, it was said, has been so insistent that the price factor has lost some of its former importance in the selection of merchandise.

The report on freight car loadings for the week ended September 2, which will appear tomorrow, is expected to be highly satisfactory. In some quarters it is estimated that the aggregate may top the previous 1933 peak reached in the July 22 week. The anticipated improvement in traffic is attributed largely to a sharp gain in the demand for both bituminous and anthracite coal in anticipation of higher prices following an agreement on the code. The price of hard coal was increased September 1.

GRAIN PRICES AGAIN SAG

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Fresh downturns in grain values took place early today, notwithstanding reports of precarious crop conditions for wheat in Argentina because of drought. New buying power failed to develop volume, despite diminishing domestic spring wheat receipts and the smallest winter wheat movement in years. Opening ⅛ to ¾ down, wheat afterward sagged further. Corn started ⅝ off to ⅛ up, and subsequently declined all around.

December wheat dropped to 84¾ cents, equaling the inside figures of last week, when prices were the lowest since June. At 84¾ cents for Chicago December contracts, enough buying developed to rally the market about 1 cent. Corn and oats followed wheat closely. Provisions went lower with grains, although hog values were firm.

PACKERS URGE PACT O. K.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—Quick approval of the proposed marketing agreement for the meat industry was urged today by leading packers at an agricultural adjustment administration hearing on the ground that it would benefit the industry generally, as well as the producers.

The first witness was Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., of Chicago, who represented the committee of four of the Institute of American Meat Packers. He said:

"We feel that the consumer must have our best consideration, as well as the producer.

"By this agreement we can eliminate a number of expensive items that do no good either to the producer or the consumer."

The committee of four, he said, represents 85 to 90 per cent of the total slaughter of cattle, hogs and sheep.

LAW ASSAILED BY BANKERS TO BE ENFORCED

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—In spite of the vigorous protests by the American Bankers' Association, whose fifty-ninth annual convention ended here yesterday, the administration is going ahead with preparations to carry out the deposit insurance feature of the Glass - Steagall act.

Mr. Rukeyser

As a matter of fact, it does not seem clear how President Roosevelt could follow the bankers' advice for postponement even if he were disposed to do so. The language of the act appears to make compliance with temporary insurance beginning next January mandatory.

It has been suggested by the critics that the creation of the machinery might be held up through litigation. Of course, if converted, the President could call a special session of Congress to modify the section, but the announcement of administration plans were by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, indicates he has no intention of doing so.

DIRECTORS NAMED

Mr. O'Connor braved the lion's den, and undertook to defend the policy of deposit insurance despite the strong expressions of opposition which had already been made by the bankers.

Incidentally, Mr. O'Connor formally announced that Walter Joseph Cummings, executive assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, a Chicagoan and former business associate of Secretary Woodin, and E. G. Bennett, of Ogden, Utah, a banker, had been chosen by the President to serve with him as directors of the newly created Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Besides getting the lowdown on deposit insurance, the bankers in the final session approved a final code under the NRA, which, when accepted by the President, will supersede the temporary code, which deals only with hours and wages. Hearings on the code will start at Washington, September 18.

PRACTICES REGULATED

The permanent code also includes trade practices. For example, it forbids interest on demand deposits even by non-member state banks, which are exempt from the provisions of the Glass-Steagall act. The permanent code makes allowance for sectional differences in wages, and also provides for special rulings when peak transactions are necessary.

No banking employe is to work more than 40 hours a week normally. Of course, the customers never knew that bank workers toiled that long, thinking that they start when the teller's window opens at 9 and quit when it closes at 3.

Minimum wages run from $12 to $15 a week, depending on the size of the cities. Incidentally, bank employes at these wages are expected to bear all the outward appearance of affluence.

CHECKING CHARGE RULES

The fair practice code provides that local associations of banks adopt uniform rules concerning service charges to be levied against small checking accounts with inadequate balances.

F. M. Law, president, First National Bank of Houston, Tex., who was elected president of the American Bankers' Association, in his inaugural speech sought to emphasize points of agreement with the administration rather than points of agreement. He said:

"The new administration of the American Bankers' Association, on this, its first day in office, pledges the government at Washington its wholehearted and loyal support in the herculean efforts that are just now in the making to put more people to work and to raise wage levels."

U. S. TREASURY OFFERS 'SWAP'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—To those who hold federal certificates of indebtedness maturing September 15, the Treasury has offered to swap a new issue of such securities.

This represented an innovation in Treasury financing. In the past, whenever it has become necessary to retire maturing government securities, a new issue has been offered for cash and the cash used in turn to meet the maturing issue.

If holders of the certificates coming due September 15 object to the exchange there is money in the Treasury ot buy their holdings.

About $220,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness fall due September 15 together with $45,000,000 in interest payments on the public debt.

The issue of $30,000,000 of collateral trust debentures of the intermediate credit banks has been heavily oversubscribed.

Wall Street Vet Plans Comeback

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—George M. Pynchon, formerly head of the brokerage firm of Pynchon & Co., which failed in 1931, is to re-enter the brokerage business under his own name, it was made known here today.

Pynchon has been identified with Wall street for half a century. His old firm did an international business, operating branch offices in England and on the continent as well as in principal financial centers of this country.

Less New Money In Hands of Public

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—The new paper currency authorized by the emergency banking bill, has slumped off to the extent that there was only $132,687,000 in actual circulation as of the close of business September 6.

To date $154,389,000 of the new money has been issued, but $21,702,000 was held in the vaults of the issuing banks.

All of the central banks are employing the new money with the exception of Richmond, which has had none issued to it. The New York Federal Reserve banks has employed $63,510,000, while $33,195,000 has been issued to the Reserve Bank at Chicago.

RESERVE BANK CREDIT GAINS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP.)—The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ended September 6, as reported by the Federal Reserve Banks, was $2,304,000,000, an increase of $37,000,000, compared with the preceding week, and a decrease of $26,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1932.

On September 6, total reserve bank credit amounted to $2,330,000,000, an increase of $32,000,000 for the week. This increase corresponded with increases of $56,000,000 in money in circulation and $12,000,000 in member banks reserve balances, offset in part by an increase of $11,000,000 in treasury currency, adjusted, and a decrease of $25,000,000 in unexpended capital funds, non-member deposits, etc.

Bills discounted decreased $3,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, $2,000,000 each at Boston, New York and Philadelphia and $8,000,000 at all Federal Reserve Banks. The system's holdings of bills bought in open market and of United States bonds showed virtually no change for the week.

Holdings of United States Treasury notes increased $14,000,000 and of Treasury certificates and bills, $23,000,000.

Investment Counsel—
Racket or Boon
To Thrifty

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

(This is the third of a series of articles discussing the rise of investment counselors, their value to investors, and the weakness and abuses threatening this form of investment service.)

THE GIVING OF satisfactory investment counsel service is not a simple matter. The service cannot be standardized. Each client must be considered from the standpoint of his individual situation. If the service is to be worth anything a great amount of time must be spent on each list of investments and this attention must be continuous.

It is quite apparent that if proper attention is to be given to the individual client by men of experience, a fairly substantial charge in proportion to the investment holdings must be made. If the service is of the proper kind this charge will be justified.

An offer to provide investment counsel service for a fee of nominal proportions should be viewed with some degree of skepticism since expert statisticians and investment analysists cannot be hired for a pittance and if the fee is too small it will be quite probable that the client's holdings will get a mere lick and promise instead of painstaking consideration by competent men.

Careful Analysis Of Holdings Needed

IN GOOD INVESTMENT counsel procedure, the list of a client's holdings is first broken down into groups to determine whether or not he has proper diversification between the various types of industries, and between fixed income and equity securities. No fixed rule can be laid down as to the proper proportions of diversification. The proportions must be determined in accordance with the circumstances and position of the client.

After the analysis has gone this far and a decision has been reached as to the percentage of the investment which should be in utilities, railroads, industrials, bonds and stocks, it must be determined whether or not there is proper diversification of individual companies. The investment counsel then considers the individual holdings and decides which should be retained and which should be traded into holdings which will provide a satisfactory degree of diversification. The counselor then makes his recommendations.

Constant Check Is Essential

THE INVESTMENT counselor's job does not stop with his original recommendations. Constantly changing conditions make frequent reviews of holdings essential. New developments may make the stock or bond which was desirable last month of questionable value today. To perform his functions properly the investment counselor must be constantly on the alert. He must be in touch with every phase of finance and industry so that he can recommend changes in his clients' holdings before serious damage is done.

The magnitude of this task makes the service expensive, but if it is provided in the proper manner it should be well worth the cost.

AUTO EXPORTS SHOW GAIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—July automotive exports from the United States were the highest since May, 1932. Shipments of passenger cars, trucks and miscellaneous products amounted to $7,756,546, a gain of 7 per cent over June and 15 per cent over July, 1932, the Commerce Department reports.

The improvement over the June figure was due entirely to a strengthened demand for passenger cars and trucks, amounting to $4,198,812, an increase of $562,374, whereas miscellaneous products registered a loss of $18,960, the department reports.

It adds that this is the first instance since 1928 when July automotive exports exceeded the June total.

A New and Thrilling Story of Mystery and Romance

By ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE

that won those cases. They were won before the trials began. Your investigations had conclusively proved to you that your clients were innocent of those particular crimes. And that's why I want you, Jack."

"I'm a lawyer, not a detective," he replied.

"You're both, but you're greater as a detective, Jack, you're not going to let a mean little pride prevent you from helping me?"

He stared at her. No one could have made it clearer to him how far he had sunk in the estimation of respectable people. Because he had deliberately elected a certain branch of the law, Siddall's lawyers didn't want him associated with them, even in a case outside their experience. But it was Sue who asked.

"No, I'm not. I'll do the best I can for you, Sue. Now, tell me what there is to be told. I know only what the early editions of the afternoon papers say."

"There isn't any more than that. There was a party at Crelliman's penthouse."

Becomes Harsh

"My valet tells me there was a party at this penthouse, too, last night," he said. "Mine, fortunately, ended in no greater tragedy than that two young ladies were refused permission to take my piano away with them."

Sue looked at him. "You've changed, Jack."

He bowed mockingly. "I salute the maker of the change."

She shook her head. "I didn't make it; you made it. And oh, Jack, how happy I am that you did! If you hadn't—they're so sure Tom killed her. I heard about it at eight this morning. Already his lawyers are talking about emotional insanity. They're convinced he did it and did it deliberately. But I know he didn't. Jack, what will you do first?"

"Take you home," he replied.

She shook her head impatiently. "I'm all right; I can take myself home. What will you do?"

He looked at her pityingly. "Everything that can possibly be done. You leave it to me."

"But you won't keep me in suspense? You'll let me hear from you?"

"Don't be a silly little thing. Of course I'll let you know everything that goes on. You say you can go home by yourself? Then go along, will you?"

She stared at him in surprise. His manner had become crisp and his voice harsh. It seemed to her, as she looked at him, that he was suddenly unaware of her presence, or realized it merely as a faint obstruction to his mental vision. He turned away and walked abruptly to a telephone. He asked for a number.

Rebukes Girl

"Gazotti? Durant speaking. You said you owed me plenty that money wouldn't pay. I want to collect. How soon can you meet me and where?" He glanced over his shoulder at the girl; he frowned almost angrily. "Connolly's? Six-thirty? I'll be there." He hung up and looked at the girl. "I thought I told you to go home."

"What can Gazotti do?" she asked.

He shrugged his shoulders. "How do I know? I have to begin somewhere, and I want to know all there is to be known about Crelliman. That's as good a start as any. Now, will you please run along?"

"There was one more thing I wanted to ask you. I want you to forgive me, Jack."

"And what particular bit of hurt vanity will be assuaged if I forgive you?" he blazed. "What do you care whether or not I forgive you so long as I do what you want? Isn't it enough that I'll do it? Of course I don't forgive you. What sort of man do you think I am? You have the insolence to direct the road my feet shall travel. You have the impertinence to tell me that the career I select for myself isn't nice enough to please your ladylike instincts. You're weak enough to place an alleged respectability above what you call love. It wasn't much of a love at that. It died in a few weeks. But I suppose it was all that a girl like you was able to feel."

She whitened. "Jack," she breathed, "you speak as though you hated me."

"My God, you don't expect me to talk as though I loved you, do you? Or is your conceit so great that you think affection for you can outweigh knowledge of your pettiness? And why do you make me rude, anyway?"

"I'm sorry. I suppose I don't deserve your forgiveness. I'm afraid I hurt you terribly."

His lips curled as he shook his head. "I don't suppose it has occurred to you that if you can forget me and fall in love with someone else, it might be possible for me to do a similar thing. I love your confidence in your own lasting attraction."

Favors Rudeness

The eyes that met his gleamed with anger. "I suppose I invited such rudeness."

"You asked for it, but I shouldn't have been guilty of it. But I can't help wanting to disabuse your mind of any feeling that you wreaked irremediable injury on me. Men have died, Sue, and worms have eaten them, but not for love, you know. And now, will you run along?"

Pallor had left her cheek to be replaced by an angry blush. She stared at him a moment, then turned and walked to the door of the apartment. On the threshold she paused and looked back.

"But you'll let me hear from you?" she asked.

"I wouldn't be mean enough not to," he told her.

He stood where she had left him until he heard the clang of the elevator door closing upon her. Then he walked into his bedroom and surveyed himself in a mirror.

"You don't look like a contemptible cad, Jackson Durant," he told himself, "but I hope that Sue is convinced you are. I don't want one tender word from her, one gentle glance. If I get either, I'll turn into a drooling fool. I'm over it. I've suffered all a man can suffer, and she's not going to make me suffer any more. I'll be so damned rude to her that she'll resent it and return it, and then I will be angry with her and—oh, God, why must a man think he wants one woman when the world is filled with women?"

A Scene from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Photoplay "Penthouse"

"Don't be a silly little thing," said Durant.

He glanced at his wrist watch. It was mid-afternoon, and things could be done before he met Gazotti. He picked up the telephone and called police headquarters. He asked for Lieut. Stevens.

"Steve, this is Jackson Durant. Who's defending Tom Siddall? Burke and Brewster? Much obliged. Couldn't meet me somewhere in half an hour, could you?"

The officer could and would.

"How about Morrisey's speak on Forty-third Street? The red ink is very good there. Half an hour. Okay."

Durant thumbed the telephone directory and found the number of Burke and Brewster. He got the junior partner on the phone at once.

"Hello, Ted. Called up about the Siddall matter. Sue Leonard wants me to help. How about it?"

"Straight from the shoulder, Jack?"

"Those punches are the easiest to block. Let's have it."

"You're a swell fellow, Jack," said Brewster, "and a swell lawyer. I think people are nuts to get sore because of the path you've chosen. But they are sore. You're known as the suddenly successful defender of the guilty. It would be a confession of weakness to have you aligned with us, an admission that we think Siddall's case is desperate."

"But it is desperate, isn't it?" demanded Durant.

"Confidentially? Hopeless, I'm afraid. But just the same, that's how we feel about you, Jack."

"Thanks for the buggy ride," said Durant. "I'll be seeing you, maybe."

FOR BABY THINGS

Nell Brinkley with her delicate touch would, of course, draw babies that look like cherubs. And what mother, knowing how cherub-like her baby is, would not love to have some baby things decorated with these dainty heads? The opportunity of getting such Nell Brinkley heads is a rare one. They are to be done in the simplest of embroidery, some heads being done with brown hair, some with black, golden or red as preferred. The larger motif in Pattern 456, which measures 17½x9 inches, can be used on a carriage cover with the smaller motif, which is 8x12 inches, decorating the pillow. The motif can, of course, be cut apart and the heads used in whatever grouping desired on such baby articles as kimona, dressing sack, pillow, layette case, blanket, curtains and even on flounces around the bassinette or crib.

Send 10c for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

JUNIOR PATROL PLEDGE

I promise to help children less fortunate than I am.
I promise to do my best to make my parents proud of me.
I promise to watch carefully when crossing streets and to aid other children in keeping out of danger.
I promise to study hard and do errands willingly.
I promise to be a 100% Junior Patrol member.

Signed .....
Date of Birth ..... Address .....
School .....

Address this pledge to the JUNIOR PATROL, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Upon its receipt you will be registered as a member of the JUNIOR PATROL and will be forwarded a membership card and an official emblem.

The Junior Patrol Mail Box

The first week of school did not seem long, did it?

That shows you how quickly time flies when you are interested in something. And of course these pleasant September nights and late afternoons are swell times to play games and hold Junior Patrol meetings.

How curious are you, fellows? Do you know the answers to these questions? Why does an electric bulb make light? What makes the leaves on the trees green? What makes an automobile go? Questions like these have probably occurred to all of you, but we are just sort of hoping that you will try to find the answers to all the questions that you think of.

Ask questions every chance you get—just so they are sensible questions which you really want to know. If somebody can't tell you clearly, you should learn how to look it up in a book.

Here's a letter today from Dorothy Clark, of 56 Penn street, Sharpsburg. She writes:

"I am sending two pledges for my friends and one for myself. For a long time I have been wishing to be a member of your club because I have heard of the good times there is to be had. I'm starting a club in Sharpsburg. There will be eight counting myself. We have 31 cents in our treasury, but we expect to have more."

We're glad to hear that you are interested, Dorothy. And don't forget that though it's fine to have a good time one of the purposes of the Junior Patrol is to help others. Just as soon as you have 10 registered members, you should elect a captain—to whom we will send an armband.

Is there any patrol club in the neighborhood of 1219 Liverpool street, North Side, fellows? Norma King, Raymond King and Jean Burton, who live there, want to join a patrol?

Capt. Melba Kroh, of 501 High street, South Brownsville, Pa., writes that she hopes Junior had a swell vacation. And she sends in another pledge for her Blue Eagle Chapter—which now has its own stationery.

How do you like the swell back-to-school cartoon which appears under this column, fellows? It was drawn by John Schevchik, of 451 Merchant street, Ambridge, Pa. Good work, John.

WHERE TO GO AND WHAT TO SEE

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

Dr. Popplewell has a cylindrical two ounce bottle, two thirds full of what looks like many pieces of clay rock gravel. They are small stones, all right, but they were not gathered from the bed of a creek, as you would surmise if you saw them without an explanation. They are gall stones. They were removed from Mrs. Weal, who lives four miles southeast of Lamar.

The Theatrical Outlook in New York

A walk along the Palace curb is proof that the New York theatrical season is open again.

The acrobats, hoofers, flame breathers, animal trainers and ventriloquists are lined up again on the granite perch waiting for their round shouldered agents to dig up work.

We talked with a sad adagio dancer. He said, "My act is busted up. I lost my girl partner in Toledo last month. I forgot where I threw her."

The flame breather was also in a tough fix. He had contracted whooping cough in Montreal and scorched an old lady in the balcony.

Famous old Oscare, the bird trainer, is waiting for his act to fly in. Oscare walked in from Buffalo with the birds flying overhead. They got lost in a fog around Troy. As Oscare gloomily remarks, "All I got left of my bird act is the blue eagle."

Proolark's trained hosses will not clump the vaudeville circuits this winter. We have a suspicion they were running at Arlington Park and Saratoga last month. If they show up Oscare will extract the needles and go into the tailoring business.

In the meantime, Oscare scans the skies for signs of his long-lost act. Dumbo, the ventriloquist, is wise to the situation, and is driving Oscare nuts by imitating pigeons, roosters, mockng birds and parrots. Just because you ain't working is no reason why you shouldn't have fun.

They're selling desk room now on the Palace curb. Marty Pamster, the agent, is so busy he is filing his papers on the top of a fire plug. Marty is philosophical about the future. He says, "Vaudeville is healthy work. It keeps you outdoors."

We have advance information that Bill Borrowsy is putting on another Teentsy-Weentsy Revue for Thanksgiving. Bill will take the actors over but the Navy won't bring 'em back. Bill's old stooge, Jimmy, is taking elocution lessons in squeaking and will try to land with Mickey Mouse.

The last time we were out in a Teentsy-Weentsy Revue we had to go on without scenery because Jimmy lost the grass suit case. We later discovered he was ashamed to carry it in a blizzard. Borrowsy rushed his sister-in-law out on the stage to fill in the stage wait and she sprained both ankles trying to recite Kipling's "Boots" in her bare feet.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
In Scientific Industrial Research It Leads the Country

A False Cry of 'Unfair'

Failure to Give Unqualified Approval to the Machine May Be the Basis for the Charge.

In radio addresses and on the stump orators for the Coyne-Herron machine have been accusing the Pittsburgh newspapers of being unfair.

The other newspapers can answer for themselves; so far as the Sun-Telegraph is concerned, the charge is untrue, and the Sun-Telegraph resents it.

We have been strictly impartial in our presentation of the news of the campaign. Every speech, every public statement, every development has been handled exactly as its news value warranted, without regard to whom it might help or hurt. Partisanship has been strictly excluded from the news columns. The facts have been presented without bias or color. The Coyne-Herron organization's news has received just as generous treatment as that of any of the other factions.

In commenting editorially on the record and activities of the Coyne-Herron organization, its candidates and sponsors, the Sun-Telegraph has been sparing in its criticism, and eagerly on the lookout for occasion to praise. We have given credit where credit was due, and have been neither immoderate nor hasty in our expressions of opinion on the candidates or the issues.

Sometimes we have feared that in our zeal to be straight we were leaning backwards—that we were overlooking faults that deserved to be castigated, and were improperly silent with respect to things that called for condemnation.

But our forbearance, it seems, has not been appreciated by these gentry.

To them, it seems, "unfairness" consists in not giving 100 per cent indorsement to everything that the Coyne-Herron crowd says or does. If that be "unfairness," the Sun-Telegraph is "unfair."

But readers may rest assured that the political news will continue to be presented in this newspaper fully and in an impartial manner, and that the editorial comment will continue to be honest and governed by no other consideration but the best interests of Pittsburgh.

Women Anglers Increase

No Longer Having to Handle Worms, the Fair Sex Takes Up the Sport of Izaak Walton.

Among the triumphs of angling on Pennsylvania streams reported by the Fish Commission this summer a number have been credited to women.

It has just been announced, for example, that Mrs. H. M. Browning, of Williamsport, has caught a 19-inch small-mouth black bass in Loyalsock Creek, the same stream in which she caught a 20-inch brown trout weighing four pounds and 10 ounces earlier in the season.

The Fish Commission reports a pronounced increase in the number of feminine anglers. It might be supposed that this was just a part of the general emancipation of women from the restraints of custom and convention that formerly interfered with their fun. But as respects fishing there is another and profounder reason for their adoption of the sport. The Fish Commission finds women are going in for fishing because of the increasing popularity of artificial bait, such as flies and spinners, which does away with the necessity of handling worms, grasshoppers, crawfish, helgramites, minnows, frogs and the like.

The more credit to the fair anglers. Casting with flies or other artificial baits is the sporting way in which to fish.

Delay Retards Recovery

Quicker Action Is Desirable in the Allocation of the NRA Public Works Funds.

When the new Congress in extraordinary session appropriated $3,300,000,000 for public works, it suited prompt legislative action to the timely word of President Roosevelt's inaugural address.

"Our greatest primary task," declared Mr. Roosevelt in his inaugural, "is to put people to work."

This task, he added, can be helped in many ways, "but it never can be helped by merely talking about it."

The last Congress talked about adopting a public works program sufficiently large to provide employment for many idle and needy citizens, but failed to enact effective legislation to that end; except by reducing the Garner appropriation for employment from $1,000,000,000 to $300,000,000.

The new Congress, under the vigorous leadership of the new President, acted and acted quickly. But to date only about $1,400,000,000 of the $3,300,000,000 appropriated for public works has been allocated.

Delay in allotting the balance appears to be due in part to differences within the federal emergency administration of public works over the wisdom of this method of reducing unemployment.

These differences have already held up many federal projects for which contracts could have been let and new construction started weeks ago.

The sooner these differences within the household of the administration are settled, the sooner the remainder of the public works fund can be expended and employment provided directly and indirectly for many of our idle and needy millions.

Every day's delay in the carrying out of the public works program retards our national recovery North, East, South and West.

For there can be no recovery on a national scale until the promise of the inaugural has been fulfilled and the army of the unemployed returned to work.

Time is of the essence in this matter. Winter will soon be here. State and local governments are already hard put to provide funds for the relief of the needy.

The whole country is looking to the federal government to lead the attack on the problem of unemployment by expending not some but all of the $3,300,000,000 appropriated by Congress for emergency public works as swiftly as plans can be approved, contracts let and new construction started.

Let the federal government do its part in the Industrial Recovery drive.

"We must act and act quickly," declared President Roosevelt in his inaugural.

Now is the time and the federal emergency administration of public works in Washington is the place for the kind of action demanded by the President.

As It Should Be!

(Copyright, 1933.)

One of the wisest emergency measures yet taken has been the decision of the Federal unemployment relief administration to provide funds which will put idle teachers to work, reopen schools that the depression has closed, and give some 3,000,000 children their rightful chance for an education.

As Harry L. Hopkins, the Federal Administrator, said in announcing the decision:

"Where schools are closed or terms are reduced to a month or two a year, despite increased enrollment, we have a great paradox.

"It is the expectation of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration that this paradox can be righted, in some part, by permitting the teachers to give their services on the basis of their relief needs."

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

How to Get Rid of a Husband

Of course, the most popular way to get rid of a husband (in America) is to persuade him to buy you a ticket to Reno, pay your hotel bills and lawyer's fees and settle your gambling debts, while you are waiting to tell the judge what a "fiend-in-human-form" he is.

But, if you dislike crossing the Rockies, a simpler and much less bothersome method is to BORE him to suicide—or another woman's arms. Nagging, whining, fighting at bridge and wasting money are not enough to send some husbands skidding.

Start right out by raising a racket or making a scene every time he tries being pleasant and polite to a pretty woman. Many a man never knows that he IS interested in other women, until his wife accuses him of it.

Fill the house with expensive "period" or uninviting modernistic furniture, designed only to be looked at and not to be sat on. Never by any chance have a comfortable stuffed chair around—or anything for a man to put his feet on.

Always come down to breakfast filled with the Spirit of '76. There is nothing like a stimulating battle to start a man's nerves jittering, upset his stomach and keep him thinking of you—and his bachelor days—all day long.

When he staggers home, all tired out, evenings, always have the home full of jolly, bridge-playing, gin-drinking women. And spring a bright surprise on him by telling him you've laid out his evening clothes and booked him for a dinner-dance.

Hang fondly around his neck when he wants to read or nap or get out for a game of golf, and keep asking him IF he loves you, WHY he loves you, and whether he loves you "any more!"

When he's telling a story, making an after-dinner speech or trying to be the life of the party, always catch his eye and make him feel that he's making a fool of himself. This will make him self-conscious and inspire him to love you as a doughboy loves a sergeant.

Correct his English, criticize his manners, censor his drinks and smokes and insist on picking out his hats and his haberdashery for him. He had only been taking care of himself for 20 or 30 years before you met him—so he needs a guardian.

Always be perfectly frank and honest with him about his little failings. What does a woman marry a man for, if it's not the privilege of telling him exactly what she thinks of him—"for his own good?"

Always put him through a thorough questionnaire, when he comes in 20 minutes later. This will make him feel just like a "trusty" back from parole. And keep reminding him that he OWES you all his devotion—because every man adores a creditor.

* * *

If he doesn't elope with a blonde and give you grounds for a divorce, after you've followed these little rules, I can tell you lots more ways of getting a man's goat and becoming a "deserted wife."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Thoughts while strolling: Name suggestion for a pair of dachshunds—Hammacher and Schlemmer. Emily Whitefield's attractive freckles. Overheard in Harlem: "If you fool with me, I'll have you turnin' corners in the middle of the block." Will Hay's son is a ringer for his dad.

Arthur William Brown, a Hamilton, Ont., boy, who made good in the city. Who remembers when neck was a noun? Kelcy Allen is always brimming with impulsive kindness. That magician named Dante, with a Mephistophelean beard. Fun glancing in a window and trying to remember six articles.

One-word description of Sproulle Braden—cordy. No objection from dogs anyway about reforestation plans. Sime Silverman is still Broadway's best beloved guy. Whatever became of the vaudevillian Charles T. Aldrich? Nobody can look so calm as Burns Mantle. Or so flustered as Bernard Sobel.

Those fellows who scuffle feet and fumble ties before asking alms. Not used to it. Dorothy Thompson and Sinclair Lewis hurrying toward Grand Central. Harold Ross looks all flattened out without that pompadour. And how well a red tie goes with Don Marquis' white hair.

Of all heroines of athletics, Gertrude Ederle seems most neglected. One of my favorite people—Bruce Barton. Al Jolson breezing along the avenue. Whitney Warren's Elbert Hubbard tie. I never fail to stop and pivot slowly when Katharine Cornell passes. Just a Katharine Cornell man at heart.

The lightning switch in poularity of New York restaurants is a phenomenon. Rector's, Bustanoby's, Shanley's and others went out like a light. One day they may be enjoying full patronage, and next, customers only drop in for mail. A place 10 blocks away will be enjoying a similar rush of trade. Nobody knows exactly why. And popularity never hits the same place twice.

* * *

On Arthur Roche's veranda they were discussing the most poignant lines in fiction. My choice is that tragic note left by the poverty stricken child suicide in Jude the Obscure: "Done because there are too many of us!"

And someone recalled Irvin Cobb's reply to a newspaper asking comment on the mixed cast of black and whites — the first time on the stage—for Eugene O'Neill's "All God's Chilluns Got Wings." He replied: "If it plays Paducah they are going to need them."

Count John Perdicaris, whose father when captured by bandits occasioned President Theodore Roosevelt's historic ultimatum: "Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead," is one of New York's most accomplished and tasty spenders. Eschewing brash and pretentious soirees of the Broadway tradition, he gives elegantly chic entertainments in Mayfair and for years made it a practice to spend all he made in the day's market winnings before going to bed. His favorite libation is a highball of mint leaves and champagne with an entire ripe peach at the bottom. Also King Edward's.

In Gramercy Park a perambulating library circulates among the nurse-maids whose charges are within the locked gates of the most exclusive oasis. The tariff is 5 cents a day and "When Knighthood Was in Flower" is mightily thumb-worn.

City editors are mutually agreed to uproot the clip joints, which the police never discover although they are mushrooming in every mid-town block. Recently Stanley Walker heard of a Harvard crew captain who had been dressed down for several hundreds in a cellar dive. He quit his desk, rounded up some raiders and went with them to an infamous nest on West Forty-third street. What the coppers did not do to the beetle-browed owners in a strictly unofficial way before booking them at police headquarters is nobody's biz!

New York has more collectors of ship models per capita than any other large city in the world. Stockholm is second. The urge usually flowers among those of sedentary lives who are chained to desks. The finest collection of racing ship models is owned by the New York Yacht Club.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Always two voices are speaking in me.

Beneath all the giggling and chattering, the squealing and sobbing and shrieking of life, those two voices murmur on, and on. Out of the bedlam, they are the only really important sounds. Constantly, night and day, they ask and answer each other, something like this—

(And now, reading, you will be amazed and cry, "But how did she know? These aren't her voices; they're mine! These are the questions and answers which have gone on in me, ever since I can remember!")

FIRST VOICE—What's life all about?

SECOND VOICE—I don't know.

FIRST VOICE—But is life worth living, if we don't know what it's all about?

SECOND VOICE—Why not? The fact that I can't understand it is no proof that a thing isn't worth while. My mind is a mighty limited affair; there are so few things which I can understand. But life's a great show. Life's worth while, even if I haven't the answers.

FIRST VOICE—Yes, that sounds fine. It's grand philosophy. But you know perfectly well that it isn't enough. You've got to get more than philosophy out of life to make it worth while. You can't just watch it as a show. You must have a more personal interest in it; a warmer comfort.

You've got to feel that you, yourself, have a goal in it, and some sort of a God who understands and cares.

SECOND VOICE—I can always find a goal if I'll look for one. We're not held back by lack of goals, but by our own ignorance, laziness and cowardice. But even if our goals prove washouts, as they're often bound to do in these hard times—even if all my personal plans fail—I can still feel proud and excited about life.

FIRST VOICE—How?

SECOND VOICE—By realizing that I'm part of a tremendous plan which is going on, in spite of depressions. By reading what wise and brave men have done in the past and are still doing. By realizing that it's up to me to carry on their example of courage and fineness. By thinking what a swell thing it is, just to be a human being. So I can keep myself going until my own schemes click again.

FIRST VOICE — Yes; that sounds wonderful. And you can kid yourself along a lot, telling yourself things like that. But you're bound to have times of complete bitterness and darkness. What then?

SECOND VOICE—Those times come anyway. You have them whether you're a success or a failure. Judas, for all his thirty pieces of silver, had a blacker Gethsemene than Jesus. Black hours prove nothing—except that we don't know how to take it.

FIRST VOICE—But all this talk about God. If there really were a God, He'd save you times like that. You'd always feel safe, no matter what happened. But, with all your smart arguments, you can't prove there is a God.

SECOND VOICE—No, I can't prove there is a God. But neither can I prove there isn't. So I'm choosing to take a chance. I'm choosing to act as if there were Someone who understands and cares—as if there were a Great Plan behind all this confusion—as if I were an important part of that plan. And I've plenty of evidence to back me in that stand, if I want to look for it. Beauty, and courage, and love, in spite of our human selfishness — they must mean something. I choose to think they mean God.

FIRST VOICE—Sure. But suppose you find you're all wrong?

SECOND VOICE—I won't find it until I'm dead — and then it won't matter. Anyway, I stand to win. If there's nothing more after this, all the more reason for making life as gallant an adventure as possible. If there is no God, all the more reason for me acting like one. I can't understand or decide any of the really important matters, but this much I can do. I can decide to live my days like a man, or a mouse. I prefer to live them like a man, strutting my stuff as if I had all eternity to do it in. Then, whatever happens, I'll have had the best of it. And, if there's more—it will all be velvet!

FIRST VOICE—But——

Two voices, constantly murmuring, constantly asking and answering each other, questions like this. "How did she know?" you cry. "Those voices are asking and answering in me, too!"

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Synd., Inc.)

Isn't It So?

It sometimes happens that a woman loves her enemies because they give her a chance to say such mean things about them.

No man can justly censure or condemn another, because indeed no man truly knows another.

With a little practice any woman can fire a furnace as well as her husband, any many of them are doing it.

When you get the idea in your head that the world is against you—it is.

All men are liberal when it comes to spending other people's money.

Marriage may be a failure, but there is a lot of evidence to the contrary.

Text for Today But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him.—John, iv:23.

(Today's text is suggested by the Rev. George C. Fisher, pastor, Highland Presbyterian Church, East End.)

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

Sad Faces of Women

These Are Not Stockholders or Mine Owners.

THREE MINERS' WIVES WITH BABIES WAITING FOR THEIR HUSBANDS

When these three women were photographed they did not know it. They were waiting for news of their husbands, three-quarters of a mile below ground, in a coal mine where a "major explosion" had occurred.

These are the wives and children of English miners at the mouth of the Graswood Hall Colliery Company mine. They know that their husbands are down there, almost a mile below ground, that a frightful explosion has occurred, and that soon the bodies will be brought out, and the living men, if any, will come back to the light of day and to their families.

These are not stockholders, watching the ticker's changing prices, or mine owners at some Mediterranean winter resort, regretting that "coal mining in England has gone to the dogs."

These are wives and children that depend on the pitiful earnings of their husbands for enough to keep life within them. They are women to whom their husbands mean everything, young wives of young men.

This particular mine disaster revealed true heroism, among workers whose comrades were trapped deep in the earth, and heroism on the part of the mine manager, J. H. Edmonson, who rose from a sick bed, put on a gas mask and went down into the pit to join in rescue work with the others.

The real tragedy and the suffering in such a disaster you see in these faces, in the faces of women that must wait hour after hour, all day long, holding their heavy children in their arms, to take whatever fate may send them.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Don't expect much in other lines from the person who is far superior to the majority in some certain way.

Often during your life you have been surprised by the display of ignorance of certain subjects on the part of a person who is particularly brilliant in another line.

You should not worry because you are not an expert.

If you were, you would be less useful in many other ways.

Unusual people are needed to accomplish unusual things, but they are not the backbone of the country.

It is the person who has at least a working knowledge of many things rather than the specialist who is most useful, generally speaking.

You may have a smattering of knowledge — information about many things, but nothing of much value in any special way.

Perhaps you have been annoyed by your inability to grasp even the fundamentals of certain subjects, while you can easily comprehend other subjects that are usually considered much deeper.

Well, this fact should not alarm you or suggest less brain power.

The trouble may lie in the fact that you do not exert effort great enough to overcome deficiences; unless you like the subject, you don't work.

Wise Words

Virtue itself offends when coupled with forbidding manners.—Middleton.

It is some compensation for great evils that they enforce great lessons.—Bovee.

There is a gift beyond the reach of art, of being eloquently silent.—Bovee.

Good manners and good morals are sworn friends and fast allies —Bartol.

A sorrow's crown of sorrow
Is remembering happier things.
—Dante.

Toleration is good for all or it is good for none.—Burke.

For all things are less dreadful than they seem.—Wordsworth.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

2. "If music be the food of love play on." Tennyson, "In Memoriam."
3. "Wearing all that weight
   Of learning lightly like a flower." Bible.
4. "The light that never was on sea or land
   The consecration and the poet's dream." Shakespeare, "Twelfth Night."
5. "We look before and after
   We pine for what is not
   Our sincerest laughter
   With some pain is fraught." Wordsworth, "The Tables Turned."

Fill each blank:

6. The toga was the white outer garment of a Roman citizen in time of ———
7. The word "mentor" is now used to mean ———
8. A rebate is the ——— of part of the sum received for goods or services.

SIXTH, LIBERTY AND PENN

ATLANTIC 4500

Store Open Saturday 9 A. M. to 6:30 P. M.

Serving the Pittsburgh public is uppermost in our minds at all times...but when our Anniversary Sale comes, we strive for even greater heights! And this year, of all years, it is possible to help you save thousands and thousands of dollars!

Prices are steadily advancing on merchandise of nearly every type. Prices of cotton, silk, wool, hides, silver, etc., have gone up 10% to 50% from the "lows" of April... when much of the merchandise offered here was "bargained for" if not actually bought. We have kept prices low...and will for the duration of Our Anniversary Sale, but don't delay your shopping. Many lots, which are not replaceable, will sell out quickly.
